GET RICH RAISING HOGS. You Can Produce Pork Cheaper Here Than Anywhere Else in the World,

Bigger money, easier money, quicker money made raising hogs than in any other kind of farming. The fantous Los Molinos irrigated district in the Sacramento Valley is producing hogs at less cost than anywhere else in the world. THIS IS WHY:

This is whit.

The remarkable yield of alfalfa under irrigation—10 tons per acre—makes it possible to pasture 50 head of hogs per acreduring the growing season. Allowing 300 pounds of grain per hog, which is ample to produce a 200-pound hog on alfalfa pasture, an acre of land will yield enough grain to feed and fatten 20 head of hogs. That is, you can produce 2500 pounds of bariey per acre, harvesting it in May and follow with a crop of Kaffir, yielding 3000 lbs. to 4000 lbs. per acre. As you should cut some of your alfalfa to provide Winter forage, the areas of alfalfa and grain land should be about equal.

With nogs only 7 cents you can produce $150 worth of hogs per acre a year. And you need little money to start. A few prolific brood sows will soon stock your place.

Best land and most abundant water in California. Only 1-10 down. Already in Beautiful place to live. Let us help you make a start.
