

MRS. CARMAN MAY KNOW FATE ONIGHT

Alleged Murderess Becomes Confused; Breakdown Near as Mother Testifies.

DENIAL IS CORROBORATED

Relatives Testify Doctor's Wife in Her Room When Mrs. Bailey Was Killed in His Office—Maid's Testimony is Conflicting.

MINNEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, on trial in the Supreme Court here, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, may know her fate by tomorrow night.

The entire afternoon thus will be left for the summing up, which probably will occupy three hours, and the delivering of the charge to the jury. The charge is expected to be a brief one.

Witnesses for the defense took up a great part of today's sessions of court. The defendant submitted to a searching cross-examination.

Mrs. Carman frequently became confused and at times she hesitated and fumbled with the prosecutor. Once she appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, but rallied after recourse to smelling salts.

When the aged mother of the defendant took the stand she began her testimony. Mrs. Carman burst into tears, bending forward and swaying with emotion.

Suspicions Are Admitted. She admitted that she became suspicious of Dr. Carman and had a "mechanical eavesdropper" installed in his office to determine whether there was any truth in the reports that had come to her ears.

Mrs. Carman frequently became confused and at times she hesitated and fumbled with the prosecutor. Once she appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, but rallied after recourse to smelling salts.

When the aged mother of the defendant took the stand she began her testimony. Mrs. Carman burst into tears, bending forward and swaying with emotion.

Suspicions Are Admitted. She admitted that she became suspicious of Dr. Carman and had a "mechanical eavesdropper" installed in his office to determine whether there was any truth in the reports that had come to her ears.

Mrs. Carman frequently became confused and at times she hesitated and fumbled with the prosecutor. Once she appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, but rallied after recourse to smelling salts.

When the aged mother of the defendant took the stand she began her testimony. Mrs. Carman burst into tears, bending forward and swaying with emotion.

Suspicions Are Admitted. She admitted that she became suspicious of Dr. Carman and had a "mechanical eavesdropper" installed in his office to determine whether there was any truth in the reports that had come to her ears.

Mrs. Carman frequently became confused and at times she hesitated and fumbled with the prosecutor. Once she appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, but rallied after recourse to smelling salts.

When the aged mother of the defendant took the stand she began her testimony. Mrs. Carman burst into tears, bending forward and swaying with emotion.

Suspicions Are Admitted. She admitted that she became suspicious of Dr. Carman and had a "mechanical eavesdropper" installed in his office to determine whether there was any truth in the reports that had come to her ears.

Mrs. Carman frequently became confused and at times she hesitated and fumbled with the prosecutor. Once she appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, but rallied after recourse to smelling salts.

When the aged mother of the defendant took the stand she began her testimony. Mrs. Carman burst into tears, bending forward and swaying with emotion.

Suspicions Are Admitted. She admitted that she became suspicious of Dr. Carman and had a "mechanical eavesdropper" installed in his office to determine whether there was any truth in the reports that had come to her ears.

Mrs. Carman frequently became confused and at times she hesitated and fumbled with the prosecutor. Once she appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, but rallied after recourse to smelling salts.

When the aged mother of the defendant took the stand she began her testimony. Mrs. Carman burst into tears, bending forward and swaying with emotion.

BOOTH AND WEST MEET IN DEBATE

Crowd Gathers Hours Ahead of Time and Cries Down All Preliminaries.

ACCUSER'S RECORD SHOWN

Eugene Man Recites List of Allegations Made Against Him by Executive, Answering Each in Turn to Prove Innocence.

(Continued from first page.)

became an agent of Detective Burns. Mr. Booth said, and he was sent out over the state to investigate before-title to most of the land that had passed through their hands had initiated long before the company began operations.

"As to his saying that we own all the property and that others cannot operate in the timber belt above Eugene, there are nine other mills besides ours that operate on the railway into the belt, and when Mr. West says what he does he falsifies and he knows it. He could have known the facts concerning what he was talking about before he spoke, and if he had been a man he would have known them."

