HOT BREAD FOR BREAKFAST.

Brisk September air whets the appetite for a substantial breakfast, and the family have begun to clamor for hot breads. There is always a certain dread to the housekeeper about starting in on a round of griddle cakes, waffles and raised blacult, and when the annual question is put to her. "Isn't it about time we had some hot bread?" she longs for a variation of light rolls and muffins to bridge the few months until really cold weather sets in. Here are some recipes which are easily prepared and can be cooked immediately.

Spice and fruit buns are particularly appetizing in the early Fall.

Spanish bun—One cup of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of melted butter, half a cup of New Orleans molasses, two eggs and one yolk of egg, one cup of sour milk, two cups of flour, one cup of seeded raisins. Add one teaspoonful of clonamon and the same of allapice, soda, vanilla and half a teaspoonful of cloves. Bake in a loaf.

Quick cinnamon bun—Rub one tablespoonful of lard into one quart of flour and add one teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Stir in quickly half a pint of milk. Roll out in a thin sheet, cover with a thick layer of sugar, another of currants, and then a sprinkling of cinnamon. Roll up and cut into buns about two inches long. Stand these on their ends in a gressed pan and bake 25 minutes in a quick oven.

Fif rolls—Sift together one quart of whole-wheat flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Rub into this one table-spoonful of butter and one egg whipped light. Make a soft dough by working one and a half cups of milk into the flour gradually, but do not allow it to become too wet. Roll out quickly half an inch thick and cut into oval pieces. Brush with melted butter. Chop 10 figs very fine and spread over half of each roll. Fold over the sides of the roll and seal together with beaten white of egg. Bake for 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Coffee gems—Four eggs, one cup granulated sugar, two teaspoonfuls extract of coffee, one cup flour. Beat eggs in a saucepan and add the extract and sugar; beat rapidly together over bolling water until it is warm; remove from fire, beat for 15 minutes, add flour, sifted, and have gem pans ready, brushed with suet and sprinkled with a little granulated sugar. Divorced Life

If I remain away the charge of desertion can be easily brought, I presume. I should appreciate it if you would let me bring the suit. That, I believe, is usually conceded to a woman under circumstances like this. I wish you all the luck, happiness and good fortune in the world, Charles. I hope there may be no anger between us over this matter, which, incharies. I nope there may be no anger between us over this matter, which, indeed, was inevitable. In April, shortly after coming from my home to visit in Los Angeles, I was told to try Akoz. I was skeptical, but to please a friend I started in on the treatment, using the external and internal preparation of the mineral. In a few days I noticed a great improvement. In a week or two the eczema began to disappear. Now it is gone and I am entirely cured. I am now rid of the trouble that caused me so much suffering, thanks to Akoz. It is marvelous.

"But why?" asked the Neighbor, surprised. "You are not so desperately unhappy."

"Married life is so monotonous, so narrow," said the Woman From Across the Street, dispiritedly. "It is the same old thing from one year's end to another, sweep and clean and cook and wash and sew. You never seem to get anywhere."

"But why?" asked the Neighbor, surprised. "You ocare enthusiasm at every pore. You always make me want to run right home and go to work."

"Do," urged the Neighbor. "Not that I am anxious to get rid of you now," she laughed. "Put some flowers in your wind. Begin right now working to make that home a neality. If you can't do big things, do little ones. No doubt you have an ideal home in your mind. Begin right now working to make that home a reality. If you can do only the smallest, most insignificant thing to ward it, nevertheless do it. And then begin planning to do the next. An Instantaneous Wrinkle Removes

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkis removers," that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a lifty.

She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered saxolite from her hearest druggist and diasolve it in half a pint of which hase! Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day for awhile. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkies show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comforting feeling that is thoroughly delightful and lends self-confidence in one's appearance. This harmless home remedy is used by thousands of women to obliterate the unwelcome traces of time—Adv.
