FARMERS NEED STATE AID

Projects in Eastern Oregon Lack Funds to Develop Resources Long Dormant and Hope Is With Republicans, He Says.

Dr. James Withycombe, Republicar candidate for Governor, returned yester-day from an interesting trip through the heart of Central Oregon.

He visited Crook County and portions of Klamath and Lake counties and found farmers and settlers en-couraged over future prospects in thefr communities. He found much enthusiasm among the Republican voters. They were optimistic of party success this year and predicted ries for the Republican state and local tickets everywhere.

Dr. Withycombe visited Bend, Redmond, Prineville, Silver Lake, Fort mond, Prineville, Silver Lake, Pott Rock, Fremont, La Pine and other places. People there expect to outdo all their previous efforts, he reports, in the hope of attaining party success. Everywhere there is an expressed de-termination to roll up a surprising vote for the entire state ticket, he Candidate Welcomed as Friend. Dr. Withycombe has had occasion to visit these sections several times in the past 13 years in connection with his work as head of the experiment station of the State Agricultural College at Corvallis. His first visit was lege at Corvallis. His first visit was 13 years ago, when he drove through what was then largely a wilderness from Shaniko to Kiamath Falls, and in his repeated visits since he has had occasion to note the remarkable progress that has been made.

He was welcomed on his recent visit, not as a stranger or as a candidate seeking votes, going among these people for the first time on a political juketing trip, but as an old friend, who in years gone by showed a practical interest in the development of the industries of their section.

"I find the settlers chafing under the delay in completing their irriga-

"I find the settlers chafing under the delay in completing their irriga-tion projects," he said, "and it is ap-parent that proper efforts have not been made, or at least they have not been effective, in pushing this line of development. There are no public en-terprises more worthy the active and earnest support of our people, and of the administrative department than the great irrigation enterprises of Eastern great irrigation enterprises of Eastern

State Ald Badly Needed.

"We of the valley cannot realize what it means, not only to these people, but to the entire state. In the dryfarming settlements there is a great field for experimentation with projects for securing artesian water and in this line there should be some feasible plan for giving state assist-feasible plan for giving state assistance.

"Near Madras, Culver and Fort Rock splendid progress already has been made in dry farming, but there is a pressing need for a greater supply of water for domestic purposes. In the Christmas and Silver Lake sections homesteaders are feeling the need of the farm work demonstration. "These two sections, with proper development, will show marvelous results. The possibilities of the whole of Southeastern Oregon grow upon one at every additional visit, and few men would venture a prophecy in regard to them that will not be more than realized within the next few years."

Dr. Withycombe goes this morning to Estacada, where he is booked for an address at the Eastern Clackamas Fair, now in session there.

HIGH SCHOOL FEE FOUGHT

$80 Tuition Charged Out-of-Town Pupils Object of Crusade.

Action to induce the School Board to allow out-of-town high school students to attend the Portland schools at a tuition of $40 a year, instead of chargtuition of $40 a year, instead of that ing them $80 a year as was decided by the Board last Summer, probably will be taken by the Portland Commercial Club soon. C. C. Colt, J. Fred Larson and George Baker have been appointed mittee to investigate the rise in attention of the Commercial Club by Mrs. D. C. Bales, of 562 East Ash street. At the meeting of the board of governors of the Commercial Club yesterday a resolution from the Oswego Commercial Club was read, protesting against the $80 fee.

DASHING ACTRESS AT EM-PRESS, WHO "JUST LOVES" PORTLAND.

Miss Alice Windhurst. Miss Alice Windhurst, who

demonstrates Portland's particular variety of widow in the musical comedy tabloid, "The Six Winning Widows," which is the headline act at Marcus Loew's headline act at Marcus Loew's Empress this week, is not a Portland girl, but has been here several times in vaudeville, and says she "just loves the place." Three years ago, when the Orpheum was in the old Marquam building, where the Baker Theater now is, Percy Chapman, the clever comedian and manager of "The Six Winning Widows." "The Six Winning Widows," played the "big time" there in "The Six Blonde Typewriters," and Miss Windhurst was one of the dashing typists. The two tabloids are very similar, being musical comedies in miniature, with all the dash and "ginger" of a regular production.

BOR TOTAL $250,000

Suits Resulting From Astoria Accident Involve Rights of Port of Portland.

Damage claims aggregating $250,000 are represented in the admiralty suit heard in the Federal District Court yesterday as a result of the collision in Astoria harbor on August 24, 1913, be-tween the Norwegian steamship Thode Fagelund and the German ship Thiel-ommittee to investigate the rise in littion.

The subject was first brought to the ttention of the Commercial Club by Irs. D. C. Bales, of 562 East Ash street. At the meeting of the board of govland left Portland on the evening of the street in the control of the control August 23 and anchored in Astoria har-bor off buoy No. 2. The United States dredge Chinook was anchored across the channel opposite the Thode Fagethe channel opposite the Thode Fagulund.

Early in the morning of August 24 the Thielbek, in tow of the Port of Portland towboat Ocklahama, started upstream. When the Thielbek was opposite Astoria the Chinook had swung into the channel and it was necessary for the Thielbek to deviate from her course to avoid the Chinook. In doing this the collision occurred, the Thode Fagelund being bound seaward.

Five suits grew out of the accident. Involved in them are the rights of the Port of Portland and the methods it pursues in towing and piloting vessels

City Employes Fight Reduction of Time-Honored Fortnight.

City employes are up in arms against the ordinance which has been sent to the City Council by Commissioner Brewster decreasing the length of vacations. They contend that it is unfair for the city to decrease the number of days off each year, inasmuch as the present vacation period has been in effect for years, and is none too great. They contend that many hours of overtime are put in without pay.

Commissioner Brewster would make the vacation two weeks, counting Sundays. This would mean the cutting of vacations two or three days and, in some cases, four days. By taking vacations at Christmas time many employes in the past have had advantage of four extra days—Christmas, New Year's and the two Sundays in that period.
