

WASHINGTON VOTE IN PRIMARY LIGHT

Cotterill and Turner Divide State for Democratic Senatorial Nomination.

JUSTICE NAMES IN DOUBT

Attack Upon Incumbents Has Its Effect, Though Chadwick Gains More Than Associates—Jones, Republican, Is Unopposed.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 8.—Scattering returns from the state primary election today indicate the nomination of Ole Hanson, Progressive, for United States Senator.

United States Senator Wesley L. Jones received the Republican nomination unopposed.

There were five Democratic candidates for Senator, and probably none has received the 40 per cent of first choice votes required to give him the nomination, so that second choice votes must be counted.

George F. Cotterill is reported leading in Western Washington and George Turner in the eastern region, with William W. Black getting a good vote everywhere.

The organized attack upon Supreme Justices Chadwick, Crow and Gose on account of decisions they had rendered resulted in a heavy vote for their opponents, and it is not certain that all three judges have been renominated. Chadwick is getting more votes than his associates on the bench.

In the First Congressional District Congressman William E. Humphrey, Republican, was renominated. William Hickman Moore received the Democratic nomination. James W. Bugan, Progressive candidate-at-large, is running behind Austin H. Griffith in the First District for Congressman.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 8.—Eighty-seven precincts in King County won for Supreme Judge: Chadwick, 3232; Mills, 3220; Pemberton, 3119; Holcomb, 2863; Humphries, 2479; Gose, 1854; Preble, 1348. Six candidates are to be nominated.

Gose is running behind in King County and, it is said, elsewhere. National celebrity by his fight with Socialist street speakers last year, is running well in Seattle and is said to be polling a high vote in Eastern Washington, with a good prospect of his name going on the ballot.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 8.—Twenty-six out of 143 precincts in four counties give the following results in the Fifth Congressional District: Republican—Lafollette, 532; Parker, 188. Democratic—Drumheller, 244; Lyman, 251. Progressive—Hanson, 51; Falconer, 53.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—A very light vote was cast at today's primary election in Lewis County. The Republican vote was heaviest, about 60 per cent being out. The Progressive vote was a negligible quantity, there being practically no showing in many precincts that two years ago returned a heavy vote.

Six precincts, incomplete, give Todd a total of 25 first and second-choice votes for United States Senator; Dege, 20; Cotterill, 27; Turner, 61; Black, 36. However, from indications locally it would appear that Black will likely carry the county on first and second-choice votes.

For Supreme Judges six incomplete precincts give: Gose, 53; Chadwick, 114; Pemberton, 61; Mills, 38; Humphries, 27; Holcomb, 61; Preble, 28; Crow, 49. Many Republican candidates had no opposition at the primary election for county offices.

Returns are yet too meager to predict the legislative ticket. Albert Johnson leads Wiley for Congress overwhelmingly and Jones received his full vote for Senator.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 8.—Only a half dozen precincts had reported at midnight on the primary election results in Tacoma and Pierce County.

First returns gave Congressman Albert Johnson a lead of three to one for renomination on the Republican party ticket, with Charles Drury leading for the same place on the Democratic ticket and former Representative S. Warburton in front on the Progressive ticket.

The vote was very light.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 8.—Returns from 41 precincts out of 184 in Spokane County show a close race between A. J. Wilson, H. Rosenhaupt and Percy Powell for the Republican nomination in the Fifth Congressional District.

C. C. Dill apparently is leading, with Patrick Shine second and W. W. Tolman third in the Democratic race. Thomas Corkery is leading for the Progressive nomination. The Republican vote is heavy, judging from early returns.

YANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—In 21 out of 44 precincts in Clarke County in the primary election today the vote of the Democrats was so light that the ballots had not been counted at midnight. The Progressives nominated their ticket, as the candidates for office were unopposed.

For Congress, Albert Johnson, Republican, won over R. A. Wiley by a vote of three to one. For Justice of the Supreme Court, the vote stood: Mills, 248; Pemberton, 188; Humphries, 228; Chadwick, 358; Crow, 254, and Gose, 187. The race for County Commissioner, third district, including Vancouver, was the election feature, J. K. Higgins receiving 736 against Milton Evans' 390, his closest opponent.