"He says that I was in collusion with Mitchell, Fulton and others, and that I used my position in the State Legislature to carry out my plans for acquiring land. We purchased the land of which he speaks two years before Mitchell was elected and four years before Fulton was elected, and two years before I was in the Legislature."

"Conspiracy With God Suggested. "When he speaks of indirect methods of securing title to land, why doesn't he tell you that four-fifths of the land here is secured by indirect methods? It was a boy 6 years old? He might as well say that I was in conspiracy with the Almighty for the creation of Adam to have him hand down to me the title to the land."

Referring to Mr. West's accusations of acquiring land in the Klamath country by defrauding the public domain and the Government and of having disposed of 5000 acres in the same section through a corrupt lottery whereby he defrauded "widows and children," Mr. Booth showed that the title was acquired through an agreement made with the bureau of Indian affairs and the Department of the Interior, and read a letter from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, thanking him and commending the "open-minded policy" of the company and its "willingness to meet the situation."

"He said that we sold to widows by a dishonest lottery scheme 5000 more acres of land. We sold it all to Harry Hunter, of Minneapolis, and three or four men associated with him. The contracts were drawn up by A. L. Vesicle, of this city, and I have authorized him to state the facts to the public if anyone desires to ascertain the truth about the transaction."

"Apology is demanded. "Governor West knows all this, or he could have known it. He had merely to search the public records. "If he is wrong he owes the people of Oregon an apology and if he is a man he will apologize to me."

The accusation that he was a "tax-dodger" Mr. Booth scouted, saying that the records show that his company has paid into the treasury of Lane County since it began operations $20,000 in taxes, and that since the land was acquired the value of the fact that it has been largely cut over, the taxes against it have increased seven-fold.

"I never received a favor from any Commissioner, Senator or Representative in Congress. I never asked it on any of our lands. Of the 1,000,000 acres of land that have passed through our hands, 99 per cent had the title initiated before we began our business."

Mrs. Booth then recited categorically the charges that Governor West had made against him and answered them in order, producing maps, documents and Government reports to substantiate the various statements in his explanation of how the company with which he was associated came into possession of its holdings.

Charges Are Recited. "Governor West," he said, "charges that from a small plant and a few trees we grew to our present state by acquiring timber corruptly, by political manipulation; that we ran a railroad into our timber and had secret rates; that we possessed all the timber in the territory and shut out competition; that we gained lands in the Klamath reservation by political manipulation; that we robbed widows, servant girls and working girls; that I was a tax dodger, and that I robbed my relatives, to whom he refers as weak-minded mountaineers."

"He says I was indicted and charged with the effort to defraud the Government of lands. "But he does not say that I was the only man who insistently demanded trial; he does not say that we did not have to produce a witness on the stand; he does not say that the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty on the first ballot. (Applause.) "When we want to we are not applanse; it is simply cold facts."

"Now, my friends, had there been any evidence against me in the case, with such men after me as there were conducting the case against me, I would not be here before you tonight as a candidate for the Senate, and you know it. (Applause.)"

Minutes of Detail Given. Mr. Booth then went minutely into the history of every transaction by which his company had acquired its property, showing by Government reports and other documents that the applied today at Booth headquarters in Eugene for aid in holding a Booth rally at Elmira next Wednesday night. Elmira has arranged to have I. N. Edwards, an old Lane County resident, living west of Eugene, as the speaker at the Booth rally in the Oddfellows' Hall. A number of Eugene residents will take part in the demonstration and a Eugene quartet will sing.

A similar junket will be made to Alvadore Tuesday night.

Horse Taken by Runaway Boy. ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Taking a horse and buggy belonging to his father, Elwood Grace, a 14-year-old boy, ran away last night from his home four miles east of Albany. He also took a saddle, so it is expected he may discard the buggy if necessary and proceed on horseback.

