Stenographer Admits Deed and Tells Police Her Victim Had Persuaded Her to Leave Husband. Four Wounds Inflicted.

Mrs. Della Marsh, a stenographer, at 6 o'clock last night shot and mortally wounded Bernard C. Linstrom, treasurer and manager of the Oregon Artificial Limb Company, for whom she is said to have divorced her husband two years ago, while they were quarreling in the Palace Hotel, Twelfth and Washington streets. Linstrom quarreling in the Palace Hotel, Twelfth and Washington streets. Linstrom died on the way to the Good Samaritan Hospital. The woman charged that the man had refused to fulfill his promise of marriage.

Mrs. Marsh was arrested a few minutes after the shooting by Patrolmen Windorf, Maas and Holland. She advinced the Millor to Denuty District

Mrs. Marsh told the officials that she first met Linstrom about two years ago, when she worked for him as stenographer. She had come to Ports land for her health, she said. Linstrom, she told the police, became infatuated with her and persuaded her to divorce her husband, J. E. Marsh. After the divorce, she says, she lived with Linstrom for more than a year.

Descrition Is Charged.

About six months ago, Mrs. Marsh told the police, Linstrom descrited her. At the time, she says, she was sick in bed.

Yesterday afternoon, she told the police, she went to the hotel to persuade Linstrom to marry her. They quarreled, she said, and Linstrom tried to force her from the room.
She drew the revolver and fired five shots. Four struck Linstrom, three in the body and one in the neck. The wound in the neck, according to officials at the Coroner's office, was the one which caused death.

William Weber, Jr., the chief clerk at the hotel, summoned Dr. R. F. James from the Morgan building. After first aid had been applied to the wounded man the Ambulance Service Company rushed him to the hospital. He was dead when he arrived there. The body was immediately removed to the morgue.

Relatives at Weston.

J. E. Marsh, the former husband, resides at Rockland, Idaho. Mrs. Marsh says her father was J. M. Compton, of Weston, Or. She has been in Portland about two years. Lately she has been working as a stenographer in the office of F. L. Botsford, a lumber dealer, with offices in the Railway Exchange building. She has been living with her aunt at 705 Everett street. She is 27 years old.