BLEASE'S SUCCESSOR NAMED—Richard I. Manning Wins Nomination in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 8.—Richard I. Manning, a planter and banker, was nominated for Governor in the Second Democratic primary today, defeating John G. Richards by a majority estimated at 35,000.

The United States Senate, four Representatives in Congress and full state and county tickets. I. N. Stevens, of Denver, was leading Dr. Hubert Work, of Pueblo, in the race for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. United States Senator Thomas, Democrat, and Ben Griffith, Progressive, are not opposed.

VOTE HEAVY IN ARIZONA

Progressives and Republicans Take Part in Democratic Fight.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 8.—Scattering returns from the state-wide primary show Dr. H. A. Hughes to be leading Governor Hunt; Marcus A. Smith, Democrat, leading for United States Senator; Wiley, Democrat, for Attorney-General, and L. B. Orme, Democrat, for State Auditor.

Heavy voting is reported all over the state, due to the bitter contests among Democrats for the leading offices from Governor down.

Reports indicate that both Progressives and Republicans are voting with the Democrats under the primary law. All returns available indicate that the Progressives are leading the Republicans. In neither of these parties are there any contests.

Definite results will be late because of the length of the ballot, 276 names appearing on it.

BUCKING AIRSHIP ENTERS

GIRL WOULD OUTDO COWBOYS AT ROUND-UP.

Oakland Lass Writes for Chance to Show Her Sky Prowess to Pendleton Through—Prize Asked.

PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Declaring that although she is not a professional aviator, but has "plenty of nerve and could put on a most thrilling air flight," a young girl of Oakland, Cal., has written to the Round-Up headquarters here asking permission to be included in the programme.

In her letter to W. C. E. Pruitt, in charge of the publicity, the girl says: "Your cowgirls of Pendleton may think they have all the nerve in riding bucking horses, but I am willing to ride a bucking airship, high up in the air. If I fail, that will be my own lookout, but if I win, I want a prize equal to that given to your prize cowgirls, with bare travelling expenses."

"I am 20 and am pretty, as you can see by my photo. I have been up in dirigibles and balloons many times, and my father is a professional. I just want this one chance where a big crowd will see me."

Eugene Herrold, of Yacolt, Wash., a 17-year-old boy, thinks it is his destiny to become a cowboy and ride outlaws. He writes: "I received your advertisement of the Round-Up at Pendleton, Or., today. I want all the information that you can tell me about the Round-Up, because I think I will be there this year if nothing happens, and I wish to get employment with somebody to ride some of your outlaws when I get a little practice. I think I am but a boy, I am willing to learn. I am stout and healthy and I weigh 170 pounds. I said ever since I was a little boy that I wanted to be a cowboy, and now I think it my opportunity."

Great Throngs Are Taken Off Their Feet by Darling of Cowboys—25 Wild West Events to Be Programmed Today.

YANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 8.—(Special.)—Rain or shine, the Pioneer days' celebration, held in conjunction with the Columbia River Interstate Fair in this city will be celebrated every day this week. The throngs attending the fair today were enthusiastic, the darling bulldozers and lariat-throwers winning rife applause.

The pioneers held their reunion today. Mrs. Fred L. Olson sang the "Star Spangled Banner," and F. V. Holman, of Portland, delivered an address. Among the pioneers present today were Mrs. A. J. Cobb, 183; George H. Himes, secretary of the Oregon State Historical Society; T. T. Geer, ex-Governor of Oregon; Portland; Martin Koontz, of Winlock, Wash., 1847, and Mrs. E. C. Wilkins, 1859, of La Center.

Charles Irwin Wins. In the afternoon the men's relay race was won by Charles Irwin in 3:07 1-5. Sleepy Armstrong was second. As Parcel's horse fell, he will be handicapped 10 seconds in tomorrow's race.

Reer roping stars Jim Massey roped the animal, threw and tied it in 56 1/2 seconds. Dan Clark, who had bad luck, required 1 minute and 24 seconds and R. Acord, who was compelled to ride around the corral, took 2 minutes and 19 seconds.

