

BALLOT OFF ON TOUR OF CROOK COUNTY

Candidate Starts Last Long Trip of Campaign to Talk Personally to Voters.

EVERY SECTION IS VISITED

Forests, Lakes and Valleys of Oregon Traversed Since Fight for Party Victory Opened—Other Dates to Be Filled.

On what will be his last long trip of the campaign, Robert A. Booth, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, left last night for Madras and Bend, from whence he will conduct a two days' tour of Crook County.

Mr. Booth's itinerary after reaching Bend is in the hands of the local committee, but he is eager to visit as many towns and settlements as his limited time will permit.

Mr. Booth probably will be back in Portland Friday morning. He is scheduled to hold a meeting at the old Heilig Theater Friday night and if Governor West agrees to meet him there will engage in a joint debate with the Governor on the question of Mr. Booth's acquisition of the wool.

His next important engagement is before the Transportation Club at the Multnomah Hotel next Monday, but this will not be a political address. On account of his connection with the timber industry, Mr. Booth has many friends among the railroad and steamship men.

On Monday night he will go to Oregon City and the following day will make an address at the Trainmen's dinner in Portland.

It is probable that his final meeting will be in Astoria on the night of November 2, on the eve of the election.

Dr. James Withycombe, Republican nominee for Governor, was in Portland all day yesterday and met several hundred voters in the residence districts.

Dr. Withycombe will be in Gladstone and Oregon City today.

Thomas M. Hurlburt, Republican nominee for Sheriff, is continuing his quiet campaign work in various parts of the county by meeting with enthusiastic support from all classes of voters.

The Hurlburt campaign committee likewise is conducting an active canvass of the county, with renewed and increased assurances of his success.

C. N. McArthur, Republican nominee for Representative in Congress, was in the downtown districts last night from an automobile.

He presented a clear, concise statement of his attitude on the various issues of the campaign and reiterated his previous declarations that he believes firmly in the principles of the Republican party and that he is making his campaign as a Republican.

The present industrial, commercial and general depression, he said, is due to the competition forced upon American farmers and American manufacturers by the importation of products from foreign countries.

There will be an East Side Hanley rally tonight at library, corner East 14th and East Adams streets. A number of speakers are scheduled for brief speeches, among them Ben Risland, G. A. Johnson, Miss Helen C. Wilson, Mrs. William Miller and Anne Shannon Monroe.

Democratic women who are supporting Senator Chamberlain will hold a rally in the main room of the Public Library this evening.

A number of speakers will discuss several initiatives measures now pending before the voters at a mass meeting of Scandinavian voters in the hall at 227 Yamhill street at 8 o'clock tonight.

Governor West will hold two meetings in Portland tomorrow. The first will be at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in Grebel's hall, Montavilla, and the second in the City Hall at St. Johns at night.

A poll of one of the principal office buildings in Portland today reported that 10 votes for Dr. Withycombe and 10 votes for Dr. Smith.

T. H. Cooper, Republican state committeeman in Benton County, was in Portland yesterday and reported that so far as Benton is concerned, the election might as well be held tomorrow.

The only possible change that can be effected in the next few weeks, he says, is to increase the size of the Republican majority. Because Benton County is Dr. Withycombe's home, the Republican gubernatorial nominee will get almost the unanimous vote of his neighbors, says Mr. Cooper. On account of the disposition of the people to "vote the ticket straight," he predicts that the entire list of Republican candidates is sure to get a heavy vote there.

Senator Chamberlain spoke yesterday in Silverton, Mount Angel, Woodburn and Salem. He will be in Ashland this afternoon and in Medford tonight.

William Hanley, Progressive Senatorial nominee, will devote the remaining two weeks of the campaign to work in and around Portland. He will try to meet as many voters personally as possible and may make a few speeches in various parts of the county. Besides that, he may take short one-day trips to other counties in Western Oregon.

What promises to be one of the spectacular events of the campaign will be the Republican rally at Peninsula Station in the northeastern part of the city on the evening of Friday, October 30. Brass band music and fireworks will form some of the attractive parts of the programme.

It is expected that the leading candidates on the Republican ticket will be in attendance. Most of them will speak. This will be one of the last big meetings of the campaign. Arrangements are in charge of the Republican County Committee.

Milton A. Miller, Collector of Internal Revenue, left last night for Marshfield, where he will deliver a series of campaign speeches in the interests of the Democratic candidates. He will visit North Bend, Myrtle Point, Bandon and other towns in the Coos Bay district. He will be away until the end of the week.

