

NEW LINE TO BAY NOW SEEMS SURE

Contracts on Sutherland, Coos Bay & Eastern to Be Let Within Few Days.

TIMBER INTERESTS AID

Road to Tap Vast Belt of Douglas Fir, to Run Eventually to Boise, Idaho, and Sawmills on Route Are Assured.

SUTHERLIN, OR., July 28.—(Special.)

With the filing of articles of incorporation for the Sutherland, Coos Bay & Eastern Railway yesterday at Roseburg, and the announcement of contracts for the first actual construction work would be let next week, Sutherland had the first assurance that a new railroad, west to Coos Bay and east, eventually, to Boise, Idaho, would be built.

MISS DUFFIELD BADLY HURT

Girl Thrown From Motorcycle; Alfred Matschiner Injured.

Miss Besse Duffield, 22, was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital last night with a fracture at the base of the brain following a motorcycle accident at the east end of the Hawthorne bridge. She may not recover.

On a motorcycle driven by E. L. Younger, a Southern Pacific machinist, she was coming toward the bridge when the wheels dropped into the car tracks. The machine pinged into the ditch and she was thrown. Younger received minor bruises. Miss Duffield struck the planking on her head and the skull and collar bones were fractured. At 2 o'clock this morning she was still unconscious.

On another machine in the party were C. H. Weaver, student, 22, 449 East Twenty-first street, and Miss Ina Duffield, 19. They summoned the Ambulance Service Company and the physicians.

Alfred Matschiner, hotel clerk, 26, of 777 East Sixth street, while riding his motorcycle along the Linnton road, turned into the curb and was thrown. He received injuries that rendered him unconscious and that may prove to be a fracture of the skull. He was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Dr. Ziegler and Wright attended both accidents. Miss Duffield lies with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duffield, 875 East Thirty-seventh street.

FOREST FIRE CONTROLLED

Many Men Fighting Flames Near Base of Mount Adams.

WHITE SALMON, Wash., July 28.—(Special.)—The forest fire that has been raging for the last few days near the base of Mount Adams is reported today under control.

It is ten miles long and covers an area nearly the size of the state. The forest through which the fires were burning were yellow pine and valuable. Every available man in the Trout Lake and Glenwood vicinity had been drafted into the forestry service.

Two big gangs of men came from Portland today and will take the place of the exhausted farmers and forest rangers. Several smaller fires are burning in the vicinity of the White Salmon and Little White Salmon rivers.

MME. CALLAUX IS FREED

of Justice, where an automobile was waiting, and drove off unobserved. M. Callaux left by the main entrance on the arm of his devoted friend, Deputy Pascal Ceccaldi, amid mingled cheers and hoots.

This ended the most sensational trial with which the Parisian public has had to deal in years. Each day provided its dramatic thrill, and, though the verdict has been pronounced, the outcome cannot be foretold.

Speech Makes Prisoner Swoon. The session of the court was devoted to speeches by counsel. Mme. Callaux had come into the prisoner's dock pale and worn. She collapsed in the course of the address of Maitre Chenu, who accused her bitterly. At the time Mme. Callaux swooned he was saying: "I will speak of nothing except the assassination of M. Calmette. I will ask the accused whether, when she spoke of her love for her daughter, she thought of the two children of M. Calmette, whose pictures never left him. I shall not attempt to go into the biography of Mme. Callaux. She is a cool, sensible woman without emotion or pity. She has tears only for herself."

"She worked with tenacity to break up her lover's home. You see the result: the mistress triumphed over the lawful spouse. They are bound up in each other, in their happiness, in their hopes, even in their murder plans."

Rochette Swindle Real Fear. "M. Callaux is a man of inordinate and limitless ambition, whose power rests on his own audacity and on the fear he inspires."

"M. Callaux omitted to tell his wife of the assurance given by President Poincare that Calmette was incapable of printing private letters. They did not fear that. What they feared was the publication of the report by Victor Faivre on the Rochette swindle."

what anguish the orphans await your verdict. You have heard witness after witness speak in praise of the late M. Calmette. There has been only one discordant note, and that came from M. Callaux. What connection with the case has the fortune of the murdered man? How many millions must a man have in order to permit his being assassinated with complete impunity?"

Pitiless Verdict Not Demanded.

The speech of the procurator-general, Jules Herbaux, was unusually mild in tone. To the jurors he said: "Your duty as the defendants of the interests of society requires you to find a verdict of guilty, but no one expects you to be pitiless."

Maitre Labori, who came last, delivered a masterpiece of passionate eloquence. He closed amidst a tempest of applause, saying: "My wish is that Mme. Callaux shall leave here acquitted and the press shall be purified. Let us keep our anger for our enemies abroad. Let us leave this court resolute and united to face the perils which threaten us."

Boulevard Crowds Cry in Derision.

Demonstrations against the Callaux verdict occurred in several places to-night. In the boulevards excited crowds discussing the merits of the case grew to large proportions, and when the jury's verdict became known there were shouts of derision and cries of "Down with Callaux!"

In one section the mob became so disorderly that mounted Republican Guards were hastily summoned to assist the police in quelling the disturbance. A large number of police and rioters were injured and many arrests were made. Maurice and Jean Rostand, sons of the dramatist, were among those taken into custody.

The Figaro office also was the scene of a demonstration. With her husband and a few friends, Mme. Callaux, attired in a handsome evening gown, received a number of close acquaintances.

"It is Maitre Labori," she said, "to whom I owe the good fortune to be finally free. He pleaded today with all his fine talent, and I am profoundly grateful to him."

