Mr. French Accused of Drawing Widows' Pensions in Fictitious Names and Cashing Bogus Orders for Road Work.

ENTERPRISE, Or., Nov. 19 .- (Special.)-Three indictments against J. A. French, Wallowa County Judge, were returned by the grand jury today. They charge forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses. Mr. French is at his home in this city, but has not been arrested yet. The grand jury is said to be engaged now in investigating other county officers. Mr. French has resigned and his resignation has been forwarded to Governor West, who will appoint his successor.

The evidence against Mr. French con sists of more than 40 county warrants, which it is said he drew in names of fictitious claimants, part of these warrants being for widows' pensions and others for men employed on road work. They date back many months and the total amount involved is about $2000, Pension Warrants Figure.

In the case of the widows' pension warrants it is said Mr. French, as County Judge, prepared petitions in the name of women who never existed, writing in names, age and all details of family and financial condition. Then he drew the warrants, it is said, indorsing the names of the supposed wid-ows. The explanation is reported to ows. The explanation is reported to have been made by him that the women they could get the money from him at their convenience and not be put to the necessity of coming to town during banking hours. Pensions for two fictitious women have been paid regu-larly to Mr. French for some time, it

The warrants for road work are in Mr. French, it is said.

DEMOCRATIC FALL

Representative Humphrey, of Seattle, Says Fight on Business Now Will End.

Washington Member of Congres Avers Ousting of Underwood Law Is Need for Lasting Prosperity. Harbor Funds in View.

Business conditions soon will resume their normal status, said W. E. Hum-phrey, of Seattle, Representative of the First Washington Congressional dis-trict, who was in Portland yesterday. Representative Humphrey expresses the belief that the United States will derive considerable immediate com-mercial benefit from the European war mercial benefit from the European warmot'so much on account of the buying that must be done by the nations of Europe, but on account of the buying that must be done by the people of America in their own markets.
Europe is unable to supply America with the manufactured articles that America ordinarily buys in Europe, so America must manufacture them itself,

He also takes hope from the reduced Democratic majority in the National House of Representatives. With the narrow margin that the Democrats will have in the next House, he says, they will be unable to continue their parassing tactics against business in Tariff Change Required. "The Democratic majority in both the House and the Senste," said Representative Humphrey, "has kept up a continuous campaign of opposition to business for political effect. Now that the House majority has been cut down to a dangerous margin this cannot be continued. This situation will instill new confidence into the business world and will result in material industrial advantage to all parts of the country." Mr. Humphrey believes, however, that permanent prosperity cannot come while the Underwood tariff law is in effect. "I would not be surprised, before another six months passes around, that the income of the Nation again will be found inadequate and that another tax will have to be levied.

will have to be levied.

He added parenthetically that the vote also records the demise of the Bull Moose party. Sixth Term Served.

Mr. Humphrey now is serving his sixth term in Congress. He has been re-elected for his seventh term. He is the ranking Republican member of the rivers and harbors committee and has been most active in the performance of his duties in that connection. He has interested himself particularly in harbor development on the Pacific Coast. and devotes quite as much of his attention to Oregon as to Wash-harbors on the Oregon coast.

Mr. Humphrey thinks that the appropriation for the north jetty and other improvements of the mouth of the Coiumbia should be authorized at an early session, and that this project be placed in the sundry civil bill so that the actual money for construction work will be available just as it is needed.

There is no question, he said, that the mouth of the river and the Celllo Assault upon John Berry, of Ten Mile:

He doubts, however, whether such a bill can be passed at that time, as the session will have an abundance of other work to do.
