ANN SWINBURNE TELLS HOW THE AMERICANS CHARTERED SHIP.

Politicians and Millionnires Unable Get Money or Transportation Out of Trouble Center.

John Ditchburn received, yesterday letter from his daughter, Ann Swinburne, written in Vienna while the war was in its beginning, and in which she gives an interesting idea of the conditions in Austria.

"I am dashing off this line to you she wrote, "in a great rush, for it has to go to Genoa tonight and is going to be taken to New York and mailed there by a friend of mine who is sailing on an Italian steamer that has been chartered by some wealthy Americans. I don't know when I shall be able to get another letter off to you, as all the steamship companies have been forced to discontinue their service. The conditions are frightful. Italy is full of Americans who are pouring in from the north in great hordes like Goths and Vandals.

"They are all trying to get money and all trying to get home—and it is impossible to do either.
"I have been in Milan the last week—just came here yesterday—and it was there that the American men got to two. On Friday night, September 4. I shall address the people of Linn County at Albany and tell them frankly of my business career. I shall also point out as well as my ability will permit what are the real issues of this campaign. "As to money, we are able to draw only small amounts. I can get 10 pounds every day or so, but no more, and we are in constant fear that we may soon be able to get nothing.

"You needn't worry about me, how-ever, for I am quite safe. I shall write again at the first opportunity."

RANGERS HOPE SOON TO CHECK NEW SANTIAM BLAZES.

Flames Left in Path of Storm Cover Small Arens, but Extreme Dryness Causes Fight to Be Pushed.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 28.—(Special.)— Nine forest fires were started in the Santiam National forest by lightning during the electrical storm mountains Wednesday night. A mes-sage received today from F. H. Brun-dage, supervisor of the Santiam Na-tional forest, who is now at Detroit, tells of the fires.

Rangers are working at all the fires and, as all are small, Mr. Brundage says that little trouble is expected. says that little trouble is expected.

Owing to the remarkably dry conditions in the mountains, however, the forest service officials are using every effort to get the flames under control as soon as possible.

Three of the fires are in the vicinity of Coffin Mountain, about nine miles southeast of Detroit. Another is on the North Pyramid, about 16 miles north of Fish Lake, and another is near Bear Lake, six or seven miles southeast of Cascadia. The exact locations of the other four have not been reported.

It is expected that the three fires near Coffin Mountain will be under control tonight.

The only fire causing much trouble is that which has been burning for sev-eral days on Devil's Creek, about four miles south of the Breltenbush Hot Springs. Calliope Is Played, Champion Rope and Wild Horse Rider Give Exhibition and Speeches Are Made at All Stops.

VANCOUVER, Wash., (Special.)-The party of 150 men and women, Muts and business men of this city tonight, practically exhausted and hoarse from singing and yelling, but happy.

In Tacoma last night the entire party was received in the Tacoma Commercial Club. Speeches of welcome were made by Mayor Fawcett; George Milton Savage, president Vancouver, who made a two days' trip made by Mayor Fawcett; George Mil-ton Savage, president of the Commer-cial Club, and T. H. Martin, secretary, Speeches were made in response by Mayor Crass, of Vancouver; John H. Elwell, W. J. Kinney, president of the Vancouver Commercial Club, and others. Before the evening was over, Ta-coma promised to come To Vancouver 1909 strong in a special train to attend the fair, Wild West Stampede and Pioneer Days, September 7 to 12.

Calliope Is Played. The calliope was played whenever the train passed through, a town and heads would pop out of the windows to gaze at the huge letters telling of the Columbia River Interstate Fair, its date, and inviting all to come.

Stops today were made at every place of any size along the line, begin-ning with Olympia, Hoqulam, Aber-deen, Montesano, Elma and Oakville, and back to Vancouver.

The cowboys' band played almost endlessly and the party would parade through the business streets of each city and a stop would be made in a public place, where speeches would be made and the people invited to come to see for themselves that this will be the greatest fair ever held in Southwestern Washington.

Roper Would Show Skill.

Beho Gray, champion roper of the world, would show his skill and Scout world, would show his skill and Scout Nash, wild horse rider, would give an exhibition; the quartet would sing, the band would play; something would be doing every second, and J. E. Werlein, a Mut from the Imperial Dynasty, of Portland, would say "Amen" to every good word in a way that would make the crowd would burst into laughter.

Mayor Crass wore a big sombrero, a Simington took the Breakwater for Mayor Crass wore a big sombrero, a Beho Gray's trick of throwing three lassos at once drew much attention. A rider on horseback would gallop by. Gray would throw one noose over the rider's body, one over the animal's head and one over the animal's feet. Donkeys Interrupt Speaker.

At the Southwestern Washington Fair yesterday, the boosters were in-vited into the inside of the track near the judges stand, where they remained for a couple of heats. J. E.
