

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS PRAYER FOR PEACE

Special Services Held at All Churches and Mass Meeting Is Well Attended.

PRESIDENT WILSON LAUDED

Dr. Foster Points to Fallacy of Armaments as Peace Preservative, and C. E. S. Wood Appeals to Each to Spread Gospel.

EIGHT NATIONAL PEACE PRAYER DAYS

1798, May 8.—Named by President Adams because France threatened to make war on the United States. 1815, January 12.—Named by President Madison because trouble was brewing between United States and Algiers. 1861, last Thursday in September.—Named by President Lincoln, for restoration of peace between the North and South. 1864, August 10.—Day named by President Lincoln to supplicate for bountiful blessings upon the country. 1864, August 1.—President Lincoln's request for pardon of National sin and restoration of a divided country. 1865, June 1.—To commemorate name of Lincoln, shot by assassin; day named by President Johnson. 1881, September 24.—President Arthur named day for general prayers to mark burial of President Garfield, who died September 19 from assassin's attack. 1914, October 4.—Day recommended by President Wilson, in special request issued September 8, to restore concord among men and nations. While Adams was the first President to call a peace prayer day, the custom dates back to the earliest New England days. In 1621 Governor Bradford called on the people to give thanks for their crops, which all resulted in the American Thanksgiving custom and day. A second day of prayer was also called in the colonies when a drought threatened, and while the people were praying in the church, rain began to fall, history records.

"Peace Week" was launched under the auspices of the Portland Rotary Club at a mass meeting of Portland citizens in the old Baker Theater yesterday, and throughout this week meeting after meeting will be held by various clubs at which the interest of the public will be directed persistently toward the movement for universal peace.

The churches of the city the services were devoted to the cause of peace at the different worship hours yesterday. Special peace music, special prayers and programmes had been arranged and large congregations responded to the local application of President Wilson's proclamation and request for a day of prayer.

The rally at the Baker Theater was fittingly led up to by peace sermons in practically every church in the city, and the speakers of the day at the theater dwelt persistently upon the vital necessity of keeping the public opinion of the United States directed toward peace in the present crisis.

Patriotic music by the Police Band, which had donated its services, opened the program, and G. G. Pike of the Rotary Club, introduced Dr. W. T. Foster, president of Reed College and vice-president of the Oregon Peace League, who spoke on the "Fallacies of War." The persistent teaching of the "glories of war" he denounced, saying that the characteristics of war is its chaotic, bloody, and terrible and destructive, and he dwelt upon the economic wastefulness of the armaments race, and the hope of maintaining peace by armed preparation.

The Old Theory Refuted. "Preparation for war does not guarantee peace," he said, "and this is most truly shown by the present condition in Europe. It is not unarmed nations, but the nations that have made the greatest and most elaborate preparations for war, that are involved in the struggle. Holland and unarmed Switzerland and neutral Spain with little armed preparation in Norway and Sweden, are not the nations that are affected by the war.

"Where there are no soldiers, where there are no fortifications, where there are no guns, there will be no war. What have the thousands of miles of fortifications on the German, French and Russian frontiers to prevent war? Between the United States and Canada we have 3000 miles of frontier with not one fort and not one soldier on it, and it is 3000 miles of substantial argument for disarmament, and has been so for the past 100 years.

Dr. Foster praised the policy of the administration and the attitude taken by the United States in the present war.

"The Nobel peace prize has never yet been given to a nation, but if the United States continues to act with the same wise moderation and reasonableness for peace and civilization that she has used thus far, at the end of this year the nations of the world will agree that for the first time in history the Nobel prize should be awarded to a nation, and that Nation the United States of America."

Patriotism Is Defined. C. E. S. Wood spoke of the horror and destructiveness of war, and urged that every American citizen should with broad patriotism make himself a center for the formation of a public opinion that shall be forever opposed to the hasty declaration of war. "Patriotism is not to fight at the behest of another in a selfish war of invasion and aggression, but it is to defend our own homes against the invasion of any who are still savage enough to invade them. "Wars have ever been declared by a few men. Had war been declared against Mexico a few months ago, even here in democratic America, it would have been by a few men before the mass of the people could say whether or not it should be. Wars of invasion and conquest are the mere game of Kings and leaders of governments by a few for the benefit of a few. "If we glorify war it is because we are in intellect today no better than savages. The art treasures of the world, which can never be repaired or duplicated, the flowers of the labor of ages in Europe, are today going up in smoke before the shot and shell of barbarians. I care not which side they may fight on. Let each of us, then, go from this hall and become a center of influence among our fellows, working to bring about the time when each man shall say 'With my consent, there shall be no more war!'"

