

ACID-BURNT BONES
CLEW INNERS CASE

San Antonio Cesspool at Home of Alleged Murderers Contains Parts of Skull.

BROWN HAIR ALSO FOUND

Accused Lawyer Identified as Person Who Inquired About Sulphuric Acid—Prosecutor Hints Wife Has Talked.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 3.—(Special).—Parts of a human skull, decomposed presumably by strong acids, were found today in a cesspool in the rear of the cottage occupied in June by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Innes. The Inneses are in jail here in connection with the disappearance of Beatrice Nelms and her sister, Mrs. Eloise Dennis. Under the direction of District Attorney Linden and Sheriff J. W. Matthes, a party of men pumped the pool and investigation was then made of every bucketful of deposits. The different pieces of bone which Linden asserts are part of a skull were floating in the pool.

Brown Hair Found.
One part of bone, slightly burned, shows traces of sutures under a microscope. This piece, about two inches in diameter, is concave, and brown hair, possibly three or four inches long, still is attached. In all about 15 pieces were found. All can be crumbled beneath the hand and are light to the touch. A number of strands of hair were found, although not attached to the bones.

Mr. Linden found one piece of bone which was firm and hard and could not be crumbled. It was very small, however, and was white. Under the microscope it showed jagged edges which bore resemblance to a suture.

Mrs. Innes Questioned.
District Attorney Linden subjected Mrs. Innes to a severe examination this morning, and refused to disclose what she told him.

"I obtained some most satisfactory evidence for the state," he said.
Linden made as thorough an examination as the circumstances would permit. He had a dozen fruit jars in which the various pieces of bone were placed. The evidence was taken to a doctor tomorrow to be tested. The huge meat grinder, brought here by Innes and shipped to himself at Portland, Or., under the name of "hook," and which was brought back here by Marshall Nelms, brother of the missing sisters, is now in the hands of the District Attorney. H. A. Keltner, a pharmacist, has identified Innes as the man who called at the drugstore in June and asked about the purchase of a carboy of sulphuric acid.

BOLOGNA CARDINAL POPE

dear to him. He expressed great admiration for the genius of its people, which was comparable only to their religious zeal, and he added:

America to Get First Message.
"I am glad that the apostolic benediction abroad will be forwarded toward America, where the American cardinals will at a later date impart it to the people directly." The pope also expressed the hope that with America in favor of peace, together with the prayers raised to the Almighty throughout the world, peace would come soon.

In the history of papal conclaves, the present conclave was unique, inasmuch as, theoretically, the election of any cardinal was possible, while in previous conclaves there were special designations.

In answer to the question of the dean of the cardinals, the new Pope said he desired to take the name of Benedict XV.

Stole Place Over Shoulders.
Monsignor Fogliani, assisted by the other officials, recorded the act of election and the acceptance, and the members of the conclave then entered the Sistine Chapel, with the Pope. The pontiff was clothed in a flowing white robe, red slippers and high stock with a broad red cravat. Cardinal Della Voipe placed over his shoulders a red stole, embroidered with gold. The Pope then mounted the throne to receive the homage of the Cardinals.

The Cardinals first kissed the feet and then the hands of the pontiff, who administered the accolade and pronounced the benediction. Cardinal Della Voipe placed upon the pontiff's finger the fisherman's ring, which the Pope returned to Monsignor Damico to have engraved with his name.

The pontiff proceeded from the Sistine Chapel to the Basilica of St. Peter's, where he gave a benediction. He returned to the Sistine Chapel, where the second act of homage by the Cardinals was accorded him.

Emotion Chokes Voice.
When the Pope was asked to present himself before the people for the first benediction, he turned to Cardinal Merry Del Val, first secretary of state, and said: "I hope I shall have strength to overcome my emotion." Crowds gathered to see the Pope and the Cardinals, including Cardinals Gibbons, Barley and O'Connell, tried to calm the assemblage and obtain silence.

The excitement reached a climax when the Pope finally emerged. He was alone and a hush fell over the multitude. All knelt, and the pontiff raised his hand, with three fingers outstretched, and imparted with melodious voice the apostolic blessing. A great cheer rang out as he turned to withdraw.

American Cardinals Favored.
Even in the conclave the election of the new Pope caused much excitement.
The Cardinals surrounded him and addressed to him their greeting and congratulations in Latin. All wished to be the first to kiss his hand.

Cardinals Gibbons and O'Connell, who only reached Rome shortly before noon today, expressed their gratification at being the first Cardinals not participating in the conclave to render homage. The pontiff embraced them tenderly and said he appreciated the efforts they had made to come to Rome for the conclave at such personal discomfort.

POPE AGAINST "MODERNISM" New Pontiff Leaves Cardinalate Received but Last May.

Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa, elected Pope today by the Sacred College, in succession to Pius X, who died August 26, was created a Cardinal May 25, 1914. He is the Archbishop of Bologna, Italy. He was born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, November 21, 1854, and was ordained a priest December 21, 1878. He served as secretary of the Nunciature in Spain from 1883 to 1887, in which year he was appointed secretary to the late Cardinal Rampolla.

He was appointed sub-secretary of state in 1901 and in 1907 he was elected to the post of advisor to the Holy Office.
In 1907 he was appointed papal nuncio of Madrid, in succession to Monsignor Rianaldini, but this appointment was canceled three days later. This incident had occurred just before he was made Archbishop of Bologna.
When Monsignor Della Chiesa was given this post it was declared in Rome that it was mainly with the object of combating modern religious ideas, Bologna being the headquarters of the National Democratic League, whose members advocated what is known as "modernism" in religion.
In January, 1914, while still at Bologna, the present Pope issued a pastoral letter strongly condemning the tango.
It has been 174 years since the time of the last Pope Benedict. On his election to the papacy in 1740, Cardinal Prospero Lambertini assumed that title.
It is an interesting fact that the new Pope was Archbishop of Bologna and

ROSEBURG GIRL TO RIDE IN ROUND-UP RACES.

ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 3.— Miss Myrtle Hannan, one of the most skilled and daring horse-women in this vicinity, has signed a contract whereby she will take part in the relay running races to be held at the Walla Walla Round-Up in September.
Miss Hannan is a favorite, and during her residence here has ridden in many exciting races on the Roseburg track. She understands thoroughly the characteristics of the horse. Her friends here believe she will be one of the favorite riders in the Walla Walla events.
Miss Hannan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hannan, of this city. Her father is a cattle buyer, which has afforded his daughter unlimited experience on the range.

that Pope Benedict XIV was born in Bologna.

The choice falls on a cardinal of Italian birth, as was expected from tradition and also from the disturbed conditions in Europe, but the secretary of state for Pope Leo XIII. When Cardinal Rampolla was made nuncio to Madrid, he took Monsignor Della Chiesa with him as secretary of nunciature.
On Cardinal Rampolla's return to Rome to become secretary of state for the Vatican, Monsignor Della Chiesa entered the secretariat of state as one of the "minutanti," or minor officials, until 1901, when he was appointed substitute of the secretariat and also secretary of the cypher.

As secretary to the secretary of state Cardinal Della Chiesa was brought into notable prominence throughout the Catholic hierarchy, but his position was not at that time of cardinal rank.
On the accession of Pope Pius X, Monsignor Della Chiesa continued in the secretariat until December 16, 1907, when the Pope gave him a noted promotion to the position of Archbishop of the important see of Bologna.

For seven years he administered the see of Bologna, with unimpaired success, until in May last, Pope Pius X named him among 13 members of the hierarchy to receive the red hat. Archbishop Begn, of Quebec, was among the other cardinals named at that time, the others being prelates of Spain, France, Austria, Germany and Italy.
The full title of the new Pope, in addition to Benedict XV, will be Pope Bishop of Rome and successor of St.
Peter, Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church, Patriarch of the West, Primate of Italy, Archbishop and Metro-polititan of the Roman Province, Sovereign of the Temporal Dominion of the Holy Roman Church.

TRIO ACCUSED OF
BIG BANK SWINDLE

J. W. Matthes, R. J. Snow and
W. J. Summers Alleged Partners in Frauds.

DEALINGS REACH $100,000

Vice-Consul of Netherlands Said to Have Made Loans for Holland Institution to Dummies and Divided Profits.

With a warrant issued for the arrest of J. W. Matthes, Vice-Consul in Portland for the Netherlands, with Robert J. Snow, a real estate agent, and W. J. Summers, building contractor arrested and in jail, the authorities believe an international swindle has been uncovered through which the three men, all residents of Portland, with the aid of dummies, defrauded the International Mortgage Bank of Apeldoorn, Holland, of more than $100,000.

Charges of forgery were made against the three yesterday by C.
Bakker, president of the International Mortgage Bank, who came from Holland to investigate loans of the company. On his complaint District Attorney Evans yesterday issued warrants for their arrest, and others may be drawn into the net later.

Vice-Consul Matthes, who has been prominent in social affairs of Portland for some time, was taken into custody last night by Frank Beatty, special investigator and former Deputy United States Marshal, but he was not formally arrested, as he was aiding the authorities in locating other alleged participants in the deals.

The two other principals had been arrested earlier in the day. Mr. Mat-thes has a suburban estate near Rock Spur, south of the city. Mr. Matthes probably will be formally arrested this morning.

