

Society News

By Gertrude P. Corbett

AFTERNOON tea and dinner dances will claim the attention of society folk from this afternoon on throughout the winter at Hotel Multnomah. This is an innovation in Portland. There have been several tea dances, but the first of this kind here, and will undoubtedly be popular. The dances will commence this afternoon at 4 o'clock and continue until 8 o'clock each day throughout the winter.

Tea and refreshments will be served in the newly decorated tea garden adjoining the ballroom during the dancing hours. Professional dancers will be in charge, the entire series being under the supervision of Roy O. Yates, president; H. C. Bowers, manager, and Louis P. Reynolds, assistant manager of the hotel. Admission will be by card only, and the donors promise to be brilliant successes.

Coming as a complete surprise is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Iva Louise Messinger, of Kansas City, Mo., and Albert H. Allen, of Portland. Miss Messinger is a resident of Portland and is an attractive brunette of charming personality. Mr. Allen is a prominent member of the Multnomah Club, at the present time being one of the board of trustees. The wedding will take place in Kansas City on Wednesday, October 7.

A charming dinner party was last presided over by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Costello Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Anna Rogers, of Cheyenne, who is Mrs. Costello's house guest. Covers were laid for six, and music and cards rounded out the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Weayer, who have been traveling in the Orient for the past three months, returned to Portland Tuesday. They had an interesting trip. They reached Japan during the mobilization of the armies.

Miss Dorothy Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Sharp, is now convalescing after an operation for appendicitis at St. Vincent's Hospital. Her friends are making her days shorter and happier by floral tokens and cheery notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Prickett and family will be leaving for their home at Spokane, after passing the summer in their cottage at Seaside, and have been visiting relatives for the past few days in this city.

One of the smartest affairs of the season was the charming tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox and Miss Claire Wilcox, to honor Mrs. Raymond B. Wilcox, newcomer to Portland who since her marriage has made her home in San Francisco. The Wilcox residence was a bower of beautiful blossoms artistically arranged, and the hostess was assisted by a group of prominent matrons and maids. The receiving trio were greatly admired by the hundreds of guests who thronged the drawing-rooms, their handsome toilettes and charm making the affair one of the most delightful of the week.

Miss Adele Moussu and Miss Nina Kernan will leave for Pendleton and Walla Walla this week. While in Pendleton they will be the guests of Sheriff Taylor, president of the Round-Up.

The East Side Woodman Hall will be reopened this evening by the Bachelor Buttons Club, after having been closed during the summer. Dancing being the order of the evening, and the hall is in the shape of a poem and has been considerably complimented for its originality. The club's orchestra will play. Al. Stiles will be in charge.

Clifton N. McArthur received a telegram yesterday from his mother, Mrs. Harriet McArthur, that she and Miss Genevieve Thompson had reached New York on the Lusitania. The trip across was very comfortable and they plan to remain in New York for a few days. Mrs. McArthur will probably go to visit her sister, Mrs. W. M. Moloney, in Montreal, and she is expected to arrive in Portland early in October. Miss Thompson's plans are as yet indefinite.

Women's Club

By Edith Knight Holmes

THE CATHOLIC WOMAN'S LEAGUE will meet in the headquarters Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Mrs. John Manning, president, will preside. A short business session will be followed by an informal tea and social hour which will usher in the season for the league. The officers and members are planning to do some of the work for the Fall and Winter. The employment department will be further developed and fitted for greater efficiency. Miss Bruce has charge of the department of the welfare work of the organization. Talks on domestic science for business girls and all who wish to attend will be given. The league always has been for broad charitable work and its efforts will be directed in the cause of humanity. The league's cafeteria is running successfully and is growing in popularity. At Wednesday's meeting some of the plans for the coming months will be announced and a large attendance is expected.

The Aid Society of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, corner Vancouver avenue and Fargo street, has procured C. R. McCalley for a benefit entertainment which will be given next Tuesday evening. James Whitcomb Riley's readings will be given by Mr. McCalley, who is an interesting entertainer.

