

SPY CALLING FACE OF CERTAIN DOOM

Carl Hans Lody Writes American Friend of Intention to Confess All.

FULL PENALTY EXPECTED

"Others Have Suffered and I Must Accept Reward of Fate," Says German Naval Lieutenant on Eve of Trial.

OMAHA, Nov. 13.—A letter written by Carl Hans Lody, dated "The Towers," London, October 23, has been received in Omaha, and it throws some light on the plight of the young German naval officer who was executed last Friday for "furnishing valuable information to the enemy."

That Lody accepted his fate calmly is indicated no stronger, in published dispatches than in this letter. He apparently realized that the charge would be sustained by the court-martial and that he would pay the extreme penalty for the sentence.

Friends to Be Protected.

A liberal translation of the letter is set forth as follows: "My feelings run riot when I can permit myself to review the dramatic events of the last three years and what is to be the probable climax of it. I am prepared to make a clean breast of all this trouble, but I must protect my friends in the fatherland and avoid as much as possible humiliation for those who have been near and dear to me."

"I am in the tower hourly while I am confined here an unfriendly guard paces the corridor. My counselor is an attorney of standing, but I sometimes feel that he is trying to do his duty to his country rather than defend his client. Next week I shall know my fate, although there can be hardly a doubt as to what it is. I have attended to such legal matters as were necessary, but whether my wishes shall ever be carried out I do not know."

"Prisoner Expects His Doom." "You may have opportunity to say a word to some of those for whom I still feel an interest. Ask them to judge me not too harshly, but I sometimes feel that I do not know my duty to my country. Maybe some historian will record me among the despised class of war victims. A spiritual adviser as ready as I am to give me any comfort, but I realize that what your own General Sherman said of war is true. He has promised to care for some of my personal affairs."

"Doubtless my demise shall be heralded as that of a spy, but I have a spiritual consolation. Others have suffered and I must accept the reward of fate. I am still your affectionate friend, "CARL HANS LODY."

BAKER HAS FIRST SNOW

Flakes Fall All Day and Hills Near City Covered at Night.

BAKER, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The first snow of the season fell today, a slight flurry of tiny flakes beginning to fall this morning and keeping up nearly all day. The sun shone brightly, but there was a strong overhead wind and the snow evidently was blown from clouds hanging over the Elkhorn Mountains. Despite the snow flurry, the weather virtually was ideal all day.

The snow did not stay on the ground, but tonight the nearby hills are covered and the temperature is dropping rapidly in Baker.

53 BRITISH OFFICERS FALL

Major-General Wounded and 23 Dead Given in Latest List.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A casualty list issued tonight under the date of November 4 contains the names of 53 British officers who have been killed in action and 30 who have been wounded.

Among those killed was Lieutenant-Colonel H. T. Crispin, of the Royal Sussex regiment, who was killed in the capture of Major-General E. S. Bullfin, of the Aersch command, and Lieutenant-Colonel H. E. Leach, of the South Wales borderers.

AUSTRIANS HOLD 80,000

Enemy's Wounded Prisoners Treated Like Country's Own.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A telegram from Vienna says that 72 officers and 73,214 men are prisoners of war in the Austrian concentration camps, says an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Company.

"The enemy's wounded are being treated like our own soldiers," the telegram says, "while the officers and prisoners are interned in castles and in great private houses and the captured men in great barracks."

BRITISH APPEAL FOR MEN

(Continued From First Page.)

duration of the war" means precisely what it says and that men will be discharged when the war is over, "with all convenient speed." It is also advertised that married men or widowers with children will be accepted. Separation allowance under army conditions is issuable at once to the wife and in certain circumstances to other dependents.

The advertising for recruits increases in volume as rapidly. Buses, streets, and almost every morning newspaper in London contain placards urging men to enlist. Posters appear on billboards and in empty shop windows. Even hotels and theaters are making a brave show of patriotism with printed notices around the buildings.

No Doubt is Expressed. There is no note of inability to raise the million men in any of the editorials of this week, but there are many suggestions of how recruiting can be expedited and many as to the comfort of the recruits. For example, the Chronicle today suggests that at the Christmas season arrangements should be made for recruits to visit their homes. "To which some number of them may never pay another Christmas visit."