COLONEL WOOD CHALLENGES SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN TO DEBATE. PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 23.—(To the Editor.)—The Journal Thursday, October 22, reports Senator Chamberlain as saying at Ashland that he intended to disregard all lists of questions submitted by those opposed to him through paid circulation and quotes him as follows: "I refuse to deal with third-hand representatives. Let their chief meet me face to face."

Of course it may be said, if a question to a public man on his public record interests the people, it makes little difference who asks it. But to accommodate Senator Chamberlain and to allow him full opportunity to explain himself, I am authorized by William Hanley to say that either he or I, or both, at Senator Chamberlain's selection, will meet Senator Chamberlain "face to face" at any public place, any time he may name, and the sooner the better.

No question shall be asked him or subject discussed relating to private life or private affairs, but only those of direct interest to the people on his public record. They will be submitted to him in advance and Mr. C. S. Jackson, of the Journal, shall raise up any questions not fair to a public man seeking re-election on his public record.

On the other hand, Senator Chamberlain shall ask us or either of us any questions or discuss any subject whatever, without limit—whether involving our private lives or personal opinions. I hope Senator Chamberlain will act promptly in this effort to do him full justice. I, for myself, would be glad of a chance to show I am not supporting William Hanley for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, nor opposing Senator Chamberlain for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, as I see it. C. E. S. WOOD.

BOOTH AND WEST MEET IN DEBATE

Crowd Gathers Hours Ahead of Time and Cries Down All Preliminaries.

ACCUSER'S RECORD SHOWN

Eugene Man Recites List of Allegations Made Against Him by Executive, Answering Each in Turn to Prove Innocence.

(Continued from first page.)

became an agent of Detective Burns. Mr. Booth said, and he was sent out over the state to investigate before-title to most of the land that had passed through their hands had initiated long before the company began operations.

"As to his saying that we own all the property and that others cannot operate in the timber belt above Eugene, there are nine other mills besides ours that operate on the railway into the belt, and when Mr. West says what he does he falsifies and he knows it. He could have known the facts concerning what he was talking about before he spoke, and if he had been a man he would have known them."

"He says that I was in collusion with Mitchell, Fulton and others, and that I used my position in the State Legislature to carry out my plans for acquiring land. We purchased the land of which he speaks two years before Mitchell was elected and four years before Fulton was elected, and two years before I was in the Legislature."

"Conspiracy With God Suggested. "When he speaks of indirect methods of securing title to land, why doesn't he tell you that four-fifths of the land here is secured by indirect methods? It was a boy 6 years old? He might as well say that I was in conspiracy with the Almighty for the creation of Adam to have him hand down to me the title to the land."

Referring to Mr. West's accusations of acquiring land in the Klamath country by defrauding the public domain and the Government and of having disposed of 5000 acres in the same section through a corrupt lottery whereby he defrauded "widows and children," Mr. Booth showed that the title was acquired through an agreement made with the bureau of Indian affairs and the Department of the Interior, and read a letter from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, thanking him and commending the "open-minded policy" of the company and its "willingness to meet the situation."

"He said that we sold to widows by a dishonest lottery scheme 5000 more acres of land. We sold it all to Harry Hunter, of Minneapolis, and three or four men associated with him. The contracts were drawn up by A. L. Vesicle, of this city, and I have authorized him to state the facts to the public if anyone desires to ascertain the truth about the transaction."

"Apology is demanded. "Governor West knows all this, or he could have known it. He had merely to search the public records. "If he is wrong he owes the people of Oregon an apology and if he is a man he will apologize to me."

The accusation that he was a "tax-dodger" Mr. Booth scouted, saying that the records show that his company has paid into the treasury of Lane County since it began operations $20,000 in taxes, and that since the land was acquired the value of the fact that it has been largely cut over, the taxes against it have increased seven-fold.

"I never received a favor from any Commissioner, Senator or Representative in Congress. I never asked it on any of our lands. Of the 1,000,000 acres of land that have passed through our hands, 99 per cent had the title initiated before we began our business."

