

"TIGER" OF MEXICO NAMED PRESIDENT

Eulalio Gutierrez, Supposed Villa Sympathizer, Elected by Conference.

CARRANZA ALSO CLAIMANT

Man Chosen at Aguas Calientes to Serve 20 Days to Give Zapata Time to Gather Votes—Renewal of War Expected.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 2.—Mexico is today a republic with two claimants of supreme executive power.

One of them, Eulalio Gutierrez, named late yesterday at the Aguas Calientes conference, was elected to serve only 20 days, said to be the shortest term of office in the history of any republic.

The other, Venustiano Carranza, now in power at the national capital, has not recognized Gutierrez as supplanting him as the choice of the convention of chiefs which previously had retired Carranza and Villa.

Evidence tonight pointed to a renewal of actual conflict between the Carranza and Villa factions. Both sides were said to have begun movement of troops.

Short Term Is Zapata Move.

The short term of office accorded to Gutierrez was out of consideration for the delegates of General Zapata, the southern chieftain, who had no vote in the convention for lack of authorization from their chief.

Within the 20 days allotted it was said that Zapata could arrange to allow his agents to vote for him.

A message from the central bureau of information at Mexico City was given by the Secretary of General Carranza's office here today as follows:

"As soon as the first chief was informed of the action of the Aguas Calientes convention he notified the convention delegates that he was disposed to do as he had promised and give up his command and executive power as soon as the convention had fixed the form of provisional government and arranged for Zapata and Villa to give up command of their forces.

"Also he asks that an explanation be made to him of the motives which had impelled the convention to elect a chief who had not accepted his resignation and the motives for which it had considered expedient his resignation from power."

Gutierrez and Villa Linked.

Gutierrez was provisional governor of the State of San Luis Potosi by Carranza at the beginning of the constitutional revolution. He is regarded, however, as more of a sympathizer with Villa in the present controversy.

The naming of Gutierrez as head of the convention and acting executive chief of the nation came as a surprise at this time. He previously had not been mentioned as a possibility for the office. Details of the voting were not received here.

The new President of Mexico comes of the lower middle classes. Before he became a revolutionist he was a grocer.

The voting at the convention did not end until after midnight. Gutierrez received 88 votes, Carranza 37, and the victor was General Juan Cabral, the Sonora commander, for whom 30 of the delegates voted.

Gutierrez Known as "Tiger."

General Gutierrez is known throughout the constitutionalist army as the "Tiger" of Concepcion del Oro, from the little town between Saitillo and San Luis Potosi, where he made his home.

When Gutierrez allied himself with the movement started by Carranza against the Huerta administration he succeeded in raising several hundred men from among his neighbors in the northern part of the State of San Luis Potosi, but was unable to arm them.

Only a handful of his men had rifles or ammunition, but in spite of this fact he is credited with inflicting severe losses and damage to the federal troops sent to defend Monterey and Saitillo.

Gutierrez and his men succeeded in seizing a quantity of dynamite from mining companies operating south of Saitillo. With this as his only weapon he held up or destroyed dozens of troop and supply trains carrying reinforcements and ammunition to the federal commanders. From these trains he armed and equipped the force with which he inflicted a decisive defeat on the federal command at Venegas last June.

People Choose Gutierrez.

When the division of the northeast, under General Jablo Gonzales, concentrated so strong a force about San Luis Potosi last July that it was apparent that the federal garrison could not withstand them, the citizens of San Luis sent a delegation to General Carranza asking that General Gutierrez be given command of the constitutionalist force which was to occupy the city, saying the townspeople had complete confidence in his ability to protect them and preserve order.

Carranza complied with their request and later named Gutierrez Provisional Governor of the state.

CARRANZA THREATENS WAR

Retirement of Villa and Zapata With His Resignation Demanded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Latest official dispatches today from Mexico City said Carranza was threatening civil war unless the convention complied with his demand to retire Villa and Zapata with his resignation. The Mexico City papers, by order of Carranza, are publishing the correspondence with Washington over the conditions of evacuation of Vera Cruz.

The United States has addressed a note through the Brazilian Minister in Mexico City to General Carranza, reiterating its willingness to withdraw American forces in Vera Cruz, but insisting on a compliance with the original demands of the State Department for certain guarantees.

A copy of the note was sent simultaneously to the American Consul agent at Aguas Calientes to be laid formally before the convention. The document sets forth that the United States has been ready and willing for some time to evacuate Vera Cruz, but has waited for the specific guarantees.

The note says that a proclamation giving the guarantees is desired by the United States from the central government in Mexico, and refers to the fact that the convention at Aguas Calientes recently instructed Carranza to comply with that request. The American Government points out that, inasmuch as Carranza officially referred the subject to the convention, his compliance is still being awaited.

General Carranza has said to American Consul Silliman that he is willing to give oral assurances, but Carranza believes that an embarrassing precedent would be established by the issuance of a proclamation.

MONACO'S TIME EXPIRES

DESTRUCTION OF PRINCELY CHATEAU THREATENED.

Owner of Noted Place Appeals to Emperor, Promising to Pay When Assured of Safety.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—This was the day fixed by General von Buelow for the destruction of the Prince of Monaco's Chateau de Marchais, near Sisonne, and the villages in the neighborhood, unless a fine of 500,000 francs ($100,000) was paid. This fine was levied because it was alleged broken glass was scattered on the road to impede the military automobiles. The inhabitants denied the accusations.

