PARIS, Nov. 4.—The Echo De Paris in a dispatch from Bordeaux gives what purports to be a Turkish version of the Black Sea incident.

The recital appears to be based on a report of the German Admiral Souchon. It says that the Turkish explanation is that Russian vessels opened fire on a Turkish aquadron when the latter advanced toward the Russians, and that the responsibility for the outbreak of hostilities rests on the Russians for having maneuvered in Turkish territorial waters.

Artistic Exhibit on View at Portland Museum.

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES. These are busy times in the Portland Art Museum.

The exhibition of photographs by Miss Imogene Cunningham, of Seattle, one of the finest and most artistic collections of its kind ever seen here, has just closed, and there are now hung in the gallery 63 watercolors that have been sent out by the American Federa tion of Art. In this group are paintings by some of the foremost American watercolor artists. The range of subjects is wide and the treatment of the subjects delightful.

Miss Cunningham's collection attracted a great amount of attention and was admired by lovers of art, camera-craft enthusiasts and students. W. R. Kellogg, Battle Creek break-fast food manufacturer, regrets that the necessities of business compel him to use his autograph for adver-tising purposes.

The Bordeaux dispatch declares also that Turkey is ready to furn over the Russians who have been taken prisoners.

A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Athens says the bombardment of the forts of the Dardanelles, which was participated in chiefly by the British fleet, was suspended momentarily but later was resumed and continued until 10 o'clock this morning. Seventy shells in all were fired at the Turkish forts.

Rifact Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador to France, according to the Havas sador to France, according to the Havas which were handed to him at Bordeaux this morning.

His signature on the register at the Benson was scarcely dry yesterday before it was recognized, and a reporter fore it was recognized, and a reporter fore it was recognized, and a reporter of the place seems to be felt. One can almost hear the drowsy hum of bees in the courtyard and feel the balmy air of that historic spot in California.

Ringe of Subjects Wide.

Woodland scenes are among the studies and the trees, water, sunshine and shade are all delightfully handled. A marsh in the early morning, a fog among islands, a view of the fountain in Trafalgar Square, portraits of celebrities, mythological and historical studies are all developed by Miss Cunningham with equal skill. "The Bird Cage," with a number of pretty chil-

A view of Walpi, Ariz, by Frank McComas; "The Wharf," by W. J. Aylward; "In the Barnyard," a snow scene, by John Carlson; a view of Florence, by Edward D. Boit; "Bald Head Cliff," surf and rocks and salty spray, by Howard Russell, and some thatched cottages with gay flower gardens by Althea Hill Platt are among the gems of the collection. Charles Livingston Bull has a strong painting, entitled "The Jaguar." The lithe form of the animal is full of life. Alice Schille has a unique and attractive painting, "The Flower Market," and Spencer Baird Nichols, another celebrity, has a fine piece of work that he calls "Invocation."

The paintings are all sent by the American Federation of Art, which has headquarters in the old Octagon building, Washington, D. C. Miss Lela Mechlin is secretary. The late Frank D.