It suggests that they should receive free railway transportation for the purpose, since there are men in camp at Aldershot whose homes are in Cornwall, Wales, Scotland and Ireland and, since the government absolutely guarantees the earnings of the railways during ing war time, that there ought to be no difficulty about arranging it. "The Country Needs Men," the leader in the Times of today, enumerates the terrible losses Germany has endured without flinching, expressing doubt whether the reproach of a German Socialist paper for saying that the total losses of the Germans amounted to three-quarters of a million men was justified. The paper says that every call for recruits in England has been met; that the War Office has had all the recruits with which it was able to deal, and that the difficulties attending early enlistment have been to a great extent overcome. Concluding its appeal the Times says:

"Again the call for both men and officers goes forth and no gentleman in England, who is able to bear arms should ignore it. We are glad to know that there is already a fresh rush to the recruiting office, but we still shall need more men, and yet more officers, if we are to crush the menace which has too long brooded over Europe, and to win peace and happiness for those who will come after us. England has never asked for her sons in vain. We do not think she will ask in vain today."

JAPANESE WARN CHINA

PEOPLE TOLD GERMANY IS MAKING PUPPET OF NATION.

Example of Turkey Cited in Response to Demand That Troops Be Withdrawn From Shan-Tung.

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The Japanese press generally expresses mortification at the intimation that China will demand the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shan-Tung Province. The view is expressed that China is still acting under German influence. The Tsing-Tau and the Shan-Tung railway questions, the Japanese newspapers insist, will be decided after the conclusion of the European war, and Japan will demand the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shan-Tung Province. The view is expressed that China is still acting under German influence.

The Tsing-Tau and the Shan-Tung railway questions, the Japanese newspapers insist, will be decided after the conclusion of the European war, and Japan will demand the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shan-Tung Province. The view is expressed that China is still acting under German influence.

It is asserted by leading Tokyo newspapers that Germany has been treating China in the same way that it has treated Turkey, and that if the Asiatic republic continues to permit itself to be used as a puppet, it may become necessary for other powers to impress upon Yuan-Shih-Kai's government the changed situation in the world at large.

The Asahi Shimbun, commenting on the fall of Tsing-Tau and the capture of the German legation at Tientsin, restored in the Far East, suggests that the utmost efforts be made to promote commercial economies in this part of the world, in the hope that the republic will see that military capacity alone does not constitute Japan's prestige, but that also its ability to advance the interests of the world in various aspects is an important factor.

It suggests further that China especially should be impressed with the fact that the republic is developing the republic's national interests.

1500 SEE HUBBARD FAIR

FINE DISPLAY OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS GREET VISITORS.

Large Gathering Expected at Institute Today and Fair Weather is Predicted.

HUBBARD, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—In spite of adverse weather conditions more than 1500 people attended the Hubbard Fair and Institute at its opening today. Large exhibits in agriculture, horticulture and domestic science, as well as floral and textile displays fill the exhibit halls. The corn and potato exhibit is considered by the judges to be one of the best they have seen this season.

Hubbard High as well as neighboring schools have made an exhibit that is regarded as remarkable. In the live-stock pens are thousands of dollars' worth of high-grade Holsteins, Jerseys and Ayrshires, with Holsteins predominating.

The free dinner given by the citizens of Hubbard and served by the Redekabs and Tythian Sisters to the visitors, was one of the big features of the day's entertainment. Instructive and illustrated lectures by Professors Larson, Lamb and Pitts and Miss Davis, of the Agricultural College, were the features of the institute work.

Band concerts were given by the Hubbard Military Band. The Hubbard Institute, moving pictures and vaudeville closed the day's programme. Fine weather has been promised by the weather man for tomorrow and several thousand are expected by the fair management.

PLOTTING RIVAL HELD

ARREST COMES AFTER WINNING GIRL FOR WHOM HE STOLE.

Loot From Parcel Post Sent Other Admirer of Southern Young Woman, Who Gives in to Officials.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Thomas S. Stone, 24, who was a messenger for the United States Express Company, was arrested tonight charged with stealing jewelry from the parcel post and blaming the theft on a rival for the hand of a girl residing at Fort Smith, Ark.

Stone's run was between Little Rock, Ark., and Alexandria, La., but he was a frequent visitor to Fort Smith, where his rival also lived. He took the jewelry from a package, it is charged, in January, 1913, and sent it to his rival. He then wrote an anonymous letter to a Postoffice inspector, saying his rival was a fence for parcel post thieves.

The rival, whose name is withheld, turned over the jewelry to inspectors. Stone was successful in his courtship. After the liquidation of the express company he moved to Fort Smith, Chicago. He was working as a salesman when arrested. He said he was ready to "take his medicine."