The second feature of the peace week observance under the auspices of the Rotary Club will be the addresses at each of the public schools this morning at 9 o'clock, speakers having been procured by the club. The weekly luncheons of each of the leading civic organizations of Portland will make peace week the feature of their programmes. First of these will be the East Side Business Men's Club, which meets today, and the midday meetings of other clubs through the week will be as follows: Tuesday, Rotary Club; Wednesday, Ad Club; Thursday, Progressive Business Men's Club; Friday, Real Estate Board; Saturday a joint peace rally of all of the organizations of the city at 12 o'clock at the Commercial Club.

WILSON DEEMED GOD'S AGENT

Rev. Luther R. Dyot Thankful That Peace Plan Wins Response.

"Let us thank God for thinking through the mind of President Wilson, and that we have a President who calls upon us to pray that the European war will end, and that speedily," said the Rev. Luther R. Dyot, in his peace sermon at the First Congregational Church yesterday, "and let us thank God that our managers have responded to the President's request. "These things are worth something. We shall at least be on record as having entered our protest in the highest and most solemn terms against war. There can be no higher protest than that which we send by way of the church. Even if, in spite of our prayers, our brothers in Europe continue to fight it out to the bitter end, still it shall have been worth something that we have prayed."

HYMNS PRESENT PEACE PLEA

Silent Prayers at First Church of Christ Scientist Give Opportunity.

No sermons in the ordinary acceptance of the word are preached in Christian Science churches. In place of these, citations are read from the Bible and also from "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. The subject chosen for yesterday was "Peace," consequently there was no audible discussion on the subject as at other churches, but in the observance of silent prayer it was fitting that the congregations included in their supplications a plea that peace will prevail in Europe by which the present war will cease. At the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Nineteenth and Everett streets, all the hymns sung by the congregation reflected the thought of "peace."

Railroad Uses Peace Emblem.

In recognition of President Wilson's Peace day proclamation the Northern Pacific dining-car department has arranged to place in each of its dining-cars the figures of two large doves, symbolical of peace. The doves will remain in this silent service all week.

Peace Tags Sold at Hood River.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—School girls sold "peace tags" yesterday bearing the inscription, "Peace Sunday, October 4, 1914. I will go to church." All local ministers spoke on peace.

UNIVERSAL PEACE TOPIC

DR. MORRISON DECLARES MIGHT IS NOT NECESSARILY RIGHT.

Strife of All Kinds Deplorable and Hope Is Expressed That We May Catch Spirit of the Master.

"Might, as represented by armament, does not necessarily represent right, there is coming to prevail in the minds of the people who represent the progress of the world a conviction that armament is a failure," said Rev. A. A. Morrison, of Trinity Episcopal Church, yesterday morning in his sermon on "Universal Peace."

"We have approached a new era," said Dr. Morrison, "an era in which special disclosures are being made. The world is learning, and when it learns there will be a change marked by progress. I do not mean that with one sweep we can throw away our guns, sink every battleship and level every military post and prison. A certain amount of evolution is necessary."

"It does not necessarily follow, that those who possess the greatest strength of armament represent the highest type of National consciousness. We are coming to suspect that when a nation is trained to war and has all the machinery with which to fight, that it will tend to the cult of greed, covetousness and selfishness.

"It has been proved that armament does not keep peace. Yet, the maintaining of armies and navies has not been altogether a bad plan, nor altogether at variance with the will of God. The heart of things, each event, contains its lesson and application to the strife between man and man. This war is a reflection of the inner strifes, which we exempt the church from this stigma of national sin. We are coming to suspect that when a nation is trained to war and has all the machinery with which to fight, that it will tend to the cult of greed, covetousness and selfishness.

"Where there are no soldiers, where there are no fortifications, where there are no guns, there will be no war. What have the thousands of miles of fortifications on the German, French and Russian frontiers to prevent war? Between the United States and Canada we have 3000 miles of frontier with not one fort and not one soldier on it, and it is 3000 miles of substantial argument for disarmament, and has been so for the past 100 years.

Dr. Morrison, in speaking of the day set apart for prayer for peace, said: "It is significant of the approach of a higher and holier concept when the chief executive of this great Nation, in fear, love and reverence of Almighty God, turns his heart and the hearts of his people to so splendid a theme as universal peace. Dreamers of poetry and prose who have been hoping and looking into the far-away future, when war shall be no more, did not altogether dream in vain. There seems to be in the atmosphere a longing born of necessity, but strictly human, for peace. In all the world's progress, however, the old is rarely supplanted until we are ready for the new to take its place. Many are now seeking to take the old venerated ideas regarding war should pass and that a period of uplift should come."