Mrs. Booth then recited categorically the charges that Governor West had made against him and answered them in order, producing maps, documents and Government reports to substantiate the various statements in his explanation of how the company with which he was associated came into possession of its holdings.

Charges Are Recited. "Governor West," he said, "charges that from a small plant and a few trees we grew to our present state by acquiring timber corruptly, by political manipulation; that we ran a railroad into our timber and had secret rates; that we possessed all the timber in the territory and shut out competition; that we gained lands in the Klamath reservation by political manipulation; that we robbed widows, servant girls and working girls; that I was a tax dodger, and that I robbed my relatives, to whom he refers as weak-minded mountaineers."

"He says I was indicted and charged with the effort to defraud the Government of lands. "But he does not say that I was the only man who insistently demanded trial; he does not say that we did not have to produce a witness on the stand; he does not say that the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty on the first ballot. (Applause.) "When we want to we are not applanse; it is simply cold facts."

"Now, my friends, had there been any evidence against me in the case, with such men after me as there were conducting the case against me, I would not be here before you tonight as a candidate for the Senate, and you know it. (Applause.)"

Minutes of Detail Given. Mr. Booth then went minutely into the history of every transaction by which his company had acquired its property, showing by Government reports and other documents that the applied today at Booth headquarters in Eugene for aid in holding a Booth rally at Elmira next Wednesday night. Elmira has arranged to have I. N. Edwards, an old Lane County resident, living west of Eugene, as the speaker at the Booth rally in the Oddfellows' Hall. A number of Eugene residents will take part in the demonstration and a Eugene quartet will sing.

A similar junket will be made to Alvadore Tuesday night.

Horse Taken by Runaway Boy. ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Taking a horse and buggy belonging to his father, Elwood Grace, a 14-year-old boy, ran away last night from his home four miles east of Albany. He also took a saddle, so it is expected he may discard the buggy if necessary and proceed on horseback.

COLONEL WOOD CHALLENGES SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN TO DEBATE. PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 23.—(To the Editor.)—The Journal Thursday, October 22, reports Senator Chamberlain as saying at Ashland that he intended to disregard all lists of questions submitted by those opposed to him through paid circulation and quotes him as follows: "I refuse to deal with third-hand representatives. Let their chief meet me face to face."

Of course it may be said, if a question to a public man on his public record interests the people, it makes little difference who asks it. But to accommodate Senator Chamberlain and to allow him full opportunity to explain himself, I am authorized by William Hanley to say that either he or I, or both, at Senator Chamberlain's selection, will meet Senator Chamberlain "face to face" at any public place, any time he may name, and the sooner the better.

No question shall be asked him or subject discussed relating to private life or private affairs, but only those of direct interest to the people on his public record. They will be submitted to him in advance and Mr. C. S. Jackson, of the Journal, shall raise up any questions not fair to a public man seeking re-election on his public record.

On the other hand, Senator Chamberlain shall ask us or either of us any questions or discuss any subject whatever, without limit—whether involving our private lives or personal opinions. I hope Senator Chamberlain will act promptly in this effort to do him full justice. I, for myself, would be glad of a chance to show I am not supporting William Hanley for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, nor opposing Senator Chamberlain for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, as I see it. C. E. S. WOOD.

BOOTH AND WEST MEET IN DEBATE

Crowd Gathers Hours Ahead of Time and Cries Down All Preliminaries.

ACCUSER'S RECORD SHOWN

Eugene Man Recites List of Allegations Made Against Him by Executive, Answering Each in Turn to Prove Innocence.

(Continued from first page.)

became an agent of Detective Burns. Mr. Booth said, and he was sent out over the state to investigate before-title to most of the land that had passed through their hands had initiated long before the company began operations.

"As to his saying that we own all the property and that others cannot operate in the timber belt above Eugene, there are nine other mills besides ours that operate on the railway into the belt, and when Mr. West says what he does he falsifies and he knows it. He could have known the facts concerning what he was talking about before he spoke, and if he had been a man he would have known them."

