SIX WEEKS' RACE FOR CONGRESS DUE

Redhot Campaign, With Republican Candidate Leading. Now Is Promised.

FIGHT ON LAFFERTY WARM

Arthur Moulton, Progressive Nominee for Congress, Directs His Ammunition Against Incumbent, Former Law Partner.

Oregon doubtless will see at least two red-hot Congressional campaigns during the six weeks remaining before the November election.

Of these the contest in the Third, or Multnomah County, District promises to be the most spirited, as there are four active candidates in the race, besides the Socialist and Prohibition party nominees.

C. N. McArthur, the regular Republican nominee, is considered the leading candidate and appears to be gaining strength. However, his opponents are preparing for a lively campaign and doubtless will furnish some excitament before election time.

ful canvass of the district and soon will start a speaking tour.

Arthur I. Moulton, the Progressive nominee, is directing his campaign ammunition principally toward A. W. Laffety, the incumbent, and the battle between these two promises to become unusually interesting. Moulton and Lafferty formerly were associated in the practice of isw and Lafferty had Moulton's active support in his previous campaigns. Now Moulton has turned against him and declares that Lafferty is unfitted for the office.

Meanwhile A. F. Flegel, the Demoratic candidate, is conducting an active canvass. He is meeting with toward and the measure forming a department of industry and public works."

He suggests that each nominee select such measure or measures that in his estimation is in the direction of his own ideas of legislation or the ideas entertained by his party and speak in support of them. The proposed debates are to be held in the Public Library. The Fourteenth District is comprised of Multnomah, Clackamas and Columbia counties.

Dr. Wallace MacMullen at Opening Session Says Pastors Now Are Not Leaders but Prophets. Reports Filed.

That the minister of today is onger the educational leader of his ongregation-he has lost the eminence of the pedesual upon which he was of the pedesial upon which he was placed in years past, but his power as a prophet has not been reduced—was the declaration of Dr. Wallace Mac-Mullen, professor of homiletics at the Drew Theological Seminary at Madison, N. J., who addressed 1500 persons, more than 150 of whom were Methodist ministers, in the opening session of the 62d Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at the Centenary Church yesterday. The conference will close Monday at noon.

The essential qualities necessary for

Honolulu, a man of God were emphasized by Dr. materey, 34

A danger in the Methodist conferences that determine on evangelists is that too often the attitude is taken that, "He can't be placed in a pastorate, put him out as an evangelist," said Dr. Leonard, who asserted that the greatest evangelists were in other denominations than Methodist. "Change the machinery," was the remedy he offered.

pastor of the Methodist Church at Amilty. The memorial services were conducted by Rev. Lewis Thomas, of the Woodlawh Church.

Rev. C. C. Rarick, pastor of the Central Methodist Church of Portland, was re-elected secretary of the conference at the business meeting which followed, with Rev. R. E. Myers, of Hillsboro, and Rev. Frank James, of Portland, as assistants.

women Workers Praised.

"No organization does more for Christianization than the Woman's Home Missionary Society," declared Dr. Leonard. "The church is prone to be indolent. Moral self-complacency should not characterize it. God does not want the minister to stop at his appeal in his church, but to make common cause for his religion in his immediate community.

"This may be done through Christianizing the child. You cannot do much with an adult foreigner. Did any of you ever try to tell an adult Italian about Jesus Christ as separate from the priest and altar? Then you know what I mean. It is by bringing the children under the influence of godiy men and women that we can do this work well. The radiating influence of Christian children reaches to the uttermost boundaries of society."

"Dry" Oregon Predicted.

An announcement by Bishop Cooke that Virginia had voted "dry" was greeted with enthusiasm and a similar victory was predicted for Oregon Prohibitionists.

Rev. D. Lester Field was elected statistical secretary and Dr. C. O. McCullough conference treasurer.

Prominent members of the conference and speakers were introduced, among whom was Dr. Frank Loveland, of the First Methodist Church of Portland, who was given the Chautauqua salute.

Benediction at the close of the morning's programme was said by Rev. James Flynn, dean of Methodist preachers in Oregon, who is 38 years of age and has been a minister for 64 years.

Dr. MacMullen, who was for 10 years pastor of the Madison-avenue Church in New York City, was the first of a church in assisting the American negro and the cause of Prohibition in Oregon.

Dr. MacMullen, who was for 10 years pastor of the Madison-avenue Church in New York City, gave the first of a series of lectures he has announced for the conference, following the address by Dr. Leonard. "The Preacher Himself" was his subject.

Complete Consecration Urged.
The entire consecration of the man to God, until he could cry out with John the Baptist, "I am the Voice," was emphasized by Dr. MacMullen.

Beware of 'self's miserable omnipres-ence.' Prayer Forgotten, He Says.

"Prayer is the forgotten secret of the Christian pulpit," asserted Dr MacMullen in his concluding words in which he urged an increased spirituality in the church through devout communication with God.

The real purpose of the conference will not appear on the surface until Monday, the concluding day, but all the ministers in attendance know that behind the attractions of the programme is machinery at work checking the efficiency of the pastorates, weigh dent Bishop R. J. Cooke, followed by the celebration of the sacrament of the Lord's supper, opened the annual session, which is the first to be held in Portland for a number of years. In the administration of the sacrament Bishop Cooke and Rev. D. H. Trimble were assisted by the Rev. J. W. Mac-Dougall, district superintendent, of Portland; Rev. H. J. Van Fossen, of Ashland, district superintendent of Klamath district; Rev. J. T. Abbott, district superintendent of Klamath district; Rev. J. T. Abbott, district superintendent of Salem.

Eulogy of the three pastors and the conference members who died during the year was given by Rev. E. Gittens, pastor of the Methodist Church at Amplity. The memorial services were constituted in the sacrament of the last with Colonel Hofer of the Anti-Prohibition forces, and to a refutation of alleged truths about Kansas offered by the liquor interests. A street meeting which was to have been held was postponed until tonight, Dr. Wilson to a set speech, was broken into by much applause. Dr. Wilson told numerous interesting sneedotes of his state trip and attacked many old and a few new arguments of the anti-Prohibition success. "By virtue of our office we are thrust into moral prominence. May God keep us clean," exclaimed Dr. MacMullen. This brought a chorus of amens.

The speaker then pointed out little sins that even a minister is in danger of committing, and warned his hearers of the pitfalls of ambition.
