PONY URGED INTO OCEAN

While Older Bathers Look on Helplessly, Youngster Carries William Wells Abbott to Safety in Unconscious Condition.

SEAVIEW, Wash., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—One of the finest pieces of individual heroism ever witnessed on North Beach was enacted here today, when Ernest O'Bryan, 12-year-old son of Harvey O'Bryan, of Portland, rescued William Wells Abbott, also of Portland, from drowning in the Pacific Ocean.

Ernest O'Bryan was riding his pony, Dixie, along the beach when he saw William Wells Abbott, 52-year-old son of Harvey O'Bryan, of Portland, rescued William Wells Abbott, also of Portland, from drowning in the Pacific Ocean.

When Dixie refused to go further into the treacherous undertow, young O'Bryan threw himself over its head and swam to where Abbott had gone down. He found the unconscious man being steadily seaward, secured a grip on his bathing suit and in a few minutes hauled the unconscious bather to shore.

As soon as he landed Ernest left those on the beach to carry the apparently dead man to the nearby cottage of Mrs. T. C. Elliott, of Walla Walla, while he galloped to the cottage of Dr. R. J. Marsh, of Portland. Dr. Marsh raced to the Elliott cottage, and after an hour's hard work, with hypodermics and restoratives, Abbott regained consciousness.

Mr. Abbott is Northwest general agent for the Continental Life Insurance Company, of Salt Lake City, and lives at the Hotel Benson. Young O'Bryan, who attends the Ladd School, lives with his parents at 288 Sixteenth street.

When the Potter train pulled out tonight, the 12-year-old hero, who had faced almost certain death taking a chance which a score of experienced swimmers refused, was shouldered by the crowd.

GERMANS AFFIRM LIEGE CAPTURE

PARIS, Aug. 9, 7:25 P. M.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Copenhagen says the Germans continue to issue affirmations that they have captured Liege.

A FINE COMPLEXION

A girl's complexion is something more than a matter of concern her vanity. It is an indication of the state of her health. Fall in a growing girl means a thinning of the blood. Eruptions mean impurities in the blood. Parents should be watchful of their daughters' complexions, and should see to it that these danger signs are corrected, not covered up.

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and sallow, especially if, at the same time, she shows an inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering.

A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply but the physical signs are plain. Every girl should read the chapter on "Chlorosis" in the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood." It tells just what to do and gives directions regarding diet, exercise and rest.

The girl with a muddy complexion should have the booklet "A Dainty Laxative," which tells about Pinkettes. These books will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist will supply Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—Adv.