KAISER IS AT COBLENTZ

Family Invited to Visit Quarters Guarded by Zeppelins.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—This information reaches The Hague in a telegram from Berlin, which reads as follows: "Emperor William has now established his headquarters at Coblenz and he has invited his five daughters-in-law and his sons, including the Crown Prince, to come to Coblenz and visit him. The emperor is accompanied by heavy machine guns, and continues circling over His Majesty's private apartments."

Embargo Put on Circassian Walnut.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Exportation of lumber of all kinds has been forbidden by the Russian government. The embargo specifically mentions Circassian walnut, which is prized by American furniture makers.

EX-PORTLAND MAN IS WAR PRISONER

Herr Oscar Iden-Zeller and Exploring Party Are Captured in Northern Siberia.

GERMANS ARE IN EXILE

Leader Well Known Here, Following Secret Flight From Russian Capital After Indiscretion in Diplomatic Service.

Herr Oscar Iden-Zeller, German savant and former intrepid attache of the German Embassy at St. Petersburg, who fled to Portland, Or., about seven years ago after committing an indiscretion in diplomatic circles at St. Petersburg, has been captured in the Eastern chain of the Mazurian Lakes. "The fighting in the region of Soldau continues. The German offensive has been repulsed in the direction of Thorn, on both banks of the Vistula toward Ryfyn and Wiclawek and further west. The enemy brought here a part of his troops from Moscow."

In the Czenstochowa region the Germans are moving gradually toward the Silesian frontier. In Galicia our offensive toward Dunaletz nowhere encountered resistance. Heavy losses inflicted. We occupied Krosno and inflicted heavy losses on the Austrian rear-guard.

In the region of Sanok and Turka, where we stormed night after night a well fortified position, the Austrians on the morning of November 11 began retreating. In the Carpathians on the road from Nadvorna to Marmaroszkeg, near Pasieczna, we defeated a body of hostile troops. Turkish torpedo-boats have been sighted near Soulina, on the Black Sea.

Other dispatches from Petrograd and Berlin conflict, victories being claimed both by Russia and Germany in the engagement in the vicinity of Kallaz, Russian Poland. The Russians say the Germans suffered a severe defeat here, losing 12 heavy guns and leaving many dead bodies.

The Germans report a second repulse of the Russian cavalry in the same engagement, after the detachment had been defeated at Krosno, a north-west of Kallaz. Silesia is free from danger of invasion, says Berlin.

Berlin admits that new battles have begun to the east of the Mazurian lakes, saying that so far the engagements have not been decisive. Vienna reports, received by way of Berlin, that the Austrians continue to pursue the defeated enemy, who is in full retreat along the entire front, and that the heights along the River Save have been occupied by Austrian trains carrying many thousands of Serbians have been cut off.

The Austrians report the capture of several ammunition depots and military train wagons, hospitals, tents and other war materials and numerous prisoners. A victory by the cavalry over a Russian infantry corps at Kosminsk also is claimed.

Retirement Is Explained. The dispatch concludes: "The Austro-Hungarian retirement in Galicia continues in accordance with the Austrian program. It has not been disturbed in any manner by the troops of Emperor Nicholas are suffering in the defeats inflicted on them in recent conflicts."

It is officially announced at Vienna that the Russians have occupied Tarnow, Jaslo and Krosno, three towns in Galicia. The towns of Tarnow, Jaslo and Krosno are in the western part of Galicia. Tarnow has a population of 21,000, Jaslo is 30 miles southeast of Tarnow and has a population of about 7000, while Krosno is 13 miles southeast of Jaslo, on the River Wistok, and has about 5000 population.

In a lengthy review of the earlier operations on the battlefields of Russia Poland and Galicia, Professor Bernard Pares, the British official correspondent with the Russian army, gives a sketch of the spirit which he says pervades the Russian army.

After referring to the confidence of the Russians in their artillery and their lack of respect for the rifle fire of their opponents, Professor Pares continues: "The British official correspondent with the Russian army, gives a sketch of the spirit which he says pervades the Russian army."

Contrary to the small part. Professor Pares says that the cavalry played but an insignificant part in the fighting in Galicia. He says the Russians are in a very difficult position. In several cases they fired into the air and the attacking Russians sometimes when, when, he says, the members of the Butenians would come over to the Russians, who considered themselves at home in this part of Galicia.

