Of the "Fascinating Widow" Company, friends of Mrs. Gregory—Miss Castle, Alimony sisters, Miss La Tour, Rosamond Rankin, Miss Princess, Estelle Baldwin, Miss DuJoy, Violet Rochford, Miss Angot, Alice Rochford, Miss Njosech, Marion Hejman. Ned Johnson, Coney Island amusement promoter, George Baldwin. Saul Wright, a tailor, Frank Deshon. Mrs. Quilligan, a suffragette, Bessie Franklyn. Dr. Green, a dentist, Jack Ennis. Shop girls, candymakers, Coney Island visitors, bakers, spiclers, performers, etc.

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES. "The Candy Shop" is immense. It is a grand collection of mirth-creating confectious, of musical bonbons and a lavish array of irresistible attractions. At the Heilig last night Maude Fulton and William Rock, supported by an all-star company of 70 artists, began a week's visit in a vehicle that promises to be the biggest and most musical comedy ever seen by the audiences here. From the very first minute the curtain rises until the last note there isn't one dull second. It is fast and breezy, scintillates with cleverly written and just enough wholesome spiciness to make it an ideal production. The stage setting is elaborate and the costumes rich in color and quality.

Real Candy Shop Shows. There are two acts. The first shows the candy shop, with the cashier and girls in attendance. Mr. Rock's house is unique. It is the greatest combination of nonchalance and droilery imaginable. Miss Fulton's appearance last night was the signal for great demand. Maude Baker's new act, "The Dope," which has been a success in Portland, "The Candy Shop" is only adding to their already-established popularity.

To Be Continued in Our Next, sung (and, by the way, written) by Miss Fulton, is fine character work. Well, she is a wonderful personality. Her impersonation of Bernhardt is superb. She not only talks like the Divine Sarah, but looks the part. "The Dope" number, one of her hits made by Rock and Fulton, is unusual and sparklingly clever.

Daphne Enjoyable "Nut." Daphne Pollard bounces in with Bessie Baker. Together they do an original turn as "couple of nuts"—the Alimony sisters—Sue and Settle. Daphne won the hearts of thousands of Portland theatergoers when she was here before. She received an ovation last night. The sweet, dainty, lovely little actress is more charming than ever. She is a perfect chorus girl in herself. She can't dance, but she behaves and doesn't try. She does a Dixie song and dance in which she wears a gunnysack and not much else. Then, with Mr. Rock and Miss Baker, she appears in "My Sister Was the Queen of France."

There are a score of rapid-fire, brilliant numbers. Among them are the "Googy-Go," by Miss Florence Morrison and Frank Deshon; "Just We Two," by Frances White and Alfred Gerrard; the "Ghost Dance," by Mr. Rock and Miss Baker; and "The Silvery Moon," by Ida Gold and George Baldwin.

Miss Morrison is immense, honest, she is, and she doesn't care a rap. Her costumes are dashing and rich in color. In hoop skirts and pantalettes she dances a sort of tango travesty with Frank Deshon. The combination is a scream.

Mrs. Rock Also Shines. Bessie Franklyn eats "jaglets" and they have their effect on the militant suffragette. Mrs. William Rock is a charming candy drummer who sells the mischief-making sweets.

CO-STARS IN "THE CANDY SHOP" AT HEILIG THEATER.

who returned yesterday from a seven-weeks' trip through the East. He was accompanied by Mrs. Baker and L. H. Pearl, treasurer of the Baker Theater Company. Manager Baker has secured the cast for what he believes will prove to be the best company ever appearing in stock here under his management. A large number of new plays, never seen in Portland, were booked on the trip just completed.