Grand Jury to Investigate.
The District Attorney will bring the three before the grand jury now in session for investigation and will call the cases to the attention of United States District Attorney Reames, it being suspected that the mails have been used in conducting a conspiracy to defraud.

It will be alleged in the prosecution of the three men that they committed forgery in issuing mortgages, the specific instance upon which the warrant was issued being that of a tract of land in Crook County, bought from the Oregon & Western Colonization Company.

The name of S. P. Twitchell appears on the mortgage, given to the International Mortgage Bank, of Apeldoorn.
So far as can be learned by the officials after an extended investigation there is no such person as Twitchell, this being believed to be a fictitious name signed by Snow. Witnesses to the instrument were Matthes and Summers. It was executed before Matthes, who is a notary public.

This transaction, it is charged, is characteristic of the operations of the three. The bank, which appears to be the chief victim of the alleged conspiracy, was organized with a capital of $800,000 for the purpose of loaning money on mortgages in this country.

Matthes is Bank's Agent.
J. W. Matthes, whose offices are at 222 Falling building, is the local agent.
Arrangements were that he was to be paid 1 per cent commission on all loans made through him. It was his duty to take the application of the borrower, describe the property, improvements and annual production. This application was sworn to before a notary and the loan was approved by the local agent, who thereupon was authorized to execute a mortgage and pay out the bank's money, large sums of which were on deposit in a local institution for the purpose.

Names for applicants for loans are alleged in many instances to have been forged. It is charged that dummies appear in many applications for loans from the Holland bank and it is stated by those familiar with the investigation that in several cases loans made by Matthes have been in excess of the value of the property mortgaged to the Apeldoorn bank.

It is said the money secured in this way was divided among the alleged conspirators and that Matthes, who as agent of the bank was entitled to 1 per cent commission, with a provision that he should exact no commission from the borrowers, in some instances is known to have taken as high as 25 per cent from those obtaining loans.

Vacant lots in Portland, in which an equity was purchased by the men under arrest, are said to have been mortgaged to the Apeldoorn bank, the papers sworn to before Matthes showing that the property was improved with valuable houses and in consequence loans much above what vacant lots would justify, it is said, were made.
It is asserted that the three men frequently sold the equity held in these properties to unsuspecting persons, pointing to the large loan made by the bank as evidence of the value of the holding. This course is said to have been taken also with farm lands in Eastern Oregon, it being represented in the papers prepared prior to the man-made by Matthes that the land was valuable, when in most instances it is said the opposite was true.
In respect to innocent purchasers are known to have protested when the value of their new holdings became known. Clinton Mallory was one of these, and when he protested vigorously his money was returned, but it is declared the money was paid out of the Holland bank's funds on deposit here.

Restitution Is Probable.
Loans made by Matthes in Multnomah County are said to be part of the alleged conspiracy carried on by the three as well as a number of others in Crook County. It appears that the man-made were chiefly carried on in these two districts.

With the determination of thoroughly investigating the matter, it is probable in the offices of the local representative of his bank, President Bakker left Apeldoorn at the time of the outbreak of Europe, and he is expected to return, being aboard on the sensational trip when that liner landed at Hal-fax to avoid capture at sea, instead of steaming on to New York.
Close scrutiny of the transactions of the three men has been conducted by Mr. Beatty, who reported to Mr.
Bakker yesterday. He made Collier, attorneys for the Apeldoorn bank.

District Attorney Evans has been working with them on the case for the past few weeks. Matthes recently made a trip to Southern California, and it is understood he returned to Portland believing that prosecution would not be pressed against him. Full restitution as was possible, and it is said property held by the three accused has been returned.

Criminal Prosecution Assured.
"We expect to recover for the bank a large part of what has been stolen," said Attorney Collier yesterday.

"This will not stop the criminal prosecution, however, although the attitude of Matthes appears to be that he should not be punished because of his voluntary surrender of property he is charged with having purchased with the money of the bank."

Snow maintained his headquarters in the same offices with Matthes, 222 Falling building, and it is believed the three arrested are said to be several dummies who signed papers whenever necessary. One man known to the authorities signed his own name to a document to further the scheme of the alleged conspirators, for which he received $10. He has not been arrested, but probably will be a witness for the prosecution.

Others may be brought into the case later, but it is believed the three named are the principals in the scheme to defraud that will be alleged by the prosecution when the case is brought to trial.

Robert J. Snow and W. J. Summers declined to make any statement when taken to the County Jail, by a Deputy Constable last night.

"The matter completely surprises me," said Mr. Summers. "I don't know what to say about it."

RAYMOND MEETING OVER

SOUTHWEST WASHINGTON DEVEL-OPMENT BODY ADJOURNS.

Olympia Is Selected as Next Rendezvous—Logged-off and Arid Land Laws Approved.

