London Baron's Home

For several years past the Baron has made his home in London, where his business interests have been large. One of his latest enterprises was the establishment of a string of moving-picture theaters. For several years he has been one of the active supporters of a London committee which devotes its energies to opposing Andrew Carnegie and his peace plans in the avowed belief that Mr. Carnegie was strempting to bring about a union beattempting to bring about a union be tween the United States and Great Britain. He was associated in this work with Miss Lillian Scott Troy, of San Francisco, who has appeared several times before the foreign relations committee of the Senate at Washington in opposition to the ratification of Angio-American arbitration treaties.

Baron von Horst attained prominence baron von Horst attained prominence in the suffrage agitation in England by appearing many times as a bondsman for women accused of breaking the peace. He speaks English without an accent, having been taken at the age of five years to America, where he was educated.

Hop Office in Salem.

Baron von Horst, who was arrested in London yesterday as a German spy, was well known to hopmen of Oregon. He maintained a branch hop office at Salem up to about three years ago, and was a frequent visitor to this state. He was for a time a hopgrower on a leased yard near Salem, but did not figure yard near Salem, but did not ingure extensively in the hop business in Ore-gon. He is a brother of E. Clemens Horst, a big hopgrower of California, and Paul R. G. Horst, a prominent hop speculator, who tried several years ago to corner the Oregon crop, but was not connected with them in a business

SALEM, Or., Sept. 2.—(Special.)— After an iliness of several weeks the Rev. P. S. Knight pioneer Congrega-tional minister of the valley and known throughout the state as "the marrying minister," died at a local hosiptal here today, death being due to advanced

More than three weeks ago Rev. Mr More than three weeks ago Rev. Mr. Knight was thrown from a buggy and injured, but in the opinion of the attending physician, Dr. J. H. Fairchild, these injuries did not contribute to his death. Several days after the accident he suffered a stroke of paralysis and he was taken to the hospital.

Rev. Mr. Knight was born in Boston, Mass., and was 78 years old. His career as a minister began 49 years ago at Oregon City, where he served as pastor of the Congregational Church.

After two years of service in Oregon City he came to Salem, serving as pas-tor of the Congregational Church here from 1867 to 1884. After that he served from 1867 to 1884. After that he served as pastor at Corvallia from 1885 to 1887, and at Eugene from 1888 to 1889. He was again called to Corvallis and remained there until in 1993, when he returned to Salem, and from that time made this city his home.

His parents upon arriving in the West settled in Vancouver, Wash, and here he learned the carpenter trade. After mastering it he came to Salem and entered Willamette University, and subsequently he read law and was admitted to the bar. Prior to beginning his career as a minister in Oregon City he served as a reporter on the Salem Statesman.

His wife, whom he married 50 years ago, died four years ago. Besides the two grandchildren he is survived by two brothers in Vancouver, Wash, and a sister in Portland. The funeral ar-rangements have not been announced.
