me?

It is perfectly proper for you to invite the man and his aister to dinner at your home. Do not believe everything that you hear about girls calling upon him. Girls do not do that sort of thing. Unless you are engaged to be married to him you should not do it either. You only lose his respect by pursuing him.

She Laughs at Him. "Dear Miss Blake: I am a boy of 18 and in love with a girl of 16 or 17, although I have no intention to marry till at least the age of 23. Every time although I have no intention to marry till at least the age of 23. Every time I ask her to go to some place, such as go for a walk or sit together by the lake, though she never refuses, she always laughs, which seems to be that she is trying to make a fool out of me, and then she would go with me. She sometimes fools with me as if I was a girl friend of hers. Any time I fool with her she would laugh and wave her finger at me (which means, don't do it again.) If any other boys does it she gets mad at them. Sometimes, when I attempt to hold her hand, she would laugh as if I was only a little boy, slithough she never attempts to pull her hand away. She gets a high average at school. Do you think she is trying to make a fool out of me, or do you think she cares for me? If a girl has recognized a boy first, is it proper for the boy to stop and start to talk with her about something he wishes to know?

ANXIOUS."

The girl probably considers you a jolly friend with whom she can act as she would with another girl. Why don't you ask her to go to the theater some time or to some entertainment? If you never take her anywhere except to waik how is she to know that you care to have her accept your invitations? Of course it is proper for a boy to stop and talk to a girl if she has spoken to him and if it is necessary that he talk to her. However, protracted conversations on the street are neither necessary nor proper.

been for the berries they found they would have starved.

The second day, just as night came on, Joel said to his brother: "I am gure I see smoke in the distance, and it must be a house."

The smoke did come from a chimney, just as Joel thought, and when they came near to it they saw a strange-looking house, built of stone and iron bars at all the windows.

They heard someone coming in answer to their pounding, and they felt sure now of something to eat, but when the door was opened they started back, and both boys felt a little frightened at the strange creature that stood before them.

But before they had recovered enough to ask for shelter and food the strange creature said: "Come right in, my dears, and eat and drink, for I know you must be tired."

The queer-looking creature was not much taller than Jeel or Amos but Officials of State Federation of Women's Clubs Deny Non-Partisan Judiciary Measure Indorsement as Announced in Voters' Pamphiet.

PORTLAND, Oct. 23.—(To the Edi the State Federation of Women's Clubs desires to call the attention of the public and of the clubwomen to a statement in the argument for the non-partisan judiciary measure page 36 of the voters' pamphlet. says: "This measure has been page 36 of the voters' pamphlet. It says: "This measure has been indorsed by the State Bar Association, the State Federation of Women's Clubs. . at their annual meetings." This is a misleading statement. The State Federation, at its meeting in 1913, indorsed the principle of a non-partisan judiciary in the following resolutions:

"Resolved, that we, the State Federation of Women's Clubs, urgently request that like clubs, associations and organizations that are working for the uplift of the people, be requested to initiate a bill removing the judiciary of the State of Oregon from political influence, making the same non-political, and providing for placing on the ballot the names of proper persons for judicial positions without reference to political affiliations. Adoption recommended. Carried."

The measure, Nos. 524-325, as it stands, was never submitted to the Federation, nor would it have received the indorsement of the legislative committee, for the following reasons:

It amends the direct primary law and we do not think that law should be tinkered with in the interests of any group of candidates. It exempts cer-

The Florence Crittenton Refuge Home for girls is much in need of financial aid and will give a benefit concert Tuesday evening, November 17, at the Masonic Temple. This home for unfortunate girls must ask assistance from the public to carry on the work, and there are at present 23 girls and 19 babies in the home, and the public is being made. The following women and gentlemen comprise the board in charge of the home:

Mrs. R. E. Bristow, Mrs. Horace Ramsdell, Mrs. A. L. Lucas, Mrs. W. H. Doane, Mrs. Charles E. Ladd, Mrs. R. R. Steele, Mrs. E. S. Muckiey, L. H. Tarpley, C. W. Pallett and C. F. Swander.

The concert will be an unusually attributed on the feet of thousands of noble women who have gone through the same period with little or no paln, misery or discomfort. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is and has been for over 40 years just the medicine that every woman needs when passing through the changing days. It is not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper; it's a temperance medicine. Not only does it build up the entire system and make it strong and vigorous enough to withstand the organic disturbances, but it has a quieting effect upon the feminine organism that reduces the distress to a minimum.