Many club members will be interested in the course of lessons which is being given by Mrs. Florence Crawford in Library Hall, every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. In these Mrs. Crawford is outlining a philosophy of life which is demonstrable. She uses the posterior method of reasoning, and objectifies the truth. The course is free to all.

The officers of the Psychology Club are planning to meet next Wednesday. Mrs. Alice Weister, the president, has just returned from Nehalem, where she passed the summer at the Psychology Clubhouse. Seventeen members of the organization who are still at Nehalem gave a dinner party in compliment to Mrs. Weister prior to her departure. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Lane.

A large number of officers and prominent members of Portland's women's clubs will assemble at the Hotel Benson today at 12:30 o'clock to attend the Federation Council luncheon which will be held there. Mrs. Sarah A. Evans will preside.

The Daughters of the Confederacy met yesterday at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. Paul C. Morton. Mrs. P. W. Lewis gave several piano selections. Mrs. George H. Thomas was heard in clever readings. Miss Anne

PRETTY MISSOURI GIRL ENGAGED TO POPULAR PORTLAND CLUBMAN.

Miss Iva Louise Messinger

DR. MARDEN'S UPLIFT TALKS

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
What We Need Most of All.
CARDINAL GIBBONS, in an address to the students of a New Jersey school a few weeks ago, said that what this country needs most of all is young men who place conscience above expediency, service above popularity and duty above pleasure, with a strong determination to create a religious impression wherever and whenever circumstances demand. "We want young men of character, for character differentiates the man," says the cardinal. "Show me a young man with character, and I'll tell you his destiny. He is bound to succeed."

If it was said of the personal character of the first Alexander of Russia that it was equivalent to a constitution, no more, in a free land, the possibility of our institutions depends upon moral excellence embodied in the citizens. "One good, strong, sound man," said Old John Brown, of Ossawatimie, "is worth a thousand men without character in building up a state."

Who can estimate the influence of such a character as President-emeritus Eliot in enriching and uplifting our National ideal and standards through the thousands of students who went out from Harvard University during his presidency? The tremendous force and power of character, the influence he raised every one who came within his influence to higher levels. His great earnestness in trying to lead people up to his lofty ideals swept everything before it. One could not help feeling while listening to him and watching him that there was a mighty triumph of character, grand expression of superb manhood. Such men as these increase our faith in the race; in the coming man. We are prouder of our country because of such standards.

"Character before wealth," was the motto of a great merchant who inscribed on his pocketbook, "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" An absolute truth, consecration, and devotion of self to all that is better and purer and truer, is the secret of character, and the secret of power. Many an individual has failed because he was not a man before he was a merchant, or a lawyer, or a manufacturer, or a statesman because his character was not the dominating influence in his life.

THE LANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By Mrs. F. A. Walker

How the Mice Caught Pussy.
"I'm very queer to me," said Gray Mouse to his brother, Whiskers, "that Puss let us run all around this pantry and never so much as makes a try at catching us."

"I suppose she thinks there are traps enough around here to do that," said Whiskers.

"I am going to watch," he continued, "and find out, if I can, why she acts so run around here. Here she comes now; run behind that dish; I'll get into this basket of eggs. Now keep your eyes open."

Pussy walked into the pantry with slow steps, sniffed the air and looked about. She walked over to the shelf where a bowl of cream sat, and jumped up; then she waited a minute as if listening, but no one came, and Puss put her head into the bowl and did not remove it until half of the cream was gone. Then she gently tipped over the bowl and the rest of the cream ran over the shelf.

Pussy then helped herself to a piece of meat that was on a plate and jumped down. Whiskers came out from his hiding place when she was gone and ran over to the basket of eggs, where Gray Mouse was hiding. "She ate the cream and took a piece

GETTING A START

By Nathaniel C. Fowler Jr.

