

50,000 IRISH JOIN ARMY OF BRITAIN

26,000 Are Drawn From Nationalists and Unionists on Native Soil.

MORE LIKELY TO FOLLOW

Proportion Is Greater Than English Enlistments — Organization of Own Corps Is Favored by John Redmond in His Appeal.

DUBLIN, via London, Oct. 4.—The number of new recruits for the British army obtained in Ireland amounts to about 26,000. More than 8000 of these are from the Dublin district, 4000 from the Belfast district and the remainder from the rest of Ireland.

Not all the Belfast recruits are Unionists, nor all the southern recruits Nationalists. The Belfast Nationalists declare they have furnished 5000 of the Belfast recruits, which number, relative to their total population, is larger than the proportion supplied by the Unionists.

Athletes Join Colors. Many of the southern recruits belong to football and athletic clubs. There is not such a rush to join the colors from the agricultural districts as was expected, as there is a lack of men of available age.

John Redmond and his colleagues are addressing recruiting meetings in various parts of Ireland, and their appeals are expected to be fruitful.

Appeal to Irish Endorsed. At many meetings public bodies have endorsed Mr. Redmond's manifesto calling the Irish to arms. If his advice to have the Irish form a separate brigade or corps, like the Welsh are doing, is followed, it is thought by the recruiting officers that the response will be greater.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Some estimates say that some 6000 Irish from Glasgow have joined the colors. From Lancashire, it is said, 15,000 have joined. London has furnished many Irish recruits and Dundee 1000. The mining villages have been largely depleted. Birmingham will furnish at least 3000.

Similar reports come from South Wales, Bristol and the west. The figures regarding the Irish enlistments have been compiled by the Nationalist party organizers in the various districts.

3000 RUSSIANS CAPTURED (Continued From First Page.) mountains. The experts say, but the Austrian troops ought to be able to repulse them easily.

It is assumed that Russia desires to invade Hungary, first, in order to secure the left wing of her army, which is proceeding toward the River Danube and Preslava and, second, to find a new field of action for her superior force of cavalry in the plains of Hungary, where that body could interfere with the training of recruits which is proceeding there and hamper railroad transportation of these troops, besides obtaining large supplies of provisions.

GERMAN ARTILLERY IS WILD Russians Then Make Sortie From Ossowetz and Rout Enemy. PARIS, Oct. 4.—In a dispatch to the Havas Agency from Petrograd the following details of the combat between the Germans and Russians at the Ossowetz fortress in Russian Poland are given:

The Germans approached the forest by the Grajewo (southeast of Augustow) route, the only one open, and, nine miles from the forts the artillery was stopped by the marshy ground and from there began a heavy artillery fire. Infantry with machine guns was sent on, and approached to within four miles of the forts.

The Russians then made a sortie, profiting by routes unknown to the Germans, and enveloped two wings, which it was supposed had occupied all the routes. When this movement was disclosed, a furious engagement was waged under conditions unfavorable to the enemy.

The artillery of the forts caused large casualties among the Germans on the roads, while the infantry badly battered their flanks.

The fight lasted 36 hours and ended in the rout of the Germans. The Russians captured all their artillery, which became mired in the mud.

WARSAW PEOPLE REASSURED Military Governor Says Region Is in No Danger From Enemy. PETROGRAD, Oct. 4.—The Military Governor of Warsaw has posted the following notice:

"For some time past the population has been agitated by absurd reports of the probability of a hostile occupation. By order of the commander of the army, I inform the public that Warsaw and its vicinity are as before, beyond all danger from the enemy. I beg the inhabitants to be calm and peacefully carry on their occupations."

The military critic of Russki Slovo says the German army assembled in Silesia includes the Bavarian corps, and that the army is commanded by the King of Bavaria.

"The Russians now have to deal with a total of six armies," he says. "Two of these are in East Prussia and constitute the left flank; two in West Poland form the center and two others are concentrating on the right wing in West Galicia."

"The Polish peasants in Kalisz, Russian Poland, are carrying on a guerrilla warfare in which the Germans and the peasants hunt each other in the forest with the aid of snipers and entanglements. No mercy is shown on either side."