"He says that I was in collusion with Mitchell, Fulton and others, and that I used my position in the State Legislature to carry out my plans for acquiring land. We purchased the land of which he speaks two years before Mitchell was elected and four years before Fulton was elected, and two years before I was in the Legislature."

"Conspiracy With God Suggested. "When he speaks of indirect methods of securing title to land, why doesn't he tell you that four-fifths of the land here is secured by indirect methods? It was a boy 6 years old? He might as well say that I was in conspiracy with the Almighty for the creation of Adam to have him hand down to me the title to the land."

Referring to Mr. West's accusations of acquiring land in the Klamath country by defrauding the public domain and the Government and of having disposed of 5000 acres in the same section through a corrupt lottery whereby he defrauded "widows and children," Mr. Booth showed that the title was acquired through an agreement made with the bureau of Indian affairs and the Department of the Interior, and read a letter from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, thanking him and commending the "open-minded policy" of the company and its "willingness to meet the situation."

"He said that we sold to widows by a dishonest lottery scheme 5000 more acres of land. We sold it all to Harry Hunter, of Minneapolis, and three or four men associated with him. The contracts were drawn up by A. L. Vesicle, of this city, and I have authorized him to state the facts to the public if anyone desires to ascertain the truth about the transaction."

"Apology is demanded. "Governor West knows all this, or he could have known it. He had merely to search the public records. "If he is wrong he owes the people of Oregon an apology and if he is a man he will apologize to me."

The accusation that he was a "tax-dodger" Mr. Booth scouted, saying that the records show that his company has paid into the treasury of Lane County since it began operations $20,000 in taxes, and that since the land was acquired the value of the fact that it has been largely cut over, the taxes against it have increased seven-fold.

"I never received a favor from any Commissioner, Senator or Representative in Congress. I never asked it on any of our lands. Of the 1,000,000 acres of land that have passed through our hands, 99 per cent had the title initiated before we began our business."

Mrs. Booth then recited categorically the charges that Governor West had made against him and answered them in order, producing maps, documents and Government reports to substantiate the various statements in his explanation of how the company with which he was associated came into possession of its holdings.

Charges Are Recited. "Governor West," he said, "charges that from a small plant and a few trees we grew to our present state by acquiring timber corruptly, by political manipulation; that we ran a railroad into our timber and had secret rates; that we possessed all the timber in the territory and shut out competition; that we gained lands in the Klamath reservation by political manipulation; that we robbed widows, servant girls and working girls; that I was a tax dodger, and that I robbed my relatives, to whom he refers as weak-minded mountaineers."

"He says I was indicted and charged with the effort to defraud the Government of lands. "But he does not say that I was the only man who insistently demanded trial; he does not say that we did not have to produce a witness on the stand; he does not say that the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty on the first ballot. (Applause.) "When we want to we are not applanse; it is simply cold facts."

"Now, my friends, had there been any evidence against me in the case, with such men after me as there were conducting the case against me, I would not be here before you tonight as a candidate for the Senate, and you know it. (Applause.)"

Minutes of Detail Given. Mr. Booth then went minutely into the history of every transaction by which his company had acquired its property, showing by Government reports and other documents that the applied today at Booth headquarters in Eugene for aid in holding a Booth rally at Elmira next Wednesday night. Elmira has arranged to have I. N. Edwards, an old Lane County resident, living west of Eugene, as the speaker at the Booth rally in the Oddfellows' Hall. A number of Eugene residents will take part in the demonstration and a Eugene quartet will sing.

A similar junket will be made to Alvadore Tuesday night.

Horse Taken by Runaway Boy. ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Taking a horse and buggy belonging to his father, Elwood Grace, a 14-year-old boy, ran away last night from his home four miles east of Albany. He also took a saddle, so it is expected he may discard the buggy if necessary and proceed on horseback.