Lieutenant-Colonel von Krupka, commandant of the post, ordered the fine paid in full in order to avoid "heavy damages to the commune." The authorities replied that they were able to collect only 120,000 francs. Lieutenant-Colonel von Krupka, after consultation with General von Buelow, decided to allow two delegates to visit the Prince of Monaco to ask aid. His authorization read:

"I am authorized by his excellency to tell you that the remaining part of the fine must be paid before November 1. The delegation is instructed to mention this decision to the Prince of Monaco, adding that if the sum is not paid, besides other accounts, the chateau belonging to the Prince and the commune of Marchais will be demolished and burned."

The Prince received the delegates and sent the following letter to the Emperor:

Monaco, Oct. 22.—Monsieur le General: To avoid for the commune of Sisonne and that of Marchais the rigorous measures which you have threatened, I on my honor pledge myself to remit to Emperor William, if he will permit, the remaining amount due to my residence or to the commune, the sum necessary to complete the 500,000 francs which Sisonne was fined by you. As a sovereign Prince I will treat with the sovereign king during 15 years has called me friend and made me Knight of the Eagle. My conscience and dignity place me beyond feeling any money which will place me beyond all regret. But if you destroy the chateau of Marchais, which is a center of science interesting to the whole world and a center of charity; if you reserve for this jewel of archeology and history the fate of the chateau of Rheims and without a hostile act against you on its part the world will judge between you and me.

I address myself to your excellency, expressing the highest consideration. (Signed) ALBERT, Sovereign Prince of Monaco.

The Prince also wrote this letter to Emperor William:

Sire: I forward to your majesty several copies of the letter which I have written to your grave and urgent. General von Buelow has occupied Fozzomath and a half mile from the village of Sisonne. The General has fined the 1500 inhabitants of which they are unable to pay more than a few francs.

I answered the demand of General von Buelow, saying that I pledged myself on my honor to complete the said 500,000 francs because I wish to prevent a horrible action coldly accomplished. As a sovereign Prince I put this question before the judgment of the Emperor, declaring that the aforesaid sum will be paid when the Chateau de Marchais shall be freed from the risk of intentional destruction.

I am with great respect, your devoted servant and cousin. ALBERT.

EARTH BLOCKS CANAL

SECOND SLIDE STOPS CHANNEL TO INTER-OCEANIC VESSELS.

Colonel Goethals Hopes to Have All Debris Removed by Tomorrow and Way Again Cleared.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Panama Canal has been closed to navigation by another landslide. Colonel Goethals hopes to have it open again by Wednesday.

Goethals cabled the Canal Commission today:

"Rapid movement of slide material in the break north of Gold Hill locked the channel Saturday. Hope to open channel by Wednesday."

As understood the canal offices this slide is only an aftermath of the big slide of October 14, when nearly 750,000 yards of earth and rock slowly slipped from the hillside down into the canal prism. A channel was cut promptly through this material and in five days a considerable fleet of vessels which had gathered at the end of the canal was passed through. Colonel Goethals has stated there is no known way of stopping these landslides in Culebra Cut; that the engineers must content themselves with removing the material as fast as it falls into the canal until the strata of earth and rock above have adjusted themselves permanently to the change in their base caused by the digging of the canal. This process may go on for many months before the earth is finally and permanently quiescent. It is believed, however, that navigation of the canal will not be interrupted seriously for more than a few days at a time.

WASHINGTON 25 YEARS OLD

Celebration of Anniversary of Statehood Is Proposed.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The State of Washington will celebrate its 25th anniversary of statehood Wednesday, November 11. On that date, in 1889, President Harrison signed the official proclamation admitting Washington to the Union.

Some plans for a general observance of the date have been made, and it has been proposed to Governor Lister that he call upon citizens to celebrate the day generally.

Washington was admitted as the 49th state, being preceded by a few days by Montana and North and South Dakota.

DRYS BESTIR VOTE

Rain Not Expected to Cause Slump in Washington.

INTEREST AT HIGH PITCH

Measures Rather Than Men to Bring Out Large Share of Registry, Although Candidates Active in Seeking Support.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 2.—In spite of the wet weather which threatens to cover every portion of the state tomorrow, an unusually large vote is expected in Washington, brought out by the prohibition and other legislative measures on the ballot, rather than by the desire to vote for candidates for the United States Senate and House of Representatives.

Eastern Washington is expected to give a majority for prohibition, and Seattle, both sides admit, will have a large "wet" majority, making it necessary for the prohibition forces to obtain a majority in the remainder of Western Washington in order to carry their measure. Both sides, during the past week, have fought with the zeal of the armies in Flanders, and the result cannot be foretold.

United States Senator Wesley L. Jones, Republican, is a candidate for re-election, but has been unable to visit the state. Ole Hanson, his Progressive opponent, has gone into every county and has made a remarkable campaign. William W. Black has appealed for support in the name of President Wilson. In the Seattle district Representative William E. Humphrey is fighting for re-election. His Progressive opponent is Chief of Police Austin E. Griffiths, a wealthy attorney who, after being defeated for Mayor last Spring, accepted the police department because of the opportunity it would give him to carry out social reforms. The Democratic candidate, William Hickman Moore, was formerly Mayor of Seattle.

LEVY ON BANKS ORDERED

Federal Reserve Board Short of Money to Pay Salaries.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Federal Reserve Board announced today its plan to remedy a slight deficit in the new currency act and provide for the payments of its members' salaries. Through Secretary Willis it announced a levy of four-tenths of 1 per cent on the Federal reserve banks for the purpose of defraying expenses for the first half-year of its existence.

The law gave the organization committee which preceded the Board in preliminary work $100,000 to spend, but it was not contemplated by Congress that the banks would not be in operation for nearly 11 months after its passage. This $100,000 has been spent.

Reserve banks are to pay one-third of the assessment at once, a third within 30 days and the rest within 60 days. The basis used for the levy is
