The Ivy "Acorn"

Wood Base Burner

Burns 22-Inch Wood

Price, $24

The "Ivy" is a floor-warmer—a requisite in a Heater that is not to be over-estimated. The heat is carried down a front flue, under the base and up the rear flue, thus circulating the entire stove. The draft enters from the right side of the stove through register wood grate, which gives perfect control of the fire. Large feed door, will burn 22-inch wood. Has handsome nickel swing top, foot rail and base.

$17.50 "Acorn" Gas Ranges
Reduced to $14.50

This is a wonderfully popular Gas Range of the famous "Acorn" make. Has four regular star burners, and one simmering burner. 16-inch oven, with broiler underneath. Where space is at a premium this Range is ideal, as it is small and compact.

ANGLE LAMP

For simplicity and convenience of operation the Angle Lamp is the closest rival of gas or electricity, being an entirely new method of lighting by oil.

The distinctive feature of the Angle Lamp is the angle at which the flame burns. Unlike all other lights, the burner is not upright, but extends from the side of the fixture at almost a right angle. This doubles the effect of the light, for the best brilliancy of the full flat side of the flame is thrown directly downward upon your book or table. It is a neglected fact, but a true one that

The Distribution of Light Is the Most Important Feature of Proper Lighting.

And right distribution is the reason that a quart of oil, which is consumed in 5 to 7 hours in the ordinary round-wick lamp, gives a full 16 hours of the finest light when burned in an Angle Lamp.

A second feature is perfect combustion. The air current is controlled by the ball-shaped globe which replaces the ordinary lamp chimney, circling through and through the flame until every particle of oil is consumed and turned into light. And that is the reason the Angle Lamp is as smoke free as gas, and more economical than the ordinary oil lamp.

For living-room, dining-room, kitchen, barn, garage, store, church or lodge rooms, the Angle Lamp is the ideal oil lamp.

Is in Chandelier Form, the Newest Oil-Method of Lighting.