The Cossacks, who were preceding the army, offered little violence in this field, says Professor Pares. Though they were led to adopt drastic but not necessarily violent measures in dealing with certain hostile inhabitants of the district.

"Or, tomorrow, from Constantinople, translated literally, reads as follows: "With God's help the enemy has been forced to retreat along the entire front, pursued by us on all sides."

SCOTT WILL HEAD STAFF

Brigadier-General Is Selected as Chief of Army.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Brigadier-General Hugh Scott was selected by President Wilson today to be chief-of-staff of the United States Army on the retirement next Monday of Major-General Wetherpoon.

The position of Major-General created by General Wetherpoon's retirement will be filled by the nomination of Brigadier-General Frederick F. Funston, now in command at Vera Cruz.

General Bliss also will become Major-General. Secretary Garrison's statement of the promotion adds that the chief of staff of the army is due as follows:

First, to the infantry; second, to the infantry; third, to the coast artillery. "The vacancies will occur, first by the promotion of General Funston; second, by the retirement of General Wetherpoon; third, by the promotion of General Scott. On the occurrence of the vacancies, the following colonels will be promoted to fill the same: Henry Greene, infantry; William A. Mann, infantry; Frederick S. Strong, coast artillery."

General Scott, who became assistant chief-of-staff when General Wetherpoon succeeded General Wood as chief, was graduated from the Military Academy in 1875. He has spent his military life in the cavalry branch, with the exception of the periods when he was engaged in staff or special service. More closely than any officer of his rank in the Army he has been identified with the Indians and semi-civilized wards of the Government, and the remarkable measure of success that attended his administration among the American Indians is well known to the staff, is contained in a late Petrograd dispatch:

"In Eastern Prussia the fighting continues in the region of Stalluponen, the possession of the outlets in the Eastern chain of the Mazurian Lakes. "The fighting in the region of Soldau continues. The German offensive has been repulsed in the direction of Thorn, on both banks of the Vistula toward Ryfyn and Wiclawek and further west. The enemy brought here a part of his troops from Moscow."

In the Czenstochowa region the Germans are moving gradually toward the Silesian frontier. In Galicia our offensive toward Dunaletz nowhere encountered resistance. Heavy losses inflicted. We occupied Krosno and inflicted heavy losses on the Austrian rear-guard.

In the region of Sanok and Turka, where we stormed night after night a well fortified position, the Austrians on the morning of November 11 began retreating. In the Carpathians on the road from Nadvorna to Marmaroszkeg, near Pasieczna, we defeated a body of hostile troops.

Turkish torpedo-boats have been sighted near Soulina, on the Black Sea. Other dispatches from Petrograd and Berlin conflict, victories being claimed both by Russia and Germany in the engagement in the vicinity of Kallaz, Russian Poland.

The Russians say the Germans suffered a severe defeat here, losing 12 heavy guns and leaving many dead bodies. The Germans report a second repulse of the Russian cavalry in the same engagement, after the detachment had been defeated at Krosno, a north-west of Kallaz. Silesia is free from danger of invasion, says Berlin.

Berlin admits that new battles have begun to the east of the Mazurian lakes, saying that so far the engagements have not been decisive. Vienna reports, received by way of Berlin, that the Austrians continue to pursue the defeated enemy, who is in full retreat along the entire front, and that the heights along the River Save have been occupied by Austrian trains carrying many thousands of Serbians have been cut off.

The Austrians report the capture of several ammunition depots and military train wagons, hospitals, tents and other war materials and numerous prisoners. A victory by the cavalry over a Russian infantry corps at Kosminsk also is claimed.

Retirement Is Explained. The dispatch concludes: "The Austro-Hungarian retirement in Galicia continues in accordance with the Austrian program. It has not been disturbed in any manner by the troops of Emperor Nicholas are suffering in the defeats inflicted on them in recent conflicts."

It is officially announced at Vienna that the Russians have occupied Tarnow, Jaslo and Krosno, three towns in Galicia. The towns of Tarnow, Jaslo and Krosno are in the western part of Galicia. Tarnow has a population of 21,000, Jaslo is 30 miles southeast of Tarnow and has a population of about 7000, while Krosno is 13 miles southeast of Jaslo, on the River Wistok, and has about 5000 population.

In a lengthy review of the earlier operations on the battlefields of Russia Poland and Galicia, Professor Bernard Pares, the British official correspondent with the Russian army, gives a sketch of the spirit which he says pervades the Russian army.

