"If I make any statement detectives would twist the thing so that it would react against me. I am positive that we will be acquitted."
"We can hold Innes and his wife on any of three charges," said Francis S. Alkus, manager of the Portland Burns Detective Agency, yesterday.

"The first of these and the most important is the charge against him in connection with this disappearance of the Nelms sisters. For this charge the Inneses are now on their way to Texas to explain to a jury. In case the State of Texas fails to prosecute them on that charge the Government has two cards more.

"One of these is a charge of using the mails to defraud. Innes will be forced to explain what he did with $10,000 belonging to Mrs. Elois Dennis, the older sister, which we have evidence he obtained. If he cannot show proof that he invested this for Mrs. Dennis, then I think he can be convicted easily. The last charge, which will be used only in the event that the other two fall, is an alleged violation of the Mann act."

Dictarbone Is Used.

Dictaphone Is Used.

A dictaphone was employed in the cell where Innes was confined at Eugene and in the hotel room where Mrs. Innes was kept under surveillance, says Manager Alkus, of the Burns agency. Mr. Alkus said last night that several conversations had been recorded which, after investigation, may provide a clew to the disappearance of the Nelms sisters.

meatgrinder was taken by Deputy Sheriff Newton, who declares it will be most important evidence in the murder trial.

Detectives and Deputy Sheriff Newton also reported that they had evidence to the effect that Innes attempted to dispose of jewelry in Eugene. This jewelry, say the investigators, was the property of Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis, one of the women Innes is accused of ance of the Nelms sisters.

That Mr. and Mrs. Innes have jew-elry which they have concealed also was declared by Mr. Alkus. by the de identification