CHURCHES HAVE RALLY DAY

Special Services Swell Audiences to Hear Peace Sermons.

In addition to the observance of yesterday as an occasion for prayer for peace, a large number of the churches of the city held membership rallies, in the First Congregational Church, at East Morrison and East Everett streets there was an inspiring rally service. A special rally and prayer service was held in the First Universalist Church, it being the fifth anniversary of the placing of the cornerstone of the church. Calvary Baptist Church, Rev. Walter Duff pastor, held a peace day and rally service preparatory for the annual roll-call which will take place next Friday evening. "Home-coming Day" was co-incident with Peace day in the Church of our Father (Unitarian). At both morning and evening services the auditorium of the church was well filled.

SOCIAL SIDE IS SEEN

Christ's Teachings Expounded by Father O'Hara.

IEWS RADICALLY OPPOSED

Church Takes Middle Ground in Philosophy, Declaring Spiritual and Social Life to Be Inseparable, Says Priest.

"Man is a social and economic as well as a spiritual being," said Father O'Hara, who as chairman of the Industrial Welfare Commission, has been active in promoting better economic conditions for women and children workers, in his sermon, "The Social Message of Christ," at St. Mary's Cathedral last night.

"Christ came for the salvation of man," said Father O'Hara, "and his message is composed of both body and soul. His soul is, indeed, by far the more important, but his body cannot be neglected.

"In a day of social reform programme, there is no more fruitful than the social teachings of Christ. Two views radically opposed to each other have been set forth concerning Christ's attitude to social reform. The Catholic Church, as is usual, occupies the middle ground between them, recognizing the truth in each view and rejecting the extravagance of each.

"Christ's primary message concerned man's relation to God. 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God,' the spiritual is always first. 'What profit will a man gain the whole world if he lose his own soul?' But as a necessary supplement to this first law of the love of God, Christ laid down the law of the love of the neighbor, the foundation of all social reformation.

"Nor is it possible to separate completely the spiritual and the social. To do so involves a great fallacy. Individual rectitude is the beginning of social well-doing. No man can be justified in the eyes of God if he be unjust to his fellow-man. In preaching a spiritual doctrine Christ was laying the foundation for the social message. Christ insisted on unselfishness and thus laid the ax to the root—evil and sin. He proclaimed the equality of all before God and the abolition of slavery. He raised marriage to the dignity of a sacrament, elevated the state of woman and recreated society."

PASTOR'S FAREWELL SAID

Rev. Delmer H. Trimble to Depart for Tacoma This Week.

"The past four years have been harmony and progress," said Rev. Delmer H. Trimble in his farewell message to his congregation at the Centenary Methodist Church yesterday. Dr. Trimble will depart this week for Tacoma to take the pulpit of Dr. T. W. Lane, Dr. Lane will come to Portland Wednesday and will preach his first sermon in Centenary Church next Sunday.

Dr. Trimble spoke in retrospect of the pleasure that had come to him in his work and urged members of the congregation to continue in the splendid work they will be doing. He looked for the future, he said, was full of hope.

A demonstration of the Sunday school work that had been done in the special charge called forth the highest praise from visitors, who had attended the world's Sunday school convention at Zurich.

Of Dr. Lane, Dr. Trimble said: "The pastor appointed is without doubt one of the foremost divines of the Pacific Coast. He is a man beloved by his people in Tacoma and will find ready access to the hearts of this people and make himself felt in this city."

Sermon Thoughts From Portland Churches.

"YOUTH grows up in idleness and sin, when old age comes the streets will be desolate and the doors closed for that life," said Dr. W. O. Shank, of East Side Baptist Church, in his sermon yesterday on "The Picture of a Wasted Life." Continuing the general theme he said: "Youth is a time of preparation. Middle age is the constructive period. Old age is the reaping time. I appeal to the young people to prepare their Lord in the time of their youth. Blessings shall come to them throughout the years and when old age comes they will have for them no picture of a wasted life."

Special prayers for peace and for the general love and fellowship of all the world were a part of the service conducted by Dr. Shank.

