

GERMAN SHIPS DUE OFF VICTORIA TODAY

Cruisers Coming Awaited by British and Vessels Ready to Put to Sea.

SUBMARINES SEEK FOES

Kaiser's Warships Expected Off Cape Flattery at Noon and Forces at Esquimalt Lie Prepared for Possible Attack.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Unless they have been delayed by unforeseen circumstances or have been forced to change their course to some other part of the Pacific Ocean, the big German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau will be due to arrive off Cape Flattery any time after tomorrow noon, according to the calculations of British naval officers.

Weather May Delay Raid.

Weather conditions or engine-room trouble, however, may have delayed the German warships, and in that event they might not arrive off Cape Flattery for a week or two. Any delay would defeat Admiral Count Von Spee's plans which are said to involve a raid on the British Columbia ports before he is forced to give battle to the British and Japanese cruisers and battleships now reported to be closing in on him on the Pacific coast.

Warships Reported Ready.

Efforts to figure out the naval strength at Esquimalt are unavailing for the reason that there has been a redistribution of the British ships in the North Pacific. The Japanese cruiser IZUMI is believed to be near Esquimalt with her bunkers brim full of coal.

The investigation, says Mr. Deich, was prompted by the presence of bruises on the arms and face of Mrs. Ronning, and scratches and bruises on Kirkland's face. Neighbors of Mrs. Ronning, who lived at 411 1/2 East Mill street, told of hearing the couple quarrelling on several occasions, and some are said to have declared Kirkland had threatened her life. Kirkland told a straightforward story to the officers after his arrest. He has known Mrs. Ronning for two years, he said, and frequently visited her. They became involved in some business deals in which both lost money. Kirkland declared that loan sharks were responsible for their financial troubles, which Mrs. Ronning gave in three letters as the reason for her suicide. The two quarreled sometimes, Kirkland admitted, and it was on these occasions that Mrs. Ronning threatened to take her own life. She already had written letters telling of her intention to commit suicide when he came to see her Thursday night. Decision Sudden, He Says. He was in the room with her when she drank the acid, he says, but she did it so quickly that he was unable to prevent her. He immediately summoned the landlady of the rooming-house and then called Dr. George H. Buck, who arrived shortly before the woman died. Mrs. Ronning was about 45 years old, and had no relatives in Portland. Neighbors say she bore a good reputation. She was employed in Oregon City up to the time of her death, but lived in the house at 411 1/2 Mill street. Kirkland explained the scratches on his face by saying he had been intoxicated and had fallen on the street. The official cause of death probably will be released today when the investigations are completed. Los Angeles Has $100,000 Fire. O'Brien, of First street, and was accompanied by her sister, Frances, and Miss Helen Baldwin. They were going south on Park street, and collided with the delivery wagon which was west on Mill street. According to the report of H. C. Balen, patrolman, both machines were going at a fair rate of speed. Arizona Votes to Hang 12.
