

MURDER TRIAL IN PARIS NEARS JURY

Henri Bernstein, Playwright, Throws Court in Uproar With Testimony.

CALMETTE'S WILL IS READ

Caillaux Hints Figaro Editor's Wealth Increased With Political Intrigue Involving Austria - Hungary.

PARIS, July 27.—Court was suspended again today in the trial of Mme. Henriette Caillaux for the murder of M. Calmette, editor of the Figaro, when the courtroom broke into an uproar while Henri Bernstein, the playwright, was reading his deposition.

Immediately after M. Caillaux took the stand and attacked the standing of Bernstein, whom he labeled as a deserter of the army, ill equipped to come before the court and testify as to the morality of the slain editor.

Playwright Makes Answer. Alternate hoots and cheers for the playwright practically broke up the court's session, but not until Bernstein had gained the stand again and replied to Caillaux, asserting the former premier had settled upon a point of "follly" in the youthful days of Bernstein.

Caillaux Demands Hearing. As soon as Judge Louis Albanel and his three associates had taken their seats on the bench this morning Joseph Caillaux demanded to be heard. He said: "The Figaro, having accused me today of suborning witnesses, I should like to submit to the court some authentic papers concerning the late Gaston Calmette's relations with the Hungarian Government. I have hesitated to use them, but I have decided to do so in view of the Figaro's attitude. I desire also to read the late M. Calmette's will."

Papers Not Made Public. When he had concluded Caillaux handed a bundle of papers to the Presiding Judge. They were not read in court.

In his speech, Caillaux had mentioned the name Philippe Glaser as a signer of the documents with Gaston Calmette. Glaser is one of the leading editors of the Figaro.

"HUNGER STRIKER" EATS EGG WHITES

Becky Edelson Partially Gives In and Will Attend Tarrytown Trial Today.

ALL MEATS ARE REFUSED

Young Anarchistic Agitator to Attend Court Foodless, She Avers and Resume "Fast" on Her Return.

NEW YORK, July 27.—(Special.)—Becky Edelson, the young anarchistic agitator and hunger striker, will come out of the workhouse tomorrow morning, according to an announcement made by Justice Sheffield, her lawyer, and she will be taken under guard to Tarrytown to appear as a material witness and defendant in the trial of nine agitators arrested with her last May for attempting to denounce John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

She will spend a foodless day in Tarrytown, according to her lawyer, and at its conclusion she will return to the workhouse to continue her hunger strike.

Miss Edelson refused all meats offered to her today, but early in the morning she took the whites of two eggs, and Commissioner of Corrections Katherine Davis constructed for her the practical abandonment of the hunger strike.

She said she would follow the policy of letting Miss Edelson ask for more food before forcing her to consume food through a tube.

Becky had been "bleeding" food, it was charged, following an examination which had been made in the prison for forcibly feeding the prisoner. The doctor advised she had been getting food in some manner.

Attendants at the workhouse have been working on a forcible feeding device. The device is a simple yet ingenious contrivance. It consists of a wooden box to keep the jaws apart.

Miss Edelson was not pressed by demands that she go to work, Commissioner of Correction Davis having decided to take her time in taming Miss Edelson's spirit of rebellion.

At breakfast oatmeal was offered to her, but she would not eat it. At luncheon soup, boiled mutton, onions and tea with butterless bread were placed in her cell.

At City Hall much satisfaction was expressed because the problem of this country's first woman hunger striker was being met by a woman Commissioner of Correction, under a woman surgeon, a woman trained nurse and a woman matron to assist her.

Miss Edelson's "strike," however, won her sympathy while it lasted. Among other protests by telegraph came from Portland, Or., urging the authorities not to resort to forcible feeding.

"Husband Seemed to Think I Was So Well Able to Earn My Own Living He Didn't Give Cent," She Avers.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—(Special.)—Trixie Friganza, who is one of the week's theatrical attractions in San Francisco, today, in Chicago, filed suit for divorce from Charles A. Goettler, charging cruelty and nonsupport.

From her apartments the actress, when asked for her version of the story behind the formal Chicago complaint, sent down a message to the effect that she didn't wish to be disturbed.

Then she changed her mind and consented to an interview. "I don't like this sort of publicity," declared the famous comedienne, "but I will say this much: I was disappointed in my husband. He seemed to think I was so well able to earn my own living that he never contributed a cent to my support."

She smiled a genuine Friganza smile as she answered: "Why don't you think it cruel for any man not to want to support me?" She said she married Goettler, who was her manager, two years ago.

She asserted she has been forced to work every day for her own support and to contribute toward his.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Reward for officers who, as members of the Isthmian Canal Commission, had charge of Panama Canal work, is proposed in Representative Dent's bill, favorably reported today by the military affairs committee.
