Brewer, manager of the Commercial Club, who has just reached Portland with his family from Raymond, Wash. "The farmers are harvesting their third crop," he said, "and the yield is very good. Henry T. Atkinson, former pastor of the McMinville M. E. Church, but at the present time secretary-treasurer of the Investors' Building Company, is interesting in a letter from his mother in Ireland, concerning the war situation and its effects. The "George" referred to in the letter is Mr. Atkinson's oldest brother, and the "Dorothy" is his niece. Following are extracts:

"Many of the retired officers have been called out, including George. The fact that his call was for home duty makes me glad, even Mayne, his wife, does not know where he is; all have to take an oath to divulge nothing. The country is full of spies, but, owing to the secrecy of their movements, our troops go away without a hitch."

"Lord Meath said that he was thinking of erecting a monument to the Kaiser, because he had effected a union between Irishmen north and south, for now the Ulster volunteers and the Nationalists are standing shoulder to shoulder."

"Our rector is held up in Switzerland, a neutral country, where he had gone for a vacation. Property has volunteered as nurse and the government has assured her that her position will be kept open for her when the war is over."

"On the way to the North Wall, when the Lancers were leaving (their horses having been put on board during the day), they had to have a deep cut from the extreme end of the North Wall to Grattan bridge at Four Courts. As the troops went on board at evening all the ships saluted, but the noise of their sirens was more like a requiem than anything else."

"One young officer had just been married and his young wife marched all the way beside him weeping. I was only one of very many sad scenes. The Prince of Wales relief fund has reached far over a million pounds. All eligible horses have been bought, but the government will not take white horses and on this account we have heard that a few unpatriotic persons have wished their horses in order to save them."

"I wonder how much news you get and if it is all true. Because of fear of spies, which are numerous, nothing is told here until it is done."

IMPORTANT LIFE INSURANCE APPOINTMENT.
 A matter of much interest to life insurance men will be the announcement that Mr. Joseph H. Gray has been appointed supervisor of agents in the State of Oregon for the Columbia Life & Trust Company.

In speaking of the matter, Mr. S. P. Lockwood, the vice-president and general manager of the company, expressed his gratification at securing the services of Mr. Gray for this very important post.

The new appointee has spent all his business life in insurance, having entered the employ of the New York Life in San Francisco as an office boy in 1896, and serving for 15 years with the company.

It is estimated that there are 4,253,000,000 tons of iron ore unmined in the United States.

BRAZIL HIT BY WAR

Troutdale Man's Brother Tells of Shock.

GOVERNMENT NEEDS CASH

Negotiation of Loan With Combination of English, French and German Bankers Quickly Halted by European Conflict.

That the war is being severely felt in South America is evidenced from the letter, under date of August 12, just received by M. O. Nelson, manager of the Cherry Park Development Company, Troutdale, Or., from his brother, Justus H. Nelson, a medical missionary in Para, Brazil. He writes:

"The topic of highest interest here in all circles is the European war. The effects of the war are being felt from top to bottom of the Brazilian nation. The first thing that touched the people was the rise in the price of articles imported from Europe, such as potatoes, cheese, condensed milk, and so on. The United States such as flour, kerosene, etc. For a few days we supposed that we should have no more English or German shipping from anywhere, but the English vessels are now authorized to run regularly both to Europe and New York. The German vessels are waiting orders, apparently afraid to venture out. The last German steamer which arrived here a few days ago sailed the last part of the voyage with lights out at night and with the Brazilian flag by day, so it is reported."

"The Brazilian government received a tremendous shock in its finances when war was declared in Europe. The government is hard up for money, and was negotiating a loan with a combination of English, French and German banks. There is nothing doing in the matter, except the loan business, and that ended the loan business. The surprise was that the Brazilian government might keep on its feet and gain time to make some other plan for meeting its liabilities. The surprise was that the Brazilian government might keep on its feet and gain time to make some other plan for meeting its liabilities."

"The feeling against Germany, as most to blame for the war, is having such a strong reaction here, that coming quite general, and the popular feeling has today been greatly aroused by telegrams relating the killing of Brazilian sailors by German troops. I suppose that the telegrams will be contradicted tomorrow, but the people believe the stories and are impatient to take revenge. Tonight, while I have been writing, about 75 men in citizens' clothes marched past the door armed with guns, marching to the sound of a drum beating at double quick step. I don't know what they intend to do, but it looks like an attempt to repeat what was perpetrated at Sao Paulo yesterday in an attack on the German consular building. The morning papers will tell all tomorrow."

HOTELMAN GIVES SELF UP

90-Day Sentence for Vagrancy Is Begun After Two Years.

Harry Harris, north-end hotelman, surrendered to the police yesterday and began serving a 90-day workhouse sentence. Harris was convicted of vagrancy in Municipal Court July 23, 1912, and his former partner, John Parker, were alleged to have been extorting money from underworld characters when the plot was nipped by Captain O'Donoghue.

Parker and Harris and a score of others were arrested during the investigation. Several forfeited bail and disappeared. Parker appeared at the Supreme Court yesterday for his sentence. He completed serving his sentence last May. Harris likewise appealed and when bondsmen complained of the risk yesterday, Harris went to the police station and asked to serve his sentence immediately.

Dr. James Makes Statement.
 "The article that appeared in The Oregonian September 2, with reference to a doctor, Frank D. James, an employee of the Rosarian Cafeteria, who was arrested charged with theft of silverware and groceries, has done me an injustice, as I am the only physician in Portland by the name of James," said Dr. R. F. James in the Morgan building, yesterday. "So far as I can learn the James arrested is a masseur and is not a physician nor a doctor in any sense although the title may have been applied."
