

HOPE FOR MEXICO IN REPUBLICAN RULE

Administration Change Here Is Only Cure, Declares Henry Lane Wilson.

DEMOCRATS' ACT BLAMED

Ex-Ambassador to Republic Here on Visit Says Recognition of Huerta Would Have Blocked Mob's Reign in South.

"There is no hope for Mexico now until a Republican Administration comes into power in this country committed to the support and recognition of a government in Mexico strong enough to establish law and order."

Such is the opinion of Henry Lane Wilson, for four years United States Ambassador to Mexico, who spent yesterday in Portland. The future government in Mexico must be along the plan of the United States, Mr. Lane says, for the reason that 80 per cent of the population of the country to the south can neither read nor write and have no conception of constitutional government.

That American intervention in the present Administration is almost inevitable is feared by Mr. Wilson, owing to the policy of the Democratic Government. He decries this, believing it would mean that the United States would have to remain in Mexico and face no end of trouble and expense.

Mobs Said to Control.

Mexico today is under the control of three armed mobs, said Mr. Wilson. "By this I mean that there is widespread chaos in Mexico," said Mr. Wilson. "The intellect, wealth and industry of Mexico are at the mercy of 65,000 bandits. Part of these are under the leadership of Carranza, who made himself head of the government without the approval of the vast body of the people, and who will not be able to maintain himself in power."

"Another element is headed by Villa, whose barbarous methods and monstrous crimes have given him a peculiar celebrity in the unfortunate situation that exists. Villa has murdered more than 125 persons, and his hands are responsible for the slaughter of thousands of innocent persons. He is bitterly anti-American, though for the purpose of obtaining arms and ammunition he makes a pretense of being pro-American. For plundering American estates when he was a subordinate general in Madero's army I had Villa arrested and court-martialed. He escaped a year later from the penitentiary at the time of Madero's overthrow. I tell you that any government established by him will result in a reign of terror and cannot be permanent."

Zapata Also Termed Bandit.

"Zapata, the leader of the third element, is an Indian bandit unable to read or write and is responsible for the absolute destruction of industries and properties of two states. His followers are simple freebooters. It may be said with certainty that he is opposed to any regular constituted government in Mexico City."

"These three elements now are in control of the government of Mexico, interfering and adventurous policy of this Government. By the recognition of the government of President Huerta, who, whatever the defects of his character may have been and whatever view may have been taken of his part in the overthrow of Madero, stood for established governmental methods, law, order, protection of property and the industrious laboring classes of the country, peace would prevail throughout Mexico today."

Wilson's Act Condemned.

"The Wilson Administration, by recognition of Huerta, would have saved the sacrifice of over 100,000 Mexican lives, the impoverishment of Mexicans residing in Mexico and the creation of claims amounting to more than $200,000,000 for which this Government must ultimately be held responsible. Also there would have been no direct expenditure by our Government for extraordinary military and naval operations of an amount equal to one-third that proposed to be raised by the recent revenue bill."

Democratic Plan Attacked.

It is foolish to speak of a constitutional government in Mexico, contends Mr. Wilson.

"The majority of the people in Mexico are Indians, who have no more conception of the meaning of the word democracy than would Zulus or Hottentots," he said. "Their conception of liberty is license. They live to loot, and loot to live. Any government set up upon plans supposed to have been recommended by the Wilson Administration would have as much chance of enduring in Mexico as the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor if built upon quicksands."

"The American people have been taught the Mexican question by events. In the beginning a great many honest people believed President Wilson's policy, as far as the people understand it, was justified by the situation and that eventually it would prevail. The reverse has been true, and in the recent campaign the Mexican question undoubtedly cost Democracy thousands of votes."

NEW ROAD NEARLY DONE

CLACKAMAS SPENDS $12,000 ON MILWAUKIE OUTLET.

Cuts and Fills Bring Grade to Average of 2 Per Cent for Hard Surface Strip of One Mile.

Clackamas County is spending more than $12,000 in rebuilding the Milwaukie road between Milwaukie and the Multnomah County line at Sellwood. When completed it will be a hard-surface road the entire length, and will be at least 2 per cent. Archie Mason, a Portland contractor, has the work well advanced, although it will be some time before the job will be finished and the road opened to the public.

An entirely new road is being built, starting from the steel bridge over Johnson Creek and extending a distance of one mile to Sellwood. The heavy work consists of a deep cut through a rocky bluff just north of Johnson Creek, where the rock was blasted for about 200 feet for the roadway. Then there is a fill north of

DIECK PRESENTS BILL

CITY ASKED TO PAY EXPENSES OF DEFENSE AGAINST RECALL.

