FINE FIBERS GROWN IN OREGON.—Oregonians always have contended that this state can beat the world in growing anything to which it cares to give serious attention and the latest proof of this boast is found in a comparison both as to size and quality of Sicilian slubbs grown in Oregon with those produced in Barcelona, Spain, or on the island of Sicily. H. A. Kruse, of Wilsonville, is showing samples of the fibers grown at his farm from seed which came from Sicily. The home product is fully twice the size of the ordinary Sicilian slubbs and the Oregon slubbs are of superior quality. The Oregon-grown fibers also command a higher price than those from Sicily or Spain.

A REMARKABLE RECORD

Oregon Life Earns Surplus and Pays Dividends on Guarantee Fund by Careful Management.

The "Western Underwriters" of Chicago, one of the big insurance authorities, this week has a leading article on the growth of the Oregon Life. It says: "On October 1 Oregon Life of Portland sent out checks for the sixteenth semi-annual dividend on the policyholders' certificates of the company. Oregon Life was organized in 1906. Not a cent was expended for premiums, purposes, and nothing was paid on surplus account. By strict economy and skillful management, the company has accumulated $25,000 in dividends. The guarantors have been paid regularly since the organization of the company. The interest returned on the amounting in the past eight years to $56,000. Under the terms of this guarantee fund, the holders of a majority of the amount of the outstanding policies may purchase the guarantee fund at par with 7 per cent interest less the amount of dividends paid thereon, or the company may convert the company into a mutual General Manager L. Samuel in sending the checks to the guarantors says that this promise to be the biggest and most generally prosperous year in the history of the company. Its writings are ahead of those of last year. Its income from both new and renewal premiums is greater, and the death losses, which have been remarkably low, are even less this year than before. In the first nine months of this year they amounted to only $12,000, more than $5,000,000 insurance in force."

COUNTY FIGHT KEEN

Malheur Taking No Interest in Individual Candidates.

ONTARIO AND VALE RIVALS

Offer of Larger Town to Donate $30,000 Courthouse if Seat Is Removed Declared Violation of Corrupt Practices Act.

ONTARIO, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The county seat fight is at white heat. Party candidates can hardly get a hearing. The prohibition amendment and all the other measures to be voted on next month are practically ignored. The all-absorbing subject of ante-election excitement is the question whether the capital of Malheur County is to remain at Vale or be removed to Ontario.

Ontario seeks the county seat on the ground that she is in the center of population and taxable property of the county and much more accessible because of location and railroad facilities. Vale denies this because Ontario is on the Idaho line, and declares that the population and property further west. Ontario says the old stone Courthouse at Vale, erected 12 years ago, at a cost of $5000, is inadequate, and the city has sold bonds for the purpose of donating to the county a new Courthouse and courts worth $200,000. Vale also challenges Ontario's offer of a new Courthouse as a bribe to the voters in violation of the corrupt practices act. Ontario in turn charges Vale with raising funds for the Bully Creek irrigation project not as a genuine development work, but merely to secure the vote of a few hundred workmen against the county seat removal.

Several other county measures complicate the campaign. One is the proposed formation of a new county, to be known as Davis, out of the counties of Malheur and Harney counties. Nysa is asking for the establishment of a county poor farm and agricultural experiment station. The Big Bend, a portion of the county comprising 7000 acres cut off from the rest of the county on the Snake side of the Snake River, is asking for bonds to build a river bridge. And in the midst of the discussion over these matters, the ranch end of the county is in a riotous round Ironside, Malheur and the Mormon Basin, has expressed a desire to be cut off and annexed to Baker County.

Ontario and Vale are taking stands on all these questions, to secure allies in the county seat fight.

PRESS KEEPS FREEDOM

WASHINGTON SUPREME COURT OVERRULES MUZZLING ORDER.

Raymond Editor Held Within Rights in Violating Rule Against Discussing Cases Before Decision.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The locally famous "rule" against the press discussing any court case until it was decided by the highest courts and the decision recorded was overruled by a decision of the Supreme Court, announced Saturday. The rule was upheld by Superior Court in the "conspiracy" case in which M. C. Welsh, City Attorney of Raymond, was convicted of conspiracy in procuring perjured testimony in a damages suit.

F. A. Hazeltine, of the South Bend Journal, and a former president of the Oregon State Press Association, flatly defied the order and defended the character of the star witness for the prosecution. He was fined for contempt of court and appealed. The decision of the Supreme Court reversed the lower court and held the offending article within the rights of the press. The decision was a victory for freedom of the press. The decision would have muzzled the press, it would have muzzled any case in which one or more of the parties might be interested. COPPERFIELD CASE IS SET

Demurrer to Be Argued on Appeal Before State Supreme Court.

BAKER, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Word has been received in Baker that the now famous Copperfield case will be argued before the Oregon Supreme Court at Pendleton at the next term, probably November 5. This is an appeal from the ruling sustaining a demurrer which prevented mining permits an injunction against Governor Oswald West, Fern Hobbs and Colonel Lawrence. It was the mining permit interfering with the conduct of the saloon business at Copperfield.

James H. Nichols, attorney for the Copperfield defendants, and Attorney Collier, for Governor West, will argue the case. On the outcome, it is believed, will depend future action in the damage suit against Governor West, which was brought by the saloonmen for the destruction of their business.

DECISION MAY BE HURRIED

Portland May Ask Court's Help to Solve Unemployment Problem.

To assist Portland in relieving the problem next winter of caring for unemployed men who come here from parts of the state, the city may request the State Supreme Court to hasten a decision in the injunction case now pending in the matter of the construction of the Columbia River highway. The injunction, which stopped work on the highway, likely will have to be about 800 men out of work, it is said.

The proposition was brought before the City Commission yesterday and for action will be taken at the regular Council meeting tomorrow.

ASTORIA, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Deputy Game Wardens Larson and Loughrey passed the last three days in the Nehalem Valley, where there are reported to have been a number of violations of the state game laws. While there, they arrested Paul Berkenfeld and Bert Conberry on charges of running deer with dogs, hunting without licenses and mutilating the carcasses of deer so the sex could not be determined. The men also are accused of attempting to bribe witnesses, and Deputy Larson says the trials will be held before a jury in the Justice Court at Clatskanie tomorrow.

SEVERAL FIREMEN HURT

Implement House at Klamath Falls Destroyed With Loss of $25,000.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The two-story frame building occupied by the Farmers' Implement & Supply House, says a fire Sunday. The loss is estimated at $25,000. Much of the stock was burned. Insurance of $14,000 was carried. The fire is believed to have originated in the furnace of the blacksmith shop. Morton Cubs Are for West Virginia.

MORTON, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Yesterday N. Truman, of Nealka, made arrangements here to ship two cub bears to West Virginia to his father-in-law. Mr. Truman killed his 42nd bear in three years. Four of his six dogs which were after the bear were badly cut. One belonging to L. E. Adkins, in whose orchard the bear was feasting, likely will have to be shot, as one eyeball is split and the top of his head badly cut. The bear weighed 350 pounds, and was shot 15 miles from here.
