PRESIDENT NOW ON SADDEST JOURNEY

Special Train Bears Body of Beloved Wife to Final Rest in Georgia.

CEREMONY TODAY SIMPLE

Immediately Following Burial Beside Graves of Parents-in-Law, Executive Will Return to Burden of State at Capital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 .- Woodrov Wilson, President of the United States, was making the saddest journey of his life tonight.

In a special train, bearing the body of Mrs. Wilson to its final resting place beside the graves of her father and mother, he was on the way to Rome, Ga., surrounded by his daughters, a few members of his own and his wife's families.

The last simple ceremony of the funeral will take place tomorrow afterneon on the wooded cemetery of the Georgia town. Then the President will turn again to the heavy burdens of his office and the loneliness of the White body in the east room. In accordance with Mrs. Wilson's wish, the service was of the simplest character. There was no music; only character. There was no music; only the reading of a few verses from the Bible, a prayer by Rev. Sylvester Beach, of the Presbyterian Church, which the Wilson family attended during their years in Princeton, N. J., and a benediction pronounced by Rev. J. H. Taylor at whose church the President has worshipped since he came to Washington. Less than 200 were present. Besides the family there were a few intimate friends, the members of the Cabinet and their wives, the committees from the Senate and the House headed by the Vice-President and the headed by the Vice-President and the Speaker and the employes of the White

DR. AKED WONDERS HOW WAR GOT START

Why Did Millions of Anti-Arms Socialists Allow It? Asks Minister.

FAILURE OF CHURCH NOTED

Famed Congregationalist Here With British Member of Parliament,

"At the throb of the war drum the churches have always forgotten they have any relation with Jesus Christ-and they have failed again. This is the one thing that has made we wonder whether organized Chistianity is en-titled to all I have claimed for it and fervently hoped for," said Dr. Charles F. Aked, of San Francisco, noted Congregational minister, who was in Portland vesterday.

and yesterday.

"Differ as sects may in the teachings of Jesus Christ, it cannot be argued that, son of man, of God, or of both, he was opposed to war," he continued. "Yet, as has always been the case, the church has failed when the sections of Europe clauser for war." "Though the failure of the church might have been presaged, I did not expect international socialism to break down in the same way. What has bewhich voted the Socialist ticket at the last election, the millions in the other nations which had pledged themselves against the sway of the war god? What has become of the solidarity of the people? Workers to Be Sufferers. "That the workingmen of the world still consider themselves as food for powder is my greatest disappointment. It is appalling, for it is the workingmen of Europe who will suffer. I was inclined to agree with my friend, David Starr Joradn, who said it was his conviction that there would never be another great war. He believed there would be no war becuase the nations could not afford it. I because I thought the rulers would not be able to bring millions to the sacrifice.

"I believe that the reason Europe was not plunged into a war during the last Balkan hostilities was because the chancellries were afraid to trust their armies. It is a horrible disappointment that they will make war. "That the workingmen of the world that they will make war.

"It is my hope to see the day when rival armies will shoot their officers and embrace each other on the battlefield, saying 'Kings and priests are our hereditary foes. If we must fight, let us fight them!' I speak, to paraphrase Shakespeare, more in anger than in sorrow.

sorrow War-Stopping Considered.

"There are two possibilities confronting Europe. One is that the diplomats ing Europe. One is that the diplomats may get together and find a way out, stopping the war. Already a jolly good scare has been given the armament manufacturers. They have succeeded in bringing about what they have been agitating for years to swell their own coffers. That they really wanted war is absurd—they wanted nations to be afraid of war and to spend huge sums in preparing for it.

afraid of war and to spend huge sums in preparing for it.

"The second possibility, and probably the likeliest, is that the nations have already gone much too far and that the war must go on, blood streaming in rivers, arts perishing in flame, lands devastated by hordes, until thrones go down in revolution. None knows what the day will bring forth.

"No state is rich enough to cure poverty. That has been found the case in many expensive experiments, but states are rich enough to prevent but states are rich enough to prevent poverty. And that is the question that England is just beginning to solve. It has been shown Great Britain that it was too big a business to take care of the lame, the halt and the blind, the inefficients of the nation, but she was beginning to see that she could prevent this state to a great degree. She had already begun a war on poverty with the passage of the insurance act. Three and a half millions had been appropriated in that millions had been appropriated in that direction, but now she must spend hundreds of millions on war against Germany, not poverty.

Effect Termed Ghastly. "The effect of the war will be to cut every human enterprise, every moral cause in Europe. It will have telling effect upon the whole of civilization. It is a ghastly overthrow of the hopes of humanity, and its end cannot be foreseen."
