LONDON, Oct. 30.—A court-martial, the first convened in England for the purpose for many generations, met today under the presidency of Lord Cheylesmore at the Middlesex Guild Cheylesmore at the Middlesex Guild Hall, in the shadow of Westminster Abbey, for the trial of Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Inglis, on the charge of espionage.

Prosecutor Archibald H. Bodkin, opening the case, declared that the crime of giving information to an enemy was properly triable by a court-espionage.

Prosecutor Archibald H. Bodkin, pening the case, declared that the fime of giving information to an income was properly triable by a courtmartial, and the defendant was an allen enemy—a German subject—although he spoke English fluently with an American accent.

Reports Sent to Berlin.

The prosecutor said the accused man, posing as an American tourist, visited Edinburgh, London, Liverpool and Dublin, and had sent valuable reports to Berlin. August 4 he received a passport from the American Embassy in Berlin under the false name of Charles A. Inglis, Late in August, Lody arrived in this country, going to Edin-Burgh and from there to various other hurgh and from there to various other Mary A. Griffin Alice A. Ross

Chief Inspector Ward testified that the prisoner had admitted he was a German subject. The police official declared that he had no knowledge of the accused man's having been connected with the Hamburg-American steamship line.

After further evidence had been given that Lody had pretended to be an American when arrested in Ireland, where he was traveling with John W. Lee, of Minneapolis, and after the production of letters, which counsel said would be detrimental to the interests of the state to make public, the case was adjourned.

OMAHA, Oct. 20.—Carl Hans Lody, on trial for espionage in London, is supposed here to be a former resident of Omaha. He married the daughter of Gottlieb Storz, a wealthy brewer of Omaha, but she divorced him about a year ago. He was in the employ of the Union Pacific Railway while here. It is not known whether any effort will be made to have the American Government intercede in his behalf.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Nettle Prow, herself a mother, was found guilty today in the Superior Court on a charge of putting poison in food with intent to poison the three children of a neighbor.

Annoyance at the noise made by the many children in the neighborhood, it was testified, was the occasion of many quarrels between the elderly Mrs. Prow and mothers of the district.

This is said to be the first time that such a charge has been filled in a California court.

During the trial, when officers of the court went to the vault for the three apples, exhibits in the trial, it was found that rats had eaten one which was not poisoned, but had not touched the two containing poison.

Animals live the sober and decent lives that they expect of their wives, sisters and mothers.

We were, therefore, proud when, to the primaries, more than 70,000 voters concurred in our judgment of the fitness of Robert Booth for United States weighing not more than 1150 and not less than 950 pounds are purchased. In addition to weight requirements Uncle Sam insists on young horses without blemish or bad habits.

You know that immediately following this a campaign of unequaled bitterness was launched against him for selfish political purposes. One of the cleanest, manifest and most honorable of Oregon's citizens has been maligned and dragged into the mire of misrepresentation and faise accusation by the professional politicians.

We wish to assure you women of Oregon that our faith in our fellow townsman is unshaken. To us who know him, and know the facts, there is no reason why it should be shaken. We wish to assure you that there is not one single word of truth in the statements that have been made against him.

Indorsement is Reiterated.

It is estimated that not more than 200 cavalry horses will be taken out of Lake and Harney countles this Fail, and of this number Messrs. Schroder and Swingle, of Silver Lake, expect to supply 59.

over to some other product than cotton took a new turn today, when the Public Health Service in a statement announced that Southern farmers might help to eradicate pellagra by raising beans and peas instead of cot-

"If you would avoid having pellagra you must eat an abundance of beans, peas, milk, eggs and lean meat as a part of the regular diet," says the service in a statement, issued today through Assistant Secretary Newton. "By using those foods regularly not only may pellagra be cured when the disease is not too far advanced, but prevented. This actually happened in at least one institution, where 75 cases of pellagra occurred in 1912. As a result of change of diet not a single case is known to have developed this year.

"It appears, then, that pellagra is but another example of a class of diseases like scurvy, which can be prevented and cured by an abundance of food of a proper character, and this fact suggests the advisability of farmers in the South cultivating beans and peas and raising dairy cattle instead of cotton at a time when the market for the latter abroad has been all but destroyed by foreign wars."

Roberts, of Fort Dodge, Ia., director of the mint, has resigned. It was announced at the Treasury Department today that the resignation would be effective when accepted by President Wilson.
