RECALL BALLOT'S FORM IS ATTACKED

Candidate for Mayor, Who Objects, to Bring Mandamus Suit Today.

ACTION TO CAUSE TURMOIL

E. E. Smith Declares Direct Question on Vote Blank Is Illegal—City Auditor Barbur Refuses to Halt Printing.

Objecting to the direct question being asked on the ballot prepared for the Albee-Dieck-Brewster recall election, "Shall H. R. Albee be recalled from the position of Mayor?", Eugene E. Smith, one of the two recall candidates for the position of Mayor, will start proceedings in the State Supreme Court today asking for a mandamus to require City Auditor Barbur to change the form of the ballot to eliminate this question and have the voters vote only for candidates under the preferential system the same as in any city election.

The fact that the election is scheduled for a week from today and that ballots are now being printed means that the new step taken by the recallers will throw the whole recall into turmoil until the last minute.

Printing Goes Forward. The petition which will be filed by W. M. Davis, an attorney representing Mr. Smith, will ask that the Supreme Court hear arguments in the case Thursday, Thursday is just five days before the recall election and the Supreme Court may require a day or more to consider the case.

City Auditor Barbur was asked yesterday to hold off the printing of the ballots until the Supreme Court decided the point at issue. This he refused to do, saying the recall arrangements have to be made in time, as the election date scheduled is the last day allowed for the election under the provisions of the recall amendment to the state constitution.

Mr. Smith and others of the recallers say that the recall amendment to the state constitution provides that when an election is called by the filing of recall petitions, the officials attacked automatically become candidates against the men named to run against them. They declare there is nothing in the law to provide for the ballot form as prepared.

City Attorney Defends Ballot. City Attorney LaRoche says there is no question but what the ballot form is right. All the people, he says, are to decide whether a candidate shall be recalled and not merely the persons who sign their names to recall petitions.

The recallers, it is reported, looked to the preferential voting system for the bulk of their strength. Under this system every voter would be permitted to vote for two candidates for the position of Mayor and for the position of Commissioner of Public Works against Commissioner Dieck. It is the opinion of some that the system would be difficult for the average voter to understand, and for that reason the recall would be strengthened.

Dr. George Parrish, recall candidate against Commissioner Dieck, announced his platform yesterday. It reads: "If I am elected I will, during my term of office, advocate civil service, fewer laws and strict enforcement, lower taxes, the same economic handling of our affairs, I would give mine. The office will always be open to the public at all times, regardless of politics, religion or status. In life I will oppose the issue of any more public bonds at this time."

EMPRESS ACTS VIE HARD

FEATURE DANCING AND SNAPPY SKETCHES ARE WINNERS. Juggler and Clever Musical Teams Hold Place of Note, While Comedians Equal Favorites.

Two big acts vie as favorites on the Empress bill this week. The dancing feature, presented by the Stewart sisters and their escorts is a winner, while "The Come On" sketch by snappy cast, headed by W. H. St. James, is equally good.

The dancers present something entirely new in their line. Their act opens with some clever team work, done in pretty costumes. The girls offer some posing, in which the changes are made in rhythm.

Her former accomplices in crime, however, lead her to a last "plant" and the American is the game. But the American has just one more trick than the Englishman and everything goes the way the experts did not expect.

The bill is opened by Juggling Nelson, who does some airy things with hats and almost anything that can be found around the stage. He has absolutely no regard for the laws of gravity.

a good part of the programme. Burke and Harris entertain with new songs and original sidewalk talk. Anderson and Goines, tan-colored comedians. Despite the number of black and tan teams of the last two months, make a big hit. Another number of the bill which gained a full share of applause was the xylophone quartet of the Four Violes. Music of their own and popular selections made their time fly fast. Several first-class film comedies and plays rounded out a generous bill.
