Mrs. Marjorie Schaefer, a popular young matron who assisted at smart tea recently given at her home.

A CHARMING and merry function of last night was the dinner and dance presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Whitney in honor of their niece, Miss Anna Barron, and her fiancé, Thomas Martin Fitzpatrick, whose wedding will be a smart affair of Monday morning. The affair was given at Alexandra Court, covers being laid for 16 at an exquisitely appointed table. In addition to the honor guests, there were Miss Ruth Teal, Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, Miss Margaret Mears, Miss Rhoda Rumelin, Miss Anna Manly, MacCormac Snow, J. E. Fitzpatrick, and his brother William, who will act as best man at the wedding, will arrive Saturday night in this city, to remain until after the wedding.

A number of other affairs are being arranged for the pleasure of the bride-elect for the rest of the week.

Charming and simple was the wedding of Miss Julia Whitmer and Lester A. Brix, which took place yesterday afternoon at the Westminster Church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Henry Marquette officiating. The young people were unattended, and the hosts were ushered by Frank Cronan and Herbert Brasel. An elaborate musical programme was a feature of the ceremony, given by Mrs. Herman Heppner, who also played the wedding march. The bride was attired in a smart traveling suit of blue serge, with deep silver sirdle, worn with chic black velvet hat, trimmed with tiny ostrich pompons. The engagement was announced last April at a small tea for which the bride's sister, Harold Sydney, of the Smith, was hostess. Mr. Lusk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lusk, of Washington, D. # A Premptory Piano Sale by Order of Court

There's an '850 Player Piano for Only '188

Many Others—Some New Ones $700 to $850 Values, $287, $387, $437

Upright and Grand Pianos Equally Low $250 New Upright Pianos $97.20 New $1000 Grand Pianos $437

The Greatest Piano Sale Portland Has Ever Known

The high-price piano dealers would like to make me quit business. My name is Lucore. As I have represented the manufacturers I felt duty bound to take over this stock and see that the creditors get their money at the earliest possible moment. The sale was made to me by order of the court. At the prices I purchased these instruments I can, in some cases, afford to sell a piano at retail for less than they cost wholesale landed in Portland. I also have many makes of pianos—old, reliable instruments, that also must be sold at once. Some piano dealers started out by trying to say that I had only cheap pianos, but after they looked over my list they found they were badly mistaken, or they just wanted to say something to keep folks away from 388; but let me tell you included in this stock that I purchased by order of the court and some other instruments that I want to dispose of, you can find the Chickering, Knabe, Behning, Wegman, Lester, Steinway, Steck, Weber, Emerson and Schumann; also the Weber Pianolas, Steck Pianolas, and many other makes of pianolas; also Vose & Sons, Briggs, Hobart M. Cable, Hallett & Davis, Ludwig, Estey, and, in fact, almost any make that you could possibly think of, either in an upright piano player, piano or grand piano. I have a player piano, $850 value, for only $138. This seems almost an impossibility, but it is a fact; and, although this piano is not strictly new, there are many others, some new ones, $700 and $850 values, for $287, $387 and $437.

Now, stop and think for a minute, Mr. Piano Buyer, of the old-time reliable makes and then read some of the exceptionally low prices. For a first illustration, take some of the $250 pianos which we originally planned to sell on special sale for $178. We cut that price right in two and made it $89.00. The next, the $450 pianos, large, elegant, plain case instruments, the special sale price was to be $225. We are cutting that right half in two and making it $112.50. The next, the $500 pianos, sale price $240, we are cutting that right half in two, or $120. The next, $550 pianos, should sell for $245. We are cutting that half in two and closing these out at $122.50. Now, there are some of the same grade and same quality of piano that must bring a little more, but to appreciate these real values, a person must certainly call and see them for themselves.

You Never Heard of Such Prices and You'll Never Hear of Such Terms

We will take almost anything you want to pay down, just enough money to show good faith, and then you can pay the balance out at $1.00 or $1.50 a week. Player pianos $1.50 or $2.00 a week, and grand pianos on equally low terms. Almost every piano can now be secured on exceptional terms.

For Your Convenience

We know it is hard for some regularly employed people to get out during the daytime, especially when the head of the house is busy all day, so we have decided to keep our store open every evening until 9 or 10 o'clock. Since we have started this plan our store has been crowded with enthusiastic piano buyers every night.

help was able to support herself and her two children, for Jo had a little sister, Annie.

One day Jo had been sent on an errand and he was thinking as he walked along how he would like to buy a warm coat for his mother and shoes for Annie. "If I could find a pocketbook with lots of money in it," he said, "I could get them."

Just then he entered a building and right by the stairs there lay a pocketbook.

Jo looked at it a second time and then picked it up and put it in his pocket. "I guess the fairies sent it," said Jo.

He was impatient for the closing hour to come so that he could tell his mother of his good luck and tell her to get her coat and Annie's shoes.

"Mother," he said, rushing into the room, "I found a pocketbook; open it and see how much money there is in it."

FOREST PASTURE IS KILLED

Autos Declared Serviceable During Fires in Fremont Reserve.

Grass in the Fremont Forest Reserve in Southern Washington, was killed by the long drought last summer, and most of the sheep have been taken out of the reserve, according to F. E. Ames, of the local Forestry Office, who has just returned from a 400-mile trip through the reserve.

"There were about $5,000 sheep in the reserve last summer," said Mr. Ames. "Everything is in good condition in the reserve. The wood sales are small, but there is not much market for wood anywhere."

"Incidents that I heard related during my trip have convinced me more than ever of the value of automobiles in fighting forest fires. One fire patrolman, near Silver Lake, heard of a fire about 13 miles away. He rode three miles on horseback to Silver Lake, got three automobiles and ten men, and arrived at the fire 45 minutes after he was notified that it was burning."

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The Fall season of the Young Women's Christian Association begins today in the new commercial department. Miss Bertha Brainard has been selected to head this department. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan, has studied at Bryn Mawr, in Michigan, and in San Francisco, and is possessed of ability to instruct young women and girls. Individual attendance as well as class work will be given the students.

The Junior Frolic will be the event of Saturday morning when girls who are interested in gymnasium work will assemble in the association's gym for a jolly party. This is open to non-members as well as to those who belong to the association.

Miss Lina E. James, general secretary, is classifying the rooming lists and investigating all places listed before sending girls out room-hunting. It is the desire of the workers to place girls in quest of a rooming or boarding place in homes that would be comfortable and homelike and where good influences would be found.