Commissioner Contends He Should Receive $263.25 Under Provision of Act Governing Election.

On the strength of a provision in the recall amendment to the state constitution providing for payment by the municipality of the campaign expenses of candidates sought to be recalled, City Commissioner Dieck has presented the City Council with a bill for $263.25, being the amount he expended in defending himself against the attacks of the recallers.

In the recent opinion of the State Supreme Court, in which the recall amendment was held to be operative, the statement is made that the provision for payment of campaign expenses needs further legislation. Commissioner Dieck contends that the further legislation mentioned may be enacted by the City Council as well as the State Legislature. He says he believes he is entitled to a refund of the expense he was put to defend himself against the recall.

City Auditor Barbur gave notice to all candidates yesterday that they must file statements of their expenditures in compliance with a provision of the election laws. None of the candidates in the recall election has filed such a statement as yet. The law requires the filing of the statements within 15 days after the election. This makes tomorrow the last day for the filing of the statements.

METHODIST PASTORS MEET

Plans to Enforce Prohibition Law Discussed by E. A. Baker.

The Methodist Ministers' Association of Portland met yesterday morning in the First Church. Rev. M. T. Wire read a paper on "Christianity and the European War."

E. A. Baker, representing the Anti-Saloon League, spoke on the plans for the enforcement of the prohibition law and the expediency of having a statewide campaign of revivals. He also emphasized the necessity of obtaining proper legislation regarding prohibition. A legislative committee was appointed, including Rev. C. O. McCulloch, Rev. Hiram Gould and Rev. C. C. Rarick.

The association will draft resolutions of sympathy as a memorial to the late Bishop Charles W. Smith, former bishop of the Methodist Church in Oregon, whose death took place in Washington, D. C., October 31.

ATHLETIC TALK SCHEDULED

Dr. George J. Fisher to Speak at Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

Dr. George J. Fisher, president of the Physical Directors' Society, now in session in Seattle, will speak to Portland Y. M. C. A. members tonight. A supper will be served at 6:15 o'clock and the address will follow.

The general theme of the address will be "A New Conception of Athletics." A volley ball tournament has been scheduled. Five games will be played by each team and every man who appears in uniform will have an opportunity to play. The athletic programme of the season will be discussed by each team and every man who appears in uniform will have an opportunity to play.

Physical Directors Griley and Smith, of the association, will return to Portland tonight with Dr. Fisher.

visit San Francisco and San Diego at the time of the opening of the big excursions in those cities. This is designed to be the most pretentious advertisement of the Rose Festival and the biggest lure for tourists to route their way through Oregon in 1915 that has ever been devised. The excursion was decided on yesterday at an enthusiastic meeting of the Royal Rosarians in the Commercial Club.

Committee to Arrange.

By Eilers is chairman of the committee on the excursion. A committee of 27 will be appointed at once by Prince Regent W. J. Hofmann to work out in detail the plans for the excursion.

A rallying call will be sent to Rosarian members of Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Pendleton and Eugene, Salem and other cities of the Northwest requesting them to join the party if possible on its southern trip. In its "all-white" Royal Rosarian special train. Hundreds of columns were written about the Royal Rosarians in the newspapers of California and the United States in their trip two years ago, and motion-picture films carried the names of the Rosarians and the Portland Rose Festival throughout the world. Because of the excursion at that time thousands of visitors were attracted to the Rose Festival the following summer and innumerable tourists were led to route their way through Portland for the Festival. The striking results of the former trip had much to do with the decision to make a second and greater trip.

Party to Leave Next Month.

The Rosarians will leave Portland so as to arrive in San Francisco December 31, and at that time they will take charge of the dedication of the Oregon building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. A day will be spent in Oakland and Palatial Train in View.

The finest special train that has ever gone out of the Northwest will be arranged for the trip. The cost of the excursion will be $62.50 for the round trip—no rate in effect for ordinary accommodations on the regular trains to and from the exposition cities in 1915.

Throughout the trip Oregon and the Northwest, the Portland Rose Festival and the urgent suggestion to tourists to route themselves by way of the Northwest on their return trip will be given prominence by the Rosarians.

It is believed that the excursion will win attendance to the Rose Festival and swing public attention toward the beautiful Northwest better than any plan that has ever before been carried out to advertise the Rose Festival and the Northwest.