A. W. Lafferty, Independent candidate for Congress, continued his campaign work last night, making eight speeches on the East Side. He traveled in an auto truck and carried a brass band with him to attract the crowds. Mr. Lafferty is attacking A. F. Fiegl, his Democratic opponent, and the record of the Democratic Administration in Congress.

A Democratic rally was held last night in the Gienoece School, East Forty-ninth and Belmont streets. Among the speakers were Colonel Robert A. Miller, Mrs. Agnes McNaughton, Mrs. Nellie C. Hughes and John B. Moon.

C. E. S. Wood, who has been actively campaigning for William Hanley, Progressive Senatorial nominee, has been compelled to cancel some of his engagements on advice of his physician. It is probable that he will deliver several speeches next week.

The following chairman have been named to preside at the various meetings in Portland, at which members of the Oregon Squadron are present: Robert A. Miller, Mrs. Agnes McNaughton, Mrs. Nellie C. Hughes and John B. Moon.

William Hanley, Progressive candidate for Governor, spoke before the tax and revenue department of the Oregon Civic League at the Hazelwood restaurant at noon yesterday. He outlined a great and several projects for the state through the release, for the benefit of the public, of the natural resources within the state.

When they will speak tonight in room A of the Public Library. Democratic speakers were greeted by a small audience of South Portland voters at Failing School last night.

A. F. Fiegl, Democratic candidate for Congress, who has been elected to the duties of a Representative, praised the qualities of the leading Democratic candidates for the various offices and reports that a great many Democrats in Congress will get a nice majority in this county," said Mr. Hamlin.

S. A. D. Meek, of Northern Washington state headquarters recently, and reports that a great many Democrats in Congress will get a nice majority in this county," said Mr. Hamlin.

Frederick Hollister, of Coos County, who is a candidate for Representative in Congress in the First District, was in Yamhill County Saturday. He says that he favors abolishing all liquor licenses, making it a free commodity, and argues that in that manner the evils attending the traffic in liquor would be eliminated.

Professor W. T. Shaw, of Washington State College, has been in Portland for the last few days calling on his friend Dr. Withycombe, Republican candidate for Governor. He says he is sorry that he does not live in Oregon, so that he could vote for his friend.

BOOTH EXTENDS POLICY TO WOMEN

Wage Is Gauge of Our Prosperity and Growth, Says Candidate in Speech.

COLUMBIA WORK FAVORED

Republican Nominee in Address at Public Library Discusses Issues of Campaign, Pleading Especially for Settlers.

"The measure of our growth and the measure of our prosperity is the wage paid the laboring man," declared Robert A. Booth, Republican nominee for United States Senator, before members of the Women's Political Science Club at the Public Library yesterday afternoon.

He invited the women to take a more active interest in politics and advised them not to let politics be spoken of derisively. He declared that politics can be made an honorable profession and declared that, with the help of the women's votes, it will be.

So far as partisan politics is concerned, he declared that the principal issue upon which the Republican and Democratic parties differ is the tariff and asserted that the tariff should be subject to the regulation of a non-partisan board the same as the transportation and the financial affairs are.

Non-Partisan Board Wanted. "If elected I shall strive for the creation of such a non-partisan board," he promised. He continued by presenting the fact that the West, especially the Pacific Coast, is woefully underdeveloped. If this part of the country can be opened for development, he added, it can be made to support a population equal to that of all the United States at the present time, and there have only one-sixth the number of people in the same areas as in Denmark and other parts of Europe.

"The best thing for this government to do," he asserted, "is to devote itself to the development of the Pacific Coast." "Every convenience should be furnished settlers in these Western regions—parcels post, good roads and other facilities that will make life on the farm more pleasant. The government must help to make it easier for the people."

There are millions of acres in Oregon that should be developed. It should be made possible to develop the now unproductive valleys of Oregon into garden spots. "In further reference to the forest areas he said that the proceeds from the sale of timber should be devoted to water rights, basing its request on three points, first, that the matter had been removed from the state to the Federal tribunal; second, that suits involving the same subject matter were already pending before the Federal Court, and third, that the water code was contrary to the Federal Constitution. The court decided in favor of the Water Board on all three points, and denied the injunction.

Pile-driver Meets Death in Lake. MARSHFIELD, Or., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Alfred Johnson, a resident of East Side, Coos Bay, was killed this afternoon at Hauser & Hauser's camp 8, on North Lake, in the Ten Mile district. Johnson was a pile-driver engineer and had been employed there but one day. His death was caused when the crew was moving the pile-driver, the engine falling into the lake and pinning him underneath. His body was not recovered for several hours.
