Commission to Be Asked to Prevent Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line From Holding Scenic Routes Exclusively.

Public officials and commercial organizations in Southern Idaho and Northern Utah are preparing to protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission the Ogden and Salt Lake gateways.

While the proposed cancellations do not affect the business west of Huntington, it is expected that the O.-W. R.

"If you want to travel between points on the Oregon Short Line on the west and points east of Denver on the east, you can no longer have a choice of routes at Ogden and Salt Lake City. You must travel all the way over our lines or pay the penalty of a higher rate for traveling over the Denver & Rio Grande between Sale Lake City and Denver."

Exception Will Be Made.

This is virtually what the Union Pacific already has said to its passenger patrons in the territory cast of Huntington. B. L. Winchell, traffic director of the Union Pacific system, said at Chicago last week that the order will not be issued against the O.-W. R. & N. territory, and travelers here are hoping that that condition will remain in effect. The Denver & Rio Grande, on account of its scenic attractions, always has been popular with persons traveling between Portland and other points in the Northwest and the East. With the privilege of traveling over this line withdrawn it is believed that the Northwest would lose much of the tourist travel that annually passes this way.

Meanwhile, other railroads connecting with the Union Pacific, notably the Santa Fe, Burlington, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific have served notice with the Commission that they will refuse to become a party to the new order closing the gateways.

Right of Originator Pleaded.

When the Union Pacific attempted, a few years ago, to close the Denver gateway on freight business, it insisted that no such action was contemplated on passenger traffic. However, the records show that a large volume of passenger traffic is diverted every year over the Denver & Rio Grande between Salt Lake City and Denver, and it is understood now that the Union Pacific seeks to retain this business for itself.

They managed, however, to get to Milan, where one of the instructors found an old acquaintance in Albert von Hartz, the Standard Oil representative in Italy. Mr. von Hartz decided that it would be a great pleasure to help, so he appealed to Thomas Nelson Page, the United States Ambassador to Italy. The novelist-diplomat caught one glimpse of the young girls and thought that the State Department machinery could be put into motion and a law suspended for them. o cents. The problem of the wool supply is receiving considerable attention at the mo-ment from every branch of the trade, says the Boston Commercial Bulletin, Wellposted merchants assert with positiveness that to the best of their belief there are not over 35,000,000 to 49,000,000 pounds of territory wool available for the mills in the ownership of the Boston trade. Thus the total supply of domestic wool is far from heavy and given a fairly good demand

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Completion of the details connected with the new city loan of $100.000.000 was the noteworthy feature of the day in the financial district. Just what proportion of the entire amount will be taken by foreign interests is a matter of conjecture, but indications point to a strong demand from that quarter. strong demand from that quarter.

Local banks and hankers committed to the loan regard the notes as an excellent investment at this time, because of the unusually large interest yield, and applications from that source promise to be sufficiently large to reduce individual allotments to small amounts.

Advices from the various cities suggest that the municipalities are likely to avail themselves of the methods adopted by this city to refund maturing debta. It is virtually a foregone conclusion that in every instance where this is done, renewals or new loans will be negotiated at higher interest rates.

instance where this is done, renewals or new loans will be negotiated at higher interest rates.

Exchange was more active today, moving in a manner, that denoted a better inquiry at London. Cables and demand wore 1 to 1½ centra above yesterday, with an increased supply of bills. Hardening of the rate was ascribed to demands from local banking interests, which will have to send large remittances abroad for dividends by the end of the month.

According to trade authorities, the part few weeks have witnessed a marked decrease in steel orders. Export trade has not developed fast enough to offset lack of domestic demand. E. T. MISCHE SAID TO BE "AT OUTS" WITH BREWSTER'S POLICY.

Contract Soon to Be Signed to Give Him Advisory Place to Assist New Department Official.

Upon his return yesterday from a type weeks' trip in the East, E. T. Mische, head of the Portland Park Department for seven years, tendered his resignation to City Commissioner Brewster, to take effect at once. Brewater, to take effect at once.
Although he refused to discuss the reasons for his action, he did not deny that it was due to friction between himself and Commissioner Brewater.
Although he will quit the city service

Although he will quit the city service entirely, it is understood that plans are under way for a contract between himself and the city under which he will act in an architectural and advisory capacity in conducting certain park improvements. The contract will be either of one or two years' duration and the services will be paid for at a rate of $150 a month. Mr. Mische will give up his residence at Washington Park and his office at the City Hall. Both will be taken over by James Convill, former assistant, now Park Superintendent.

Mr. Mische was first appointed Park agreed that he should enter into a contract with the city, his resignation was held back until his return.

On his trip he attended the florists and horticulturists' convention in Boston and spent a great deal of time in looking over parks and playgrounds in the East and other parts of the country. On his trip, he visited and studied conditions in Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Minneapolis, Madison, Chicago, Rochester, Syracuse, Boston, Newberg, New York, Washington, Atlanta, New Orleans, San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and other cities.

CAMPBELL TRACT FAVORED

Committee Reports on Sites for Detention Home for Women.

That it would cost from 10 to 15 pe That it would cost from 10 to 12 per cent more for the city to establish the proposed detention home for women on the ground owned by the county at the ground owned by the county at the Multnomah County Poor Farm than on property near the farm owned by H. C. Campbell and offered for $5000, is the substance of a report prepared by a committee of engineers sent out by City Commissioner Dieck to check up the cost on the two sites. The report City Commissioner Dieck to check up the cost on the two sites. The report was made yesterday to Mayor Albee.

At a meeting of the Commission yesterday George C. Mason, of the Non-Partisan League, reported having beer over the ground with others and said he favored the Campbell tract. In fishing that the Campbell ground can be handled more economically, building conditions, means of transportation and other important points have been considered.