COLONEL WOOD CHALLENGES SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN TO DEBATE. PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 23.—(To the Editor.)—The Journal Thursday, October 22, reports Senator Chamberlain as saying at Ashland that he intended to disregard all lists of questions submitted by those opposed to him through paid circulation and quotes him as follows: "I refuse to deal with third-hand representatives. Let their chief meet me face to face."

Of course it may be said, if a question to a public man on his public record interests the people, it makes little difference who asks it. But to accommodate Senator Chamberlain and to allow him full opportunity to explain himself, I am authorized by William Hanley to say that either he or I, or both, at Senator Chamberlain's selection, will meet Senator Chamberlain "face to face" at any public place, any time he may name, and the sooner the better.

No question shall be asked him or subject discussed relating to private life or private affairs, but only those of direct interest to the people on his public record. They will be submitted to him in advance and Mr. C. S. Jackson, of the Journal, shall raise up any questions not fair to a public man seeking re-election on his public record.

On the other hand, Senator Chamberlain shall ask us or either of us any questions or discuss any subject whatever, without limit—whether involving our private lives or personal opinions. I hope Senator Chamberlain will act promptly in this effort to do him full justice. I, for myself, would be glad of a chance to show I am not supporting William Hanley for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, nor opposing Senator Chamberlain for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, as I see it. C. E. S. WOOD.

BOOTH AND WEST MEET IN DEBATE

Crowd Gathers Hours Ahead of Time and Cries Down All Preliminaries.

ACCUSER'S RECORD SHOWN

Eugene Man Recites List of Allegations Made Against Him by Executive, Answering Each in Turn to Prove Innocence.

(Continued from first page.)

became an agent of Detective Burns. Mr. Booth said, and he was sent out over the state to investigate before-title to most of the land that had passed through their hands had initiated long before the company began operations.

"As to his saying that we own all the property and that others cannot operate in the timber belt above Eugene, there are nine other mills besides ours that operate on the railway into the belt, and when Mr. West says what he does he falsifies and he knows it. He could have known the facts concerning what he was talking about before he spoke, and if he had been a man he would have known them."

"He says that I was in collusion with Mitchell, Fulton and others, and that I used my position in the State Legislature to carry out my plans for acquiring land. We purchased the land of which he speaks two years before Mitchell was elected and four years before Fulton was elected, and two years before I was in the Legislature."

"Conspiracy With God Suggested. "When he speaks of indirect methods of securing title to land, why doesn't he tell you that four-fifths of the land here is secured by indirect methods? It was a boy 6 years old? He might as well say that I was in conspiracy with the Almighty for the creation of Adam to have him hand down to me the title to the land."

Referring to Mr. West's accusations of acquiring land in the Klamath country by defrauding the public domain and the Government and of having disposed of 5000 acres in the same section through a corrupt lottery whereby he defrauded "widows and children," Mr. Booth showed that the title was acquired through an agreement made with the bureau of Indian affairs and the Department of the Interior, and read a letter from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, thanking him and commending the "open-minded policy" of the company and its "willingness to meet the situation."

"He said that we sold to widows by a dishonest lottery scheme 5000 more acres of land. We sold it all to Harry Hunter, of Minneapolis, and three or four men associated with him. The contracts were drawn up by A. L. Vesicle, of this city, and I have authorized him to state the facts to the public if anyone desires to ascertain the truth about the transaction."

"Apology is demanded. "Governor West knows all this, or he could have known it. He had merely to search the public records. "If he is wrong he owes the people of Oregon an apology and if he is a man he will apologize to me."

The accusation that he was a "tax-dodger" Mr. Booth scouted, saying that the records show that his company has paid into the treasury of Lane County since it began operations $20,000 in taxes, and that since the land was acquired the value of the fact that it has been largely cut over, the taxes against it have increased seven-fold.

"I never received a favor from any Commissioner, Senator or Representative in Congress. I never asked it on any of our lands. Of the 1,000,000 acres of land that have passed through our hands, 99 per cent had the title initiated before we began our business."