AT Kenilworth Presbyterian Church,

A large congregation assembled last night to hear Rev. L. K. Richardson's sermon on "The Proclamation of a Wasted Life." He said: "The greatest act of President Wilson's administration was his national proclamation urging the people to land to go to church the first Sunday of October and pray for peace and forgiveness of sin. It is the greatest act because it concerns five continents and involves issues which are as far-reaching as eternity itself. It is a country that is rejoicing that our President is a man who believes in prayer. Although prayer is the mightiest force in the universe today and as real as telegraphy or telephony, it is little used by the American people and therefore as a Nation we have deservedly lost benefits and blessings which we could just as well have enjoyed.

"THE kind of man the woman of tomorrow will look for will not be the millionaire's son," said Dr. E. S. Bollinger, of Highland Congregational Church, last night, "but he will be a man rich in moral influence of inheritance of the past. He will be a man who in his life's struggle for the maintenance of peace. She will look for a womanhood. He will be a man who is a part of the emergency of the world, who is not afraid to do right."

"THE cause of this war is the lack of the reign of the Prince of peace in the hearts of mankind. The common people in Europe, the masses, the men who are fighting and the women who are suffering, they are not the ones who want the war. It has been forced on them by conditions," said the Rev. J. B. Thoren, pastor of the Swedish Episcopal Church, who has just returned from abroad.

"I have talked to the people, have called the white and yellow papers of the various nations and I feel deeply for the men engaged. This state of affairs brings to us strongly the need of the presence of the Prince of peace in the hearts of all. We realize that under the stars and stripes we are greatly blessed and that we must give our deepest sympathy to our brethren across the seas.

"Rev. Mr. Thoren, however, said that from his observations in the lands engaged in war, he feared that the end was not near. A large reception by the members of his church welcomed the pastor's home-coming.

REV. S. R. HAWKINS, pastor of the Central Christian Church, voiced the general peace theme of the day in a few short talks interspersed among the prayers that were the order of service in his church yesterday morning. "The hope of the world lies in Christianity," said Mr. Hawkins, "Christianity and the United States must and will bring permanent and world-wide peace. This country must put itself at the disposal of God for arbitration to command the situation and settle differences."

In the evening Mrs. Mary Harris O'Hara, of Portland, who is from Georgia, spoke on prohibition, music, hymns and talks were all along the line of peace.

"AND, seeing the multitude, he was moved to compassion," was the Biblical inspiration for Dr. F. L. Loveland's eloquent sermon on "Christ Weeping Over a World at War," delivered yesterday morning in the First Universalist Church. Dr. Loveland said: "It was Christ's obligation to the multitude that caused him to weep over their trials and passions, their wars and sorrows. Dr. Loveland said that the kind has always been that he has sought to localize patriotism and religion. Christ's attitude was not so. He extended his love to all men alike, France, Germany, England, Russia, each land has seen only its own problems. The world problem it has not seen. Only as we come to recognize the world multitude and the great needs of humanity as a whole, can we go away with world war."

"GOD is not always with the victor. He is with moral victory anywhere and everywhere," avowed Rev. W. G. Elliot yesterday in his sermon of "Prayer for Peace" at the Church of our Father. A true prayer for peace releases us into our lives all that God can give."

"THOMAS was an unqualified reporter. He wasn't there when the story broke. He got the information later, but missed the point." The Rev. A. B. Calder, who made these statements yesterday morning in Trinity Methodist Church, was not referring to the modern newspaper man. He spoke of Thomas, the disciple, as the "unqualified reporter," the man who wasn't there to receive the message of his Master.

When the church members do not attend service, he said, they invariably miss an opportunity to hear some message that will come blessing that Christ has sent for them. This was the general theme of Rev. Mr. Calder's sermon. His text was: "Thomas, one of the 12 was not with them when Jesus came." His subject was "The Unqualified Reporter."

BOLD 'BAD MEN' CAUGHT

AUGUST LARSON, 10, AND WILLIE POOLE, 12, HELD BY POLICE.

Numerous Burglaries Charged to Bandit-Aspirants, Recently Escaped From Detention.

They were bandit aspirants and their exploits were as near the lines set forth in "Diamond Dick," their hero, as they could get. August Larson, 10, and Willie Poole, 12, were arrested last week ago by breaking a window, the police say.

They then rounded up some newsboys and proposed a chicken dinner. Several of the East Side boys were called and didn't want to leave the streets until the sales were made. "Woody" and "Deadwood" settled the difficulty by a party of ten newsboys. The boys were caught again, but Wednesday they again ran away from Frazer Home. That night they are said to have robbed a jewelry store, a hardware store and another meat market, all located on Union avenue. They were arrested yesterday at Grand avenue by Patrolman Morrison and by Patrolman Ennis.