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
The Employer's Home Library.
I AM addressing this article to the average employe, to self-supporting men and women, receiving moderate salaries, who are able to live comfortably, yet cannot afford luxuries. They must eat wholesome food, they must have a suitable place in which to sleep, and sufficient clothing. These are the three essentials. Then they must anticipate sickness, and they must have a reasonable amount of diversion. These last items, however, are not likely to draw heavily upon their purses. Beyond these they should, if possible, save moderate sums each week or month. Then comes charity, be it little or much. No decent man is a miser.

Eight in importance I should place a suitable home library, if I may call it so, a small collection of books of reference. In this library I do not include fiction or any book for amusement or diversion, although I do include all the things which can afford it to have the satisfaction of owning at least a few volumes of the best in literature or history.

First, and ahead of all books for the home library, is a large dictionary. As I am not in the dictionary business, I do not express a preference. If you are in doubt, consult an editor, educator or can keep away from them, and all we have to do with Puss is not to run about when she is in the house."

"One warm day not long after this pussy came into the pantry and looked about. A bowl of warm milk had been put by the window a few minutes before and near it was a dish of soup. Pussy jumped up and helped herself, and by the time she had finished the soup she was sleepy, so without going out of the pantry she stretched herself out on the floor and soon was fast asleep."

Gray Mouse and Whiskers were running about a few minutes after and suddenly came upon the sleeping pussy. "Now is our chance," whispered Whiskers to Gray Mouse. "See that trap right beside her tail?"

Gray Mouse watched his brother, not having the least notion of what he intended to do to the sleeping pussy. Whiskers took the end of Puss's tail and made it into a loop, and it was all done in a second, snap went the trap. Whiskers ran and Pussy jumped. And Pussy began to meow as with a jump, for fear of the end of her tail she carried the trap.

How she was freed from the trap Whiskers and his brother never knew, but they did know that Puss was very careful not to swing her tail about as she walked for the next few days. And they heard the maid say to her: "If you had done your duty, Mistress Puss, instead of stealing the cream, you would not have gone to sleep in the pantry and been caught in the trap. Serve you right."

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, New York.)
SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD.
The Girl Who Loses Friends.
LIFE at a Summer resort hotel is interesting, isn't it? The individuality of each guest, do what he will to conceal it, soon makes itself known. And it is interesting to watch how the characters of the little crowd, gathered for a few weeks under one roof, will one after another begin to stand out. It is like watching from a distance the houses of a little town gradually being lighted as night falls. First, the light shines out in one, then in another; and so on till all the darkness is dotted with light, and what was an indistinguishable mass becomes separate entities.

It was so at this hotel. At first there was pleasant conventional chatter and the exchange of general social amenities. Then gradually the light that was in each began to shine; and the woman who did fancy work, and the woman who played cards, the woman fond of music, the woman who gossiped, became separate from the mass and stood out against the background of the everyday hotel life.

It was when this crystallization, if one may so call it, was taking place, that a young girl attracted attention. She was a rather pretty girl and might have had quite a number of friends. But she behaved rather imprudently, doing things to cause criticism, and she went about finding fault with those who criticized.

To me it was this attitude of hers that was the most significant, and most prophetic of her future. She saw who she was, and she was not hurt herself in anything she did. She never turned her eyes inward. All the wrong doing was in those who criticized her. They were gossiping, old-fashioned, uncharitable, narrow minded—she had no lack of censure for them.

DELIGHTFUL VACATION DAYS

in September at

CLATSOP BEACH

Gearhart and Seaside Hotels Open All Year.
Saturday Special (2 P. M.) Continues in Service.
Daily Seashore Limited (8:30 A. M.) will be withdrawn after Saturday, September 12.

EFFECTIVE SUNDAY, 13TH
Daily morning train to Astoria and beach points will leave 8:10 A. M. Evening express, leaving 6:30 P. M., to Astoria only, daily; to beach points Saturday only. For other changes in schedules, consult folders and agents.

City Ticket Office, Fifth and Stark Sts., North Bank Station, South and Hoyt Sts.

GETTING A START
By Nathaniel C. Fowler Jr.
(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
The Employer's Home Library.
I AM addressing this article to the average employe, to self-supporting men and women, receiving moderate salaries, who are able to live comfortably, yet cannot afford luxuries. They must eat wholesome food, they must have a suitable place in which to sleep, and sufficient clothing. These are the three essentials. Then they must anticipate sickness, and they must have a reasonable amount of diversion. These last items, however, are not likely to draw heavily upon their purses. Beyond these they should, if possible, save moderate sums each week or month. Then comes charity, be it little or much. No decent man is a miser.

Eight in importance I should place a suitable home library, if I may call it so, a small collection of books of reference. In this library I do not include fiction or any book for amusement or diversion, although I do include all the things which can afford it to have the satisfaction of owning at least a few volumes of the best in literature or history.

First, and ahead of all books for the home library, is a large dictionary. As I am not in the dictionary business, I do not express a preference. If you are in doubt, consult an editor, educator or can keep away from them, and all we have to do with Puss is not to run about when she is in the house."

"One warm day not long after this pussy came into the pantry and looked about. A bowl of warm milk had been put by the window a few minutes before and near it was a dish of soup. Pussy jumped up and helped herself, and by the time she had finished the soup she was sleepy, so without going out of the pantry she stretched herself out on the floor and soon was fast asleep."

Gray Mouse and Whiskers were running about a few minutes after and suddenly came upon the sleeping pussy. "Now is our chance," whispered Whiskers to Gray Mouse. "See that trap right beside her tail?"

Gray Mouse watched his brother, not having the least notion of what he intended to do to the sleeping pussy. Whiskers took the end of Puss's tail and made it into a loop, and it was all done in a second, snap went the trap. Whiskers ran and Pussy jumped. And Pussy began to meow as with a jump, for fear of the end of her tail she carried the trap.

How she was freed from the trap Whiskers and his brother never knew, but they did know that Puss was very careful not to swing her tail about as she walked for the next few days. And they heard the maid say to her: "If you had done your duty, Mistress Puss, instead of stealing the cream, you would not have gone to sleep in the pantry and been caught in the trap. Serve you right."

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, New York.)
SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD.
The Girl Who Loses Friends.
LIFE at a Summer resort hotel is interesting, isn't it? The individuality of each guest, do what he will to conceal it, soon makes itself known. And it is interesting to watch how the characters of the little crowd, gathered for a few weeks under one roof, will one after another begin to stand out. It is like watching from a distance the houses of a little town gradually being lighted as night falls. First, the light shines out in one, then in another; and so on till all the darkness is dotted with light, and what was an indistinguishable mass becomes separate entities.

It was so at this hotel. At first there was pleasant conventional chatter and the exchange of general social amenities. Then gradually the light that was in each began to shine; and the woman who did fancy work, and the woman who played cards, the woman fond of music, the woman who gossiped, became separate from the mass and stood out against the background of the everyday hotel life.

It was when this crystallization, if one may so call it, was taking place, that a young girl attracted attention. She was a rather pretty girl and might have had quite a number of friends. But she behaved rather imprudently, doing things to cause criticism, and she went about finding fault with those who criticized.

To me it was this attitude of hers that was the most significant, and most prophetic of her future. She saw who she was, and she was not hurt herself in anything she did. She never turned her eyes inward. All the wrong doing was in those who criticized her. They were gossiping, old-fashioned, uncharitable, narrow minded—she had no lack of censure for them.

DELIGHTFUL VACATION DAYS

in September at

CLATSOP BEACH

Gearhart and Seaside Hotels Open All Year.
Saturday Special (2 P. M.) Continues in Service.
Daily Seashore Limited (8:30 A. M.) will be withdrawn after Saturday, September 12.

EFFECTIVE SUNDAY, 13TH
Daily morning train to Astoria and beach points will leave 8:10 A. M. Evening express, leaving 6:30 P. M., to Astoria only, daily; to beach points Saturday only. For other changes in schedules, consult folders and agents.

City Ticket Office, Fifth and Stark Sts., North Bank Station, South and Hoyt Sts.