Mrs. Booth then recited categorically the charges that Governor West had made against him and answered them in order, producing maps, documents and Government reports to substantiate the various statements in his explanation of how the company with which he was associated came into possession of its holdings.

Charges Are Recited. "Governor West," he said, "charges that from a small plant and a few trees we grew to our present state by acquiring timber corruptly, by political manipulation; that we ran a railroad into our timber and had secret rates; that we possessed all the timber in the territory and shut out competition; that we gained lands in the Klamath reservation by political manipulation; that we robbed widows, servant girls and working girls; that I was a tax dodger, and that I robbed my relatives, to whom he refers as weak-minded mountaineers."

"He says I was indicted and charged with the effort to defraud the Government of lands. "But he does not say that I was the only man who insistently demanded trial; he does not say that we did not have to produce a witness on the stand; he does not say that the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty on the first ballot. (Applause.) "When we want to we are not applanse; it is simply cold facts."

"Now, my friends, had there been any evidence against me in the case, with such men after me as there were conducting the case against me, I would not be here before you tonight as a candidate for the Senate, and you know it. (Applause.)"

Minutes of Detail Given. Mr. Booth then went minutely into the history of every transaction by which his company had acquired its property, showing by Government reports and other documents that the applied today at Booth headquarters in Eugene for aid in holding a Booth rally at Elmira next Wednesday night. Elmira has arranged to have I. N. Edwards, an old Lane County resident, living west of Eugene, as the speaker at the Booth rally in the Oddfellows' Hall. A number of Eugene residents will take part in the demonstration and a Eugene quartet will sing.

A similar junket will be made to Alvadore Tuesday night.

Horse Taken by Runaway Boy. ALBANY, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Taking a horse and buggy belonging to his father, Elwood Grace, a 14-year-old boy, ran away last night from his home four miles east of Albany. He also took a saddle, so it is expected he may discard the buggy if necessary and proceed on horseback.

COLONEL WOOD CHALLENGES SENATOR CHAMBERLAIN TO DEBATE. PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 23.—(To the Editor.)—The Journal Thursday, October 22, reports Senator Chamberlain as saying at Ashland that he intended to disregard all lists of questions submitted by those opposed to him through paid circulation and quotes him as follows: "I refuse to deal with third-hand representatives. Let their chief meet me face to face."

Of course it may be said, if a question to a public man on his public record interests the people, it makes little difference who asks it. But to accommodate Senator Chamberlain and to allow him full opportunity to explain himself, I am authorized by William Hanley to say that either he or I, or both, at Senator Chamberlain's selection, will meet Senator Chamberlain "face to face" at any public place, any time he may name, and the sooner the better.

No question shall be asked him or subject discussed relating to private life or private affairs, but only those of direct interest to the people on his public record. They will be submitted to him in advance and Mr. C. S. Jackson, of the Journal, shall raise up any questions not fair to a public man seeking re-election on his public record.

On the other hand, Senator Chamberlain shall ask us or either of us any questions or discuss any subject whatever, without limit—whether involving our private lives or personal opinions. I hope Senator Chamberlain will act promptly in this effort to do him full justice. I, for myself, would be glad of a chance to show I am not supporting William Hanley for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, nor opposing Senator Chamberlain for personal reasons, but for the good of Oregon, as I see it. C. E. S. WOOD.

R.A. Booth Governor West

Minnesota, and a brother, in Spokane. No inquest was held.

BAPTISTS SHOW GROWTH Meeting at Grants Pass Reports Decided Gain in Year.

GRANTS PASS, Or., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Reports from the various mission fields of the church and the discussion of a permanent endowment fund for McMinnville College were the features of today's sessions of the Oregon Baptist state convention.

Reports showed general growth of the denomination over the state and urged renewed activity in evangelism and educational work. Thirty delegates from the Portland churches are present.