After referring to the confidence of the Russians in their artillery and their lack of respect for the rifle fire of their opponents, Professor Pares continues: "The British official correspondent with the Russian army, gives a sketch of the spirit which he says pervades the Russian army."

Contrary to the small part. Professor Pares says that the cavalry played but an insignificant part in the fighting in Galicia. He says the Russians are in a very difficult position. In several cases they fired into the air and the attacking Russians sometimes when, when, he says, the members of the Butenians would come over to the Russians, who considered themselves at home in this part of Galicia.

The Cossacks, who were preceding the army, offered little violence in this field, says Professor Pares. Though they were led to adopt drastic but not necessarily violent measures in dealing with certain hostile inhabitants of the district.

"Or, tomorrow, from Constantinople, translated literally, reads as follows: "With God's help the enemy has been forced to retreat along the entire front, pursued by us on all sides."

SCOTT WILL HEAD STAFF

Brigadier-General Is Selected as Chief of Army.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Brigadier-General Hugh Scott was selected by President Wilson today to be chief-of-staff of the United States Army on the retirement next Monday of Major-General Wetherpoon.

The position of Major-General created by General Wetherpoon's retirement will be filled by the nomination of Brigadier-General Frederick F. Funston, now in command at Vera Cruz.

General Bliss also will become Major-General. Secretary Garrison's statement of the promotion adds that the chief of staff of the army is due as follows:

First, to the infantry; second, to the infantry; third, to the coast artillery. "The vacancies will occur, first by the promotion of General Funston; second, by the retirement of General Wetherpoon; third, by the promotion of General Scott. On the occurrence of the vacancies, the following colonels will be promoted to fill the same: Henry Greene, infantry; William A. Mann, infantry; Frederick S. Strong, coast artillery."

General Scott, who became assistant chief-of-staff when General Wetherpoon succeeded General Wood as chief, was graduated from the Military Academy in 1875. He has spent his military life in the cavalry branch, with the exception of the periods when he was engaged in staff or special service. More closely than any officer of his rank in the Army he has been identified with the Indians and semi-civilized wards of the Government, and the remarkable measure of success that attended his administration among the American Indians is well known to the staff, is contained in a late Petrograd dispatch:

"In Eastern Prussia the fighting continues in the region of Stalluponen, the possession of the outlets in the

A Better Job is a worth-while ambition Your appearance will help land it The name of this old reliable concern in your suit or overcoat at stamps you as an economical man of judgment It's the little things like this that help land the big ones Brownsville Woolen Mill Store Third at Morrison Street

BRYAN IS UNDECIDED Action on South American Neutrality in Abeyance. MISSION IS DELICATE ONE Movement for Uniform Regulation of Wireless Expected to Grow Out of Allies' Protest to Colombia and Ecuador.

OREGON CITY TRIMS BILLS Fewer Police Likely and Engineer May Lose His Job. OREGON CITY, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—A budget for 1915, based on a 10-mill levy and containing many of the provisions of the tentative estimates made by a special finance committee two weeks ago, will be drafted by the Council November 23.

FALL KILLS HUBBARD MAN G. A. Johnson, Veterinary Surgeon, Meets Death in Barn. SALEM, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Falling from a ladder leading to the hayloft in his father's livery stable at Hubbard, George A. Johnson, a veterinary surgeon, was killed Thursday. Coroner Clough found that the man's neck was broken. Mr. Johnson entered the loft about 7 o'clock to throw hay to the horses. Shortly afterwards his body was found at the foot of the ladder. While none saw him fall it is evident that the injury that caused his death was received in that way.

Ship Reported on Fire Is Safe. LONDON, Nov. 13.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the steamer Citia di Savona, which sent out a wireless S. O. S. call when 150 miles off Catania, Sicily, saying she was on fire, has arrived at Catania. The fire was extinguished by soldiers on board.

Manning's 35c Coffee There are "joyous" books and "glad" books—Some good ones and some bad, But AMAZING GRACE is gladder than The gladder of the glad.

Amazing Grace A NEW NOVEL BY Kate Trimble Sharber Author of The Annals of Ann GET YOUR COPY AT GILL'S THE J. K. GILL CO. Third and Alder

Watch Resinol Soap improve your skin and hair Try Resinol Soap for a week. You will be surprised to see how it clears and freshens your complexion, even in that short time.

There are "joyous" books and "glad" books—Some good ones and some bad, But AMAZING GRACE is gladder than The gladder of the glad.

GET YOUR COPY AT GILL'S THE J. K. GILL CO. Third and Alder