No games played, traveling day. After three weeks of "darkness" the local Pacific Coast League park will be reopened this afternoon to the fans. Walter McCredie's Portland leaders return at 2:30 o'clock from Venice and return at 2:30 octook from the control of the contr Seals, but they retrieved that loss by winning six in seven from Oak-land and followed with four in seven from Venice

Consequently, Mack returns today with 13 wins and nine defeats on the trip, which is fair enough to demonstrate that it is going to be nigh im-possible to keep the Beavers from fin-ishing at, or in very close proximity to, the roof garden.

Bill Speas continued his batting licks last week against Venice, poling the horsehide around the Washington park for an average of .333. Dave Bancroft also boosted his figures a trifle. Elmer Lober and Bud Ryan fell be-

Elmer Lober and Bud Ryan fell below .250. These two murderous lefthanders have been playing an opossum act for some time now and are both due for further runs.

Even when batting only .250, however, Ryan and Lober have to be reckoned with, for they are liable to break up a game almost any time.

Following the publication of the story relative to Fielder Jones' prospective re-entry into big-league baseball, a close friend and adviser gave further details of the deal yesterday.

"It is true that Jones has received an offer," said this gentleman. "But he tried to keep it out of the newshe tried to keep it out of the news-papers until he had a chance either to close the deal or reject it. The offer came through President Gilmore of the Federal League. The club concerned is the St. Louis Federal League team. The St. Louis Feds have been backed by a millionsire brewer and hordecai Brown has been managing them with but poor success. The owner is rather disgusted and is willing to part with a big hunk of stock to secure the services of Fielder Jones.

Needless to say if Jones accepts the opportunity to become a magnate it will give the outlaws another "Tinker" bost, for Jones is about as crafty a baseball head as there is in the busi-

Oakland Hurler Sent to Hospital and Knee Is in Cast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Charley Prulett, the Oakland harler, was more seriously injured in Sunday afternoon's game than first supposed. Until an X-Ray is taken of the injured kne the extent of the hurt will not be known. The pitcher was ramoved to an Oakland hospital today and the attending physicians decided to put the knee in a cast. This will necessitate at least seteral weeks of rest and inactivity and it may be a month or so before Pruiett will be service to the club.

With Klawitter still ailing, the Oaks will be handicapped for pitchers. Man-ager Christian will be forced to take his turn on the mound, something he has not done since assuming the club's management.