French Contraband List Extended. PARIS, Oct. 4.—The French government has announced a supplementary list of articles declared conditionally to be contraband of war under article 25 of the declaration of London. These are iron and steel oxides, sulphates and carbonates of iron, copper, lead, nickel and ferro-chrome, glycerine, leather and pneumatic and other automobile tires and the materials used in their construction.

Experiments with various chemical extractions for fighting forest fires have not been very successful, but the supply of oxygen in the open forest, officers say, tends to neutralize the effect of the chemicals.

SPIES AID GERMANS

Army Almost Always Warned of Belgian Traps. MASKED MINES ARE KNOWN Lack of Intelligence of These Men Often Remarkable — "Priest" Arrested Who Never Has Even Heard of Latin.

OSTEND, Sept. 23.—Dispatch to the London Daily News.—There is no doubt that the element of espionage has counted for a good deal in the German operations in Belgium. Having been caught in more than one spy fever, I was disposed to discount it, but such a mass of evidence has since been heaped upon me that it cannot be disregarded.

Soldiers who went through the Liege-Namur campaign are positive in their assertions that whenever a masked mine or other trap had been prepared for the invaders, they invariably marched around it. Their entry into every town was guided with minute accuracy by Germans who had been working there in some capacity before the war.

Some Spies Lack Intelligence. The lack of intelligence of some of these spies is, however, remarkable. We had one arrested here yesterday disguised as a postman. His uniform was incorrect, and an every-day dweller in the town at once noticed the new man. When his bag was examined all the envelopes were found to be superscribed in the same hand. It has been alleged since that the prisoner is only a forger, but we have authentic cases of spies disguised as priests who were surprised to learn when interrogated that there was a language called Latin.

At Antwerp I found everybody on pins and needles. There is a universal conviction that wireless messages are being sent out from a station in the city which has not been located. Entrance to Antwerp was difficult enough before; it is now almost impossible.

Builders Take Gloomy View. As evidence both of the strict discipline of the Belgian Army and of the openness of their public life, it is worth noting that all the newspapers publish the condemnation to 15 years' penal servitude of certain soldiers who in a recent engagement retired without trying sufficiently to save their guns, which were, in fact, saved by their comrades.

The Association of Master Builders of Brussels has expressed the condition to which civilization is reduced in this country in a curiously eloquent resolution which deserves to be reproduced. It says:

"Convinced to consider the possibility of resuming work, we find ourselves obliged to say that security, mutual trust, modes of communication, means of transport, credit, exchange, and justice no longer exist in Belgium, and they hold out no hope of resumption."

GERMANS FAVORED, THEY SAY Austrian Spirit Pleases Officials and Russians Defeated. LONDON, Oct. 4.—The following German official statement was received here tonight by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company:

"The situation throughout the entire theater of war becomes daily more favorable to German arms."

"The Austro-Hungarian commander-in-chief, Archduke Frederick, and the heir presumptive to the Austro-Hungarian throne, Archduke Charles Francis, have inspected the greater part of the Austrian northern army and expressed themselves well satisfied with the splendid war-like spirit among the troops."

"The Russian troops which crossed the Carpathians and entered the District of Marmaros have been repulsed and driven back in disorder in the direction of the Galician frontier."

SENATORS ARE CALM

Session Causes No Worry to Those Still at Scene. LEADERS' PLANS UPSET War Tax Bill Certain to Provoke Republican Opposition, but No Filibuster—Ship Purchase Also Center of Fire.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 4.—The Senate just now is not concerned so much over adjournment as it was a month ago. Several Senators who are fighting for re-election have been assured and have gone home. Some who have been away through the hot summer months have returned and are planning to remain as long as there is work to do. Others who have been here continuously for the past 18 months have become reconciled, having no personal axes to grind, and will stay in Washington, listening to others talk in preference to going out on the stump, as they would have to do if Congress should adjourn before election.

The prolongation of the session is due almost entirely to the President. From time to time he has added to the legislative program and each time Congress has caught up or come within sight of the end of his programme he has added one or more bills, which must be acted upon before the session ends. The President has insisted Congress has given in.