GETTING A START
By Nathaniel C. Fowler Jr.
(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
The Employer's Home Library.
I AM addressing this article to the average employe, to self-supporting men and women, receiving moderate salaries, who are able to live comfortably, yet cannot afford luxuries. They must eat wholesome food, they must have a suitable place in which to sleep, and sufficient clothing. These are the three essentials. Then they must anticipate sickness, and they must have a reasonable amount of diversion. These last items, however, are not likely to draw heavily upon their purses. Beyond these they should, if possible, save moderate sums each week or month. Then comes charity, be it little or much. No decent man is a miser.

Eight in importance I should place a suitable home library, if I may call it so, a small collection of books of reference. In this library I do not include fiction or any book for amusement or diversion, although I do include all the things which can afford it to have the satisfaction of owning at least a few volumes of the best in literature or history.

First, and ahead of all books for the home library, is a large dictionary. As I am not in the dictionary business, I do not express a preference. If you are in doubt, consult an editor, educator or can keep away from them, and all we have to do with Puss is not to run about when she is in the house."

"One warm day not long after this pussy came into the pantry and looked about. A bowl of warm milk had been put by the window a few minutes before and near it was a dish of soup. Pussy jumped up and helped herself, and by the time she had finished the soup she was sleepy, so without going out of the pantry she stretched herself out on the floor and soon was fast asleep."

Gray Mouse and Whiskers were running about a few minutes after and suddenly came upon the sleeping pussy. "Now is our chance," whispered Whiskers to Gray Mouse. "See that trap right beside her tail?"

Gray Mouse watched his brother, not having the least notion of what he intended to do to the sleeping pussy. Whiskers took the end of Puss's tail and made it into a loop, and it was all done in a second, snap went the trap. Whiskers ran and Pussy jumped. And Pussy began to meow as with a jump, for fear of the end of her tail she carried the trap.

How she was freed from the trap Whiskers and his brother never knew, but they did know that Puss was very careful not to swing her tail about as she walked for the next few days. And they heard the maid say to her: "If you had done your duty, Mistress Puss, instead of stealing the cream, you would not have gone to sleep in the pantry and been caught in the trap. Serve you right."

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, New York.)
SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD.
The Girl Who Loses Friends.
LIFE at a Summer resort hotel is interesting, isn't it? The individuality of each guest, do what he will to conceal it, soon makes itself known. And it is interesting to watch how the characters of the little crowd, gathered for a few weeks under one roof, will one after another begin to stand out. It is like watching from a distance the houses of a little town gradually being lighted as night falls. First, the light shines out in one, then in another; and so on till all the darkness is dotted with light, and what was an indistinguishable mass becomes separate entities.

It was so at this hotel. At first there was pleasant conventional chatter and the exchange of general social amenities. Then gradually the light that was in each began to shine; and the woman who did fancy work, and the woman who played cards, the woman fond of music, the woman who gossiped, became separate from the mass and stood out against the background of the everyday hotel life.

It was when this crystallization, if one may so call it, was taking place, that a young girl attracted attention. She was a rather pretty girl and might have had quite a number of friends. But she behaved rather imprudently, doing things to cause criticism, and she went about finding fault with those who criticized.

To me it was this attitude of hers that was the most significant, and most prophetic of her future. She saw who she was, and she was not hurt herself in anything she did. She never turned her eyes inward. All the wrong doing was in those who criticized her. They were gossiping, old-fashioned, uncharitable, narrow minded—she had no lack of censure for them.

FOLGER'S SPECIAL SALE

this week only cut it out
it's worth 20 cents

This coupon is worth 20 cents to you
A HALF POUND
FOIL SEALED TIN
FOLGER'S GOLDEN GATE TEA
Regular price 40 cents
Special price 20 cents
At all grocers if accompanied by this coupon, SEP. 14 to 21, 1914
J. A. FOLGER & CO.

Hand this coupon to your grocerman of your door or at his store.
If your grocer has no FOLGER'S Golden Gate Tea in bins, he can get for you the Special Value offered, as we cheerfully forward him a single package at our regular price, through any channel he designates, and we pay him his regular profit in addition.