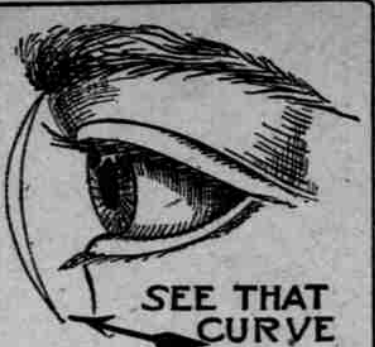

The "rep" race of a mile today was won by Floyd Irwin in 3:54 1/2. Paul Hastings was second. The squaw race, which was amusing and hotly contested, was won by Annie Iron Bull in 1:13. Lizzie Red Sacks was second and Julie Holy Cloud third. In the rough riding today there competed John Spain, champion; Charles Carle, champion of the world at Cheyenne in 1913; Scout Malish; Roy Hunter, E. R. Barkadale and Hughie Clarke.

Twenty-five Wild West events in the championship of the world contests will be programmed tomorrow afternoon. One hundred and fifty members of the Portland Ad Club and the Portland Rotary Club will attend the celebration tomorrow, Fraternal day.

Exhibits All in Place. The exhibits now are all in place in the main building. In the domestic science department for children under 16 years of age, the boys took 1300 first prizes from the girls.

Miss Mary E. Sutherland, extension specialist of the State College of Pullman, will give a demonstration tomorrow of free drafting of patterns, cutting out patterns with her scissors, using no other aid. She will talk on the selection of textile materials and against the present styles.

Miller, a Vancouver butcher, Thursday and the cuts will be passed among the spectators. The names of the pieces will be told by Miss Sutherland and their food values compared. She will explain that the cheaper cuts actually have greater nutritive values. Instruction in judging meats will be given, the lecturer telling how to take care of meat in the home and how attractive dishes may be made from left-over meats. She also will demonstrate how to reduce the cost of living. Miss Sutherland will demonstrate Friday how 20 different kinds of salads and desserts may be made, following her original recipes.

COLE STATION WILL STAY

DEPARTMENT REFUSES TO BUDGE ON CONTRACT SIGNED.

Postmaster Myers and C. S. Jackson Arrey Forces Against Selection but Fall to Shake Official Stand.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 8.—The Postoffice Department today finally decided to renew its lease of property on Fifth street, between Glisan and Hoyt streets, occupied by Station E of the Portland post-office. The lease is at the rate of $15,750 a year.

This property, owned and offered by Dr. A. C. Smith and James Cole, will be enlarged under the terms of the lease to afford 15,000 square feet of floor space, the lease to be terminable as soon as the new Postoffice building is completed.

For some weeks Postmaster Myers, C. S. Jackson and other Democrats in Portland have been attempting to prevent the consummation of this lease, saying the price asked is excessive. Mr. Jackson sent word to the department consequences were hinted, but his threat did not deter the Postmaster-General.

It seems that another property, offered by William Reed, on Fourth street, one block from the present site, was offered for $12,000, but this offer was not made until Smith and Cole had been advised officially of the acceptance of their offer.

That assurance was given July 17, since which they have made contracts for the enlargement and remodeling of their property to meet the demands of the Government. The department holds that inasmuch as Smith and Cole were advised officially their offer had been accepted, and they have incurred expense because of that assurance, the Government cannot go back on its agreement, even though cheaper property has since been discovered.

"After submitting our bid along with competitive ones we received word in July over the signature of Postmaster Myers that our bid had been accepted and that the premises should be prepared for the occupancy," said James Cole last night.

"Feeling that that notice justified us, we prepared for the erection of the building, had plans drawn and made some purchases. Later we received word from Postmaster Myers that we were 'down and out.' Believing the Government bound by the obligation of the contract to bear out the terms of our agreement, we took the matter up with the Department, urging it to keep the contract, with the result that it has come to take the same view, as shown by their decision given today.

"Postmaster Myers may be actuated in his vigorous opposition to us by political motives and influences. Because of the complications which beset us, the building probably will not be completed by November 1, as stipulated
