NEGRO 'DODGER' LOSES EYE. Bruised Head Also Sustained at Hood River Carnival. HOOD RIVER, OR., Oct. 16.—(Special.) Two bruised heads and a missing eye have resulted from the strenuous amusements of the carnival in this city this week. "The African Dodger," who has amused the populace by allowing them to hurl baseballs at his head for a nickel a throw, sustained a badly bruised head and the loss of his right eye last night, when E. H. Pilson was exercising his marksmanship. Pilson summoned a physician and is having the negro cared for at a local hospital. The managers of "The African Dodger" have left the city. "Shorty" Redding, a cowboy of Prineville, was pawed in the head by a broncho. He will ride again tomorrow. No waiters appear in the dining-room of a new French hotel. The guests telephone their orders from their tables, to which the food is delivered from a kitchen below by electric elevators.

Portland, Oct. 16th, 1914. Dear Alice, Will dear we were out to Lewis last eve for dinner. Their home is in Laurelhurst, the most beautiful residence tract I have ever seen, and right in the center of it lies the most wonderful natural park. To think that we so nearly missed seeing this beautiful spot. The air scented with health-giving fir balsam from the immense fir trees in the Park, the serpentine drives, the beautiful homes with their soft color and refining influence, the impressive view of rugged mountains on all sides, and last but not least the thought that one's children would have the opportunity to romp and play in this ideal spot, took us completely off our feet and we forgot in our instant the slight delay of the previous evening occasioned by the draw, and hunted up an agent of the Laurelhurst Co. and picked out our "home site" for about one third of what we would have had to pay on the West side. The company only asked us to pay 10% down and gave us very easy terms as to balance, and in addition offered to finance the building of our home. Oh, Alice, we only have to put in a few hundred dollars and we will be in our new home for Xmas day. It seems like a wonderful dream. Sincerely, Helen.

MANNING IMPROVED TABLE LAMP. 800 CANDLE-POWER LIGHT. $6.50. Some of the fashion stories told in the advertising columns have been thrilling tales of adventure. They tell of daring dashes through military lines to bring the last style notes from the gay capital. They tell how famous creators of style threw away their needles to don uniforms. Never was the newspaper advertising so full of interest. Every Paris gown brought to this country this Fall, every reproduction of a gown has lurking behind it a tale of adventure to stir the blood. To miss the stories in the newspaper advertising is to miss some of the best news of the day.

Taylor Street M. E. Church. THIRD AND TAYLOR STS. The officials and pastor of this old church have bolted, barred and padlocked its doors. THIS HEARTLESS PROCEEDING is the culminating act of a determined, destructive programme, which now denies the use of this sacred edifice to its own members and friends. THE ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION Of this church obligate its trustees to maintain perpetually a Methodist Episcopal Church at this location. THE TRUSTEES HAVE REPUDIATED This obligation and, therefore, loyal members of this church will convene for a short song service ON SUNDAY NEXT, 10:30 A. M. In front of the church on this historic corner, and earnest prayer will be offered for the early reopening of its doors.
