SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 .- (Special.)—An official investigation is being made of the trouble between Umpire "Red" Held and Harl Maggert, center fielder of the Los Angeles Club, which followed Sunday afternoon's game at Sacramento. Held came to San Francisco today to make a persenal report to President A. T. Baum and set forth his side of the argument. According to Held, the row commenced through the activities of certain members of the Los Angeles Club in circulating reports in Portland the week before that the umpire was involved in betting on the ball games. official investigation is be week before that the umpire was involved in betting on the ball games. Early in the week at the Capital City one of the Los Angeles players made a remark touching on the Portland incident. Held told President Baum today that he went to Manager Dillon with the declaration that the charge could not possibly be true and that it was Dillon's duty to prohibit his playere from saying such things.

Srap Is Prevented.

"If any player says I bet on the Beavers to beat the Angels I will knock his head off, job or no job," "Red" says he told Dillon. So it was in the Sunday afternoon game when Maggert, the last man at bat, was called out on strikes. He turned to Held, according to Held, and said, with an oath, "I believe that Portland story is true." Held was for making good his threat to Dillon and made a lunge at Maggert, but was prevented from mixing it by the interference of