Sparkle of Youth Demanded. "The sparkle and vivacity of youth is what the theater-going public demands this season," said Mr. Baker. "The days of the old-style leading man and woman of middle age have passed. The biggest producers in New York are demanding youth as the first essential in filling their star parts. "Vim, effervescence, spontaneity—these are the theatrical qualities that producers are bidding highest for this coming season. Our home people demand better players and better productions than appear in the East. On this trip I visited stock companies in leading cities that would not last three weeks in Portland. We will present a company this season that I feel safe in saying is unexcelled and not anywhere in this country." With very few exceptions, new faces will greet Baker theater patrons September 6. Mr. Gleckler comes from playing leads in Kansas City, Pittsburg and Milwaukee. His first experience was gained in the old Castle Square theater in Boston. Miss Bonnie was ingenue in Woodward's Stock Company, Kansas City, six years ago. Since then she has toured the South with her own company and she comes West because of the death of her manager and a desire for new scenes.

Janet Young Oregon Girl. Others selected by Manager Baker for this season are Charles Halton, Harry Fraser, William Powell, Brandon Evans, Walter Gilbert, Thomas Coffin Cooke and Walter Siegfried. Women players are Helen Travers, Charles T. Sprading Begins Series of Lectures Here.

Charles T. Sprading, lecturer for the National Rationalist Society, began a series of addresses in Portland yesterday, with as his topic "The Christ Myth" at the Scandinavian Hall, at Fourth and Yamhill streets. He prefaced his address with the quotation from Max Muller, the German philologist who supervised the translation of 24 sacred books of the world into English: "All truth is safe and nothing else is safe, and he who withholds the truth from men from motives of expediency is either a coward or a criminal or both." "Most of us have known only one religion—the religion of our parents," said the lecturer. "This we accept just as we accept our names without thought without question or analysis. So we are startled when we first examine the sacred literature of other peoples to find that they also had their prophets, their Christs, and that the Christ of the Christian church is only one of many such characters in the world's history."

Crane Creek Project Completed. WEISER, Idaho, Aug. 23.—(Special.)—After nearly a year of continuous operations the Slick Bros. Construction Company has about completed the Crane Creek irrigation project. The boards of directors of the Crane Creek and Sunnyside districts visited the project Thursday and took it over. The project will irrigate 25,000 acres directly tributary to Weiser.

AMERICA'S STAND LAUDED

Rev. S. Bollinger Praises Nation as Peace Base in War Time. "Our Influence in Black" was the topic of the sermon preached yesterday morning in the Highland Congregational Church by Rev. S. Bollinger, who returned from his vacation. Mr. Bollinger declared that the United States today occupies the most responsible position of any other nation in the world, and that it stands for peace and civilization, while other nations are engaged in war and carnage. "Ye are the salt of the earth," was the text which he applied to this country.

"In America within the last six months there has come a sentiment for peace," said Mr. Bollinger, "and America today is the only nation that has the moral and political courage to stand for peace and civilization, while other nations are engaged in war and carnage. "Ye are the salt of the earth," was the text which he applied to this country.

MAJESTIC HAS GREAT SHOW

"Men and Women" Is Intense Heart-Interest Photoplay. A play full of human interest, with a big theme powerfully executed, is shown here at the Majestic Theater. "Men and Women," the latest production of the late Grand Duke Ferdinand, is a production well staged and filmed.

WAR IN AIR IN PHOTOPLAY

Majestic Theater Offers Bill of Wide Variety. It is an old saying that variety is the spice of life, and this variety has never been more thoroughly proved than at the Majestic theater this week. A three-reel drama, "Men and Women," produced by Klaw & Erlanger, is the big feature film of the week. It is interesting, and it is not easy to say which character is most satisfying.

STAR HAS "TREY O' HEARTS"

Photoplay Grows More Interesting at Every Turn. "The Trey o' Hearts" grows more and more interesting as each installment appears at the Star. Judith, half-insane daughter of Seneca Trine, still pursues her sister Rose and Alan Law, whom she intends to kill. In this last installment she succeeds in separating Alan and Rose and burning the yacht on which the sweethearts tried to escape.

LOST—$25 REWARD

Reward of $25 will be paid for return to Heilig Theater box office of satchel found on street outside stage entrance yesterday. Contents valueless except to owner.