Buy the flavor you usually use. If you have no choice we recommend Black and Green.
This is the new foil sealed tin of FOLGER'S GOLDEN GATE TEA

The old style carton is withdrawn by us from sale because they do not keep the tea fresh and clean. Dealers lose nothing by the change.
The opening is large enough for the hand.
SIX FLAVORS
CEYLON-INDIA (BLACK)
ENGLISH BREAKFAST (BLACK)
COLOGNE (BLACK)
J. A. FOLGER & COMPANY San Francisco
JAPAN (GREEN)
GUNPOWDER (GREEN)
BLACK & GREEN (BLEND)

NOTICE!

Mr. Ben Briggs, formerly of the Dallas Optical Company, of Dallas, Oregon, is now associated with the Columbian Optical Co., where he will be pleased to meet and serve his friends and patrons

"The Home of the Kryptok Lens"

Columbian Optical Co.
145 Sixth Street, Bet. Alder and Morrison

other thing I heard: Cousins cannot marry in Illinois. If you think it all right, please send names of states where they can marry. I will be waiting for an answer, for I am anxious to hear from you.
It is decidedly wrong for cousins to marry. I cannot go into the details of unhappiness that result from such a mating, but if you tell me to your family physician he will tell you why morally you ought not to marry your cousin, and why it is illegal in some states.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young girl, an orphan of 23, and am keeping company with a young man of 26. I am deeply in love with him and he is in love with me. But there is one thing I would want to ask you: Is it wrong for cousins to marry? He is my father's brother's son. We have been keeping company three years. He now has asked me to marry him, but I want to hear what you have to say. Another thing I heard: Cousins cannot marry in Illinois. If you think it all right, please send names of states where they can marry. I will be waiting for an answer, for I am anxious to hear from you.
It is decidedly wrong for cousins to marry. I cannot go into the details of unhappiness that result from such a mating, but if you tell me to your family physician he will tell you why morally you ought not to marry your cousin, and why it is illegal in some states.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young girl, an orphan of 23, and am keeping company with a young man of 26. I am deeply in love with him and he is in love with me. But there is one thing I would want to ask you: Is it wrong for cousins to marry? He is my father's brother's son. We have been keeping company three years. He now has asked me to marry him, but I want to hear what you have to say. Another thing I heard: Cousins cannot marry in Illinois. If you think it all right, please send names of states where they can marry. I will be waiting for an answer, for I am anxious to hear from you.
It is decidedly wrong for cousins to marry. I cannot go into the details of unhappiness that result from such a mating, but if you tell me to your family physician he will tell you why morally you ought not to marry your cousin, and why it is illegal in some states.

Commerce Engineer Named.
OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 18.—C. W. Cochran, of

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pains in my sides, and terrible backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering woman."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1642 Juniata Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Woman's Case.
Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABRIL LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

Danger Signals to Women are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or an inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women will testify to its virtue.

Are You Suffering From Auto-Intoxication?
The dictionary says that Auto-Intoxication is "poisoning, or the state of being poisoned, from toxic substances produced within the body." This is a condition due to the stomach, bowels, kidneys, liver, or pores of the body failing to throw off the poisons. More than 50% of adults are suffering from this trouble. This is probably why you are suffering from nervousness, headaches, loss of appetite, lack of ambition, and many other symptoms produced by Auto-Intoxication. Your whole system needs stirring up.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
(In Tablet or Liquid Form)
will remedy the trouble. It first aids the system to expel accumulated poisons, acts as a tonic and finally enables the body to eliminate its own poisons without any outside aid. Obey Nature's warnings. Your dealer in medicines will supply you, or you may send 50c for a sample package of tablets by mail. Address Dr. W. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

Made in America
One Price—Always
1/2 oz., 10c.
2 oz., 20c.
3 oz., 30c.
CRESCENT MFG. CO., Seattle.
1 lb., 25c.