RAYMOND, Wash., Sept. 3.—(Special).—The Southwest Washington Development Association meeting closed tonight. At 8 o'clock in the morning the delegates took an automobile trip up the valley and boat trip down the bay. After lively meetings in the morning, afternoon and evening, the semi-annual gathering adjourned to meet in Olympia next February, when officers for the coming year will be elected.

The convention adopted resolutions approving the logged-off and arid-land laws passed by the last Legislature, subject to recommendations or legislative amendments to be made at the annual meeting; favored an exhibit from the 19 southwest counties at the Panama fair; urged that road signs be approved by the County Commissioners and then protected by them, and extended a vote of thanks to the press of Portland, Tacoma and Seattle for publicity given affairs of the association in the past.

Farmer Smith, of the O.-W. R. & N.; Ralph Stacy, of the National Bank of Tacoma; Captain W. I. Devenny, of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, and Samuel Hill, of Maryhill, addressed the assemblage.

LINEAGE IS TRACED

La Grande Pioneer, Who Died Recently, of Noble Family.

ELLSWORTH BLOOD ROYAL

Doughty Ancestor, Who Battled Cromwell, Settled in Connecticut.
Clay W. P. Ellsworth Moved to Oregon and Married, 1875.

LA GRANDE, Or., Sept. 3.—(Special).
—Clay W. P. Ellsworth, who recently died in this city, resided in Oregon 46 years, and excepting a few years had made his home in Union County.
Mr. Ellsworth was a lineal descendant from a noble English family, tracing back to 1299 and the English Scottish wars. In the 17th century Baron John Ellsworth and his retainers battled for King Charles against Oliver Cromwell, after King Charles was beheaded, the old royalist, whose sabre-gashed face was proof of his bravery, went to the colony of Connecticut.
There he built the Ellsworth stone mansion that stood for more than 300 years. The American family of Ellis-worth, of which Clay Ellsworth was a direct descendant, was intensely patriotic, and has included many distinguished men. Oliver Ellsworth, third Chief Justice of the United States, who was envoy to England and to France and aided in forming the American Constitution, was a grandparent of Clay Ellsworth. Henry L. Ellsworth, United States Commissioner of Patents and Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth, close friend of Abraham Lincoln and who was the first officer killed in the Civil War, were his cousins.
Mr. Ellsworth was born in Stockton, Chautauque County, New York, August 30, 1845, the son of Dr. Waterman Ellsworth, a leading physician. He came to Oregon in early manhood. He then had four brothers on the Pacific Coast, each prominent as a pioneer.
They were Stukely Ellsworth, of Eugene, lawyer, politician and railroad promoter; Hazeltine Ellsworth, pioneer druggist; Franklin Ellsworth, newspaper man of San Francisco and Portland; Henry Ellsworth, shotgun messenger of the Wells-Fargo Express and later commission merchant, of Kelton, Utah.

Clay Ellsworth was a baggage-master on the old Oregon-California Railroad. Thence he came to Union County.
On April 30, 1875, he married Miss Heater Brown, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brown, who came from England to America in 1837, crossed the plains to Oregon in 1850, and made their pioneer home in La Grande in 1861. Mr. Ellsworth's widowed mother came from New York, and for many years lived with his family, dying in 1900, aged 83 years. For many years he was City Recorder and Justice of the Peace at La Grande and Island City.
The surviving family includes his widow, three sons, Harry, Edward and Frederick; a daughter, Mrs. William Clark, and a grandson, Willard Clark, all of La Grande. His nieces are Mrs.
Harriet McDonald, of La Grande; Mrs.
Louise Wood, of Tecumseh, Mich.; Miss Rose Ellsworth, Salt Lake City, and his nephews are Allan M. Ellsworth, of Portland, and John W. Ellsworth, of Portland.

Council Fixes Elma Expenses.
ELMA, Wash., Sept. 3.—(Special).— The City Council at its regular meeting this week fixed an estimate of the expenses for the coming year at $12-476, and aside from the regular receipts a tax levy of 9 mills was estimated. This is 5 mills lower than last year and is believed to be the lowest tax levy of a city this size for strictly municipal purposes in the state.

Why drink water when you can get SALEM BEER
the most popular beverage on the Pacific Coast?
SALEM BEER is brewed in one of the most modern plants on the Pacific Coast. It is aged in steel glass-lined tanks. It is conveyed by modern pipe system direct to the bottle house, bottled under pressure and therefore never comes in contact with the air from the time it leaves the fermenting tank until the bottle is opened by the consumer. The consumer is absolutely assured a beer of ideal effervescence, snap and purity.
A trial will surely convince any one of the excellence of Salem Bottled Beer.
