Growers Urged to Sell but Hold

MARKET GAINS STRENGTH

Washington Crop Is Reduced by Dry Weather and War News Helps Bullish Feeling Here.

San Francisco. Arrived at 1.13 and 1.15 News filtered in from the country yesterday that a few hop sales were consummated at 15% cents, the best prices that have prevalled in the local market for three months. Details had not been learned last night, but the sales were declared to be authentic. Activity in the California market yesterday and bullish news from Western Washington made what conservative dealers declare to be the strongest situation in a long time. There was increased inquiry from the East for the Oregon crop and most dealers are said to have orders they are unable to fill. Growers are being offered 15 and 16 cents and options are sought at 16½ and 17 cents, with but little response. Dealers here are said to be afraid to quote prices in answer to inquiry from the East for they can't tell what hops will cost them. The market appears to be on the verge of rather a strong advance. It is being predicted by well-informed dealers that this will come by the first of the month.

Wires from California yesterday told of the sale of 400 bales of the 1913 crop of Sac-ramento hops at 1315 cents. There was another sale of 400 bales of Sacramentos for which the price was not given. A Port-land dealer bought 173 bales of 1913 Sonomas at 14% cents. A contract was made for 500 bales of Sacramento hope running over years at 14 cents. It was reported that 15% cents was freely offered for Sonoma hops yesterday, but no business re-said to be in a very strong situation yester-day. Unfilled orders are general throughout the hopgrowing districts and the market Congress, from San Diego: Argyll, from Port San Luis; Capt. A. F. Lucas, from San Fran-cinco. Salled—Steamers Humboldt, Delhi, for Sonthenstern Aldeka; Governor, for San Diego was blocked by the unwillingness of growrs to sell.

Advices were received yesterday that the Western & Washington crop is being ma-terially cut down by the drouth and the red spider, which has appeared in the yards. The dry weather is also seriously affecting the size of the Oregon yield. Conservative estimates range from 100,000 to 110,000 bales as the maximum Oregon crop. Continued drouth in the hopgrowing districts is having the effect of producing a small, fluffy Columbia River Bar Report.