MRS. HELEN ANGLE HELD

WOMAN TO BE TRIED FOR POLITICIAN'S DEATH.

Refusal to Make Statement in Accordance With Coroner's Alternative Leads to Detention.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 28.—Mrs. Helen M. Angle is held criminally responsible for the death of Waldo H. Ballou, a prominent politician here, on the night of June 23, in a finding made today by Coroner Phelan.

Ballou was found dying outside a downtown business building, in which Mrs. Angle had apartments. To the police that night Mrs. Angle said she found Ballou at the foot of a flight of stairs in the building after he had left her and that, in the belief that he was dazed from a fall or from liquor, she carried him outside and left him on the doorstep of the entrance. Ballou died from a fractured skull.

At the coroner's inquest Mrs. Angle refused to make a statement and Coroner Phelan announced that if she failed to do so by Friday he would hold her for trial. He admitted Mrs. Angle to bail, owing to her nervous state, and she was taken by her father, Leonard Blondell, to Southport, Me.

STOCK PRICES DROP SHARPLY

Selling for Foreign Account Is on Incalculable Scale.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Austria's formal declaration of war against Serbia was followed by a violent decline in prices on the New York Stock Exchange today, preceded by convulsive disturbances at leading financial centers abroad.

Prices were dropped from 5 to 15 points in many of the high-grade issues, Canadian Pacific scoring a maximum decline of almost 20 points. Selling for foreign account was incalculable, much of it taking the form of direct orders from London, Paris and Berlin.

Of the more than 1,000,000 shares that changed hands here, it was estimated that fully 200,000 represented offerings from across the water.

The New York market, while somewhat nervous and weak, was holding itself well in hand until word came at midday of Austria's attitude. Immediately there came an avalanche of liquidation from all directions. The sharpness with which securities declined betokened enforced selling, materially assisted by bear raids. Outpourings continued to the close, a few issues recovering a small part of their losses.

Trading in United States Steel aggregated 300,000 shares and constituted the main feature of the day's business, which was the largest of the year. There were also heavy offerings of Canadian Harriman shares, Reading, Canadian Pacific and Amalgamated Copper.

Talk of private settlements were heard after the close of the exchange. Bankers and brokers were busy until late in the night issuing calls for extra margins and exchanging cables with foreign correspondents.

FEAR OF GOLD DRAIN ALLAYED

Money Now Demanded Expected to Return for Supplies.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—With nearly $1,000,000,000 in gold coin and bullion stored in treasury vaults and about $600,000,000 more of coin in circulation, Treasury officials said to-night the United States had no cause for alarm over the tremendous shipments of gold from New York to war-closed Europe.

Secretary McAdoo explained that the country never was in a better position to send some of its millions abroad and declared there was nothing to fear from the drain to meet European demands. It was pointed out that while Europe just now was draining upon the gold supply, it would be only for a short time before the money would be coming back to pay for the vast quantities of food and supplies this country would be called on to ship across the water.

Of the $1,288,218,783 in the Treasury at the close of business yesterday, $82,418,484 was in the Denver mint, $318,449,323 in the Philadelphia sub-treasury and mint, $241,404,904 in the San Francisco sub-treasury and mint, $75,721,848 in New York, $78,802,627 in Chicago, $32,260,547 in St. Louis, with the rest scattered at 11 other points throughout the country, including Washington, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, New Orleans and Seattle.

Centralla Road Work Let.

CENTRALLA, Wash., July 28.—(Special.)—Alfred & James Centralla contractors, have been awarded a contract by the Lewis County Commissioners to change the course of the Newaukum and Boisford road through the Henry Foster place near Chehalis. The amount of the bid was about $200. The road will be made 30 feet wide.

Corn to Be Ground Up.

SEATTLE, July 28.—Six thousand bags of weevil-infested Manchuria corn held on Seattle wharves by the State Department of Agriculture will be permitted to be ground for stock feed under the supervision of agents of the department.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—Charles R. Drummond, heir of the late millionaire tobacco manufacturer of St. Louis, now a clerk in a cigar store at San Diego, Cal., asked the Circuit Court of Clay county, St. Louis County, for a parole on his six months' sentence for bigamy, in a petition filed her today.

Drummond pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy January 1, 1911. He was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for six months, but was paroled on his promise to let liquor and women alone. Six days later his parole was revoked when it was learned he had eloped to Europe with a St. Louis girl and had married for the third time.

IDAHO SEEKS INQUIRY

RIVAL BAKING POWDER COMPANIES IN PURE FOOD MESS.

Boise, Idaho, July 28.—(Special.)—Telegrams that have passed between James H. Wallis, State Pure Food Commissioner of Idaho, and George P. McCabe, chief counsel for the Jackson Manufacturing Company, who is alleged to be affiliated with what is known as "The Baking Powder Trust," have brought about a demand for an inquiry in this state.

Commissioner Wallis defends his action in communicating with McCabe, saying his telegrams merely advised McCabe how to proceed against a rival, the Crescent Manufacturing Company. The telegrams were taken from records of the Western Union by order of Judge Dietrich, of the District Federal Court.

On the charge that the baking powder manufactured by the Crescent company contained egg albumen, Commissioner Wallis issued an order prohibiting its sale in Idaho. The Crescent company asked for an order enjoining the Commissioner. Judge Dietrich granted the restraining order and ruled that the Crescent company must not use the "waterglass test" in comparing its baking powder with others.

A similar case is pending in Oregon. The telegraphic correspondence and proceedings of the trial in the Federal Court here have been forwarded to