War Tax to Meet No Filibuster. There is no indication as yet that Congress will revolt, even though the President should insist on merging this session with the next, December 7. The war tax bill, though it will be bitterly assailed, is not to filibuster, but to meet with a filibuster, for it will be agreed to voice their protests and let the bill go to a vote. It is realized that should the bill be defeated by filibustering tactics. Moreover, the Republican Senators have agreed among themselves not to filibuster, though they reserve the right to discuss the bill fully and harshly. For a time the Democratic leaders talked of forcing an early vote on the bill by holding night sessions and compelling the opponents of the measure to keep up their talk until the last Senator has spoken.

Quorum to Be Insisted On. When this word went forth, the Republicans replied that if the Senate is to be forced to sit at night, as well as through each day, the Democrats will have to keep a quorum in the night sessions, and this has somewhat upset the plans of the leaders. For there are some Democrats, as well as Republicans, who do not like the war tax and they, like Republican Senators, will not willing turn out to attend night sessions after being compelled to sit round the Capitol all day long.

Whether the House will pass the ship-purchase bill will soon be known. If the bill passes the House it will be because of White House pressure. Some of the staunchest men in the House of Democracy have taken a firm stand against that bill and the opposition manifest in the House will be followed by even more stubborn Democrats as well as Republican opposition in the Senate, and that bill alone is likely to detain the Senate two or three weeks, unless it is laid aside for the next session.

FRENCH OFFICER IS FREE

Wounded Major Pleads for Lieutenant Who Left Front. PARIS, Oct. 4.—Lieutenant Andre Mesureur, son of the director of the Paris Hospital Asylum Board, has been acquitted by a courtmartial of the charge of desertion preferred against him when he was arrested here August 22. One of the principal witnesses for Mesureur was Major Aubert, who was taken to the courtroom from the hospital of Val de Grace where he lay with four bullets in his body and a broken jaw.

Mesureur's case has attracted much attention. After the battle of Dinant on August 15, in which he received his baptism of fire, he left for Paris, where he was arrested. When taken into custody he declared that he received leave of absence on account of the state of his health.

PEACE PRAYER DISCOUNTED

H. C. Uthoff Says Self-Analysis First Step to End Conflict. Speaking of the relation between prayer and peace before the Portland Rationalist Society at the public library last night, H. C. Uthoff, in discussing the subject, "The Need for Rationalism in Modern Life," said:

"Instead of praying for peace to a God beyond the skies, would it not be better for us to look within ourselves and see if the cause of war does not lie in our own ignorance, narrowness and prejudice? A religious self-examination, a willingness to perform an act of self-confession, and the moral courage to recognize our own shortcomings are the first steps to be taken by mankind toward universal peace. The gospel of Buddha, 'Within yourselves deliverance must be sought,' is the need of the present hour."

"We ought to examine not only our individual selves but also that complex extension of human personalities called the social organism. There are undoubtedly latent causes of war in some of our oppressive and unjust social institutions. If we really wish world-peace we must first of all analyze and then rationalize our whole fabric of modern life."

NO ANTWERP FORTS TAKEN

Belgians Say Works Reported Fallen Destroyed German Regiment. LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Belgian Minister received dispatches today from Antwerp denying a report that three forts defending the city had fallen. He says Fort Waelhem was badly damaged by the Germans, but that none of the fortifications surrendered and that the Belgians have strong positions, which they are holding successfully.

A news dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam says word has reached there from Antwerp that Fort Waelhem destroyed an entire regiment of the besieging Germans on Saturday afternoon.

MRS. H. NORTH OF PORTLAND NOW RD OF RHEUMATISM: TOOK AKOZ

Could Not Do Housework, Pain Was So Severe. She No Longer Suffers.

"I have gotten more relief from Akoz in two months than all other remedies I have ever used for rheumatism and lumbago," writes Mrs. H. North, who resides at 84 East Seventh street, North, Portland. Confining, she says about her experience with Akoz, the wonderful California medicinal mineral:

"After suffering ten years from rheumatism in my knees and down to my ankles and from lumbago across my back it is pleasing to find some remedy to give relief. Akoz has proven this remedy. I was so had and suffered such pain, the shooting kind, that I could not do my housework even. I started in on Akoz in June. It took but a few days to get rid of the pain, and then my system began to respond to the internal treatment, with the result that today I feel almost entirely rid of my ailments. I tried many medicines and liniments, but they did not give me the relief Akoz has. I am now able to do all my work and take pleasure in recommending Akoz."

Mrs. H. North. Relief from the pure natural mineral remedy Akoz.
