$188 for a Player Piano and Its $850 Value. It seems almost impossible to buy a player piano that actually sold originally for $850 for only $188, when it is in the very best of condition; practically a miracle would be what the high-priced houses would call it if they were offering such values. But they will tell you that it cannot be done. However, if you will take time to examine the pianos at the great sale which was authorized by order of court (Soule Bros' failure), you will find nearly a miracle worth upright pianos; $97.20 for $250 original value. A great many grands of all values, small, medium-sized or large, and they are all old reliable makes. Chickering, Knabe, Vose & Sons, Steinway & Sons, Estey, Ludwig. Of course the highest-priced ones we name above first, the latter ones are the cheaper ones. Many other makes at equally low prices. Saturday (tomorrow) the last. Store open in the evening until 10 o'clock. 358 Morrison street, opposite Morrison-street entrance to Olds, Wortman & King's.
