

JAPAN ENLARGES WAR