So ends, the police hope, the daring exploits of "Six-Shooter Woody" Poole and "Deadwood" Larson. A cache was located and a quantity of tobacco was found.

High Cost of Dyeing Is Declared Serious Matter.

As Percent Produces Great Bulk of Dyes, American Market Is Sadly Depleted.

A JOKE relative to the high cost of living in America, due to the war in Europe, is now in order from some of the dye-makers, and it may have a pretty solid foundation of reality back of it at that. It costs nearly 100 per cent more today to dye the material with which we send our bills for water than it did before the war began, and accordingly the prices in all of the dyeing establishments have been bumped up to meet the emergency.

Most of the dyestuffs are produced in Germany, where the system of utilizing by-products has made it possible to produce a naturally made thing more difficult than would have been the case ordinarily," said E. L. Braden, manager of Woodard, Clarke & Co., "in time things may adjust themselves, but for a while high prices in dyestuffs and in dyeing are likely to prevail."

The dyeing business in the price of dyestuffs has been about 10 per cent," says the manager of the City Dye Works, "the charges for dyeing have advanced on hand a fair supply of dyes. No advance in the cost of dyeing men's suits has been made by our firm yet. The charge for dyeing women's suits has been advanced from $3 to $3.50. If the war continues, however, and no means is found to bring supplies from Germany or the factories in Germany are permanently closed or destroyed, there probably will be a still greater advance in the cost of dyeing men's suits and some way to make up for the lack."

MINDS ARE TESTED

Three Classes at Reed College Still Undergo Experiments.

CLASS WORK IS COMPARED

Effort Being Made to Find Basis for Psychological Examination to Gain College Entry, as Old Method Is Disliked.

Psychological experiments on the students at Reed College that have been carried on now for over two years for the purpose of devising a new and better method for admission to college are nearing completion. When the experiments are finished they will have been performed on three classes in the sophomore year and the present freshman class of its first year. In all the tests will have been given to more than 200 students.

The general plan of the psychological tests is to devise a series of tests that will give an indication of the mental ability of the student under examination. The tests are given to the students in a matter of chance. In the mental tests, however, if this point were covered at all, the ability of the student to learn poetry would be given a thorough trial and the results could be compared with the results attained by other students in exactly similar conditions. The tests are given to the association, suggestion, ability to reason and ability in mathematical calculation.

Comparison Made With Classwork. After the tests are given and the results tabulated they are compared with the grades obtained by the student in his regular college work. If on the whole it is found that the student's average about the same in the tests as in their college studies it will be taken as evidence that the tests furnish an accurate means of determining the ability of students to do college work. By these comparisons it is possible to make the tests more effective and to eliminate those that do not correlate with the college grades. The ultimate purpose in making the tests is to have means of determining admission to college.

High school grades given by various teachers in different parts of the country are declared unreliable as a means of judging the relative merits of students who may apply for admission to college.

Work Covers Wide Scope. An investigation at Reed College is strictly scientific in its character. Nothing definite has been given out regarding its success. However, it is known that President Foster and Dean Rowland, professor of psychology, who has the tests in charge, are well pleased with the results so far obtained.

The reason that they are being continued is that the results of the tests are naturally more reliable than if taken with only a small group. The work is also necessary, since the student must be taken separately, and it requires about two hours to give the test to each student. The tests made today will be correlated with the grade given out at the end of the semester, and it is expected then that the results will be ready for announcement.

WATER VOTE IS PROBABLE

New Payment Plan May Be Submitted at Recall Time.

If a recall election is held, the City Commission in all probability will submit to the voters at the same election a measure providing for the quarterly collection of water rates, the fixing of a new minimum of 50 cents a month for both metered and unmetered service, and the billing of all charges against the premises instead of against the occupant, as at present. The City Commission instructed City Attorney L. Roche Saturday to prepare a measure for submission to the Council at its next meeting, at that time Commissioner Brewster will have returned to the city and the views of the entire Commission can be had.

The plan is similar to that proposed by Commissioner Daly about eight months ago and which was voted down by the Commission. His plan is to send out bills for water only every three months, the bill to be for three months in arrears. The bill will be against the premises and not against the occupant of the premises, as at present. In the ordinance Mr. Daly proposes to fix a lower minimum charge for service. He would have the least charge for service 50 cents for metered or unmetered service instead of 75 cents for these services, as at present.
