Sunday Opening to Dispense With Usual Ceremonies.

FINISHING TOUCHES GIVEN

New Home Is of Moorish Design With Interior of Exquisite Harmony in Colors-Bright Future for Theater Is Predicted.

Next Sunday night the Orpheum will re-enter the Portland theatrical field. It will open in the new theater con-structed by the Blodgett Company at Broadway and Stark streets, the com-pleted building having been leased by John W. Considine for a period of 10 years. The new home of the Or-pheum is declared to be one of the handsomest and best equipped theaters on the Pacific Coast. on the Pacific Coast.

on the Pacific Coast.

It is Moorish design and the interior finishing will present most exquisite harmony of color. John Coffinberry will be the manager of the new theater, and it is understood that he is making an attempt to assemble all the crew who were associated with him prior to last July, when the Orpheum went "dark in Portland" for the first season since it played its initial bill in 1908. in 1908

In seating capacity, it is said that the Orpheum will be, by all odds, the largest in Portland.

Finishing Touches Rushed. An army of men are at work on the building finishing up the details and getting ready for the installation of the carpets and movable furniture, which is to begin Friday.

As planned by Manager Coffinberry, there will be no speeches or any of the usual features which custom heretofore has decreed for theatrical openings. The house doors will be opened at the usual hour, the audience assembled and the presentation of the bill proceeded with in the ordinary

When the Orpheum was closed last July, the ceremony was in charge of the Muts and Trixie Frigunzi was the star of the bill, the combination giving a jig-time exhibition of nailing down the lid.

H. C. Robertson, an old Portland

resident and now general manager of the Sullivan and Considine interests, has been in Portland for the past week in connection with the completion and furnishing of the new theater.

Conditions Are Pleasing. "Mr Considine is delighted with the location he finally has been able to secure in Portland and we have no fear of the future from a financial standpoint," said Mr. Robertson. "We are not only on the Great White Way and theatrical row of Portland, but the Orpheum is mixed right in with the hotel district. Streetcar service could not be better, Many of the East Side lines discharge passengers directly in lines discharge passengers directly in front of the building, while many of the most important lines pass on Washington street only a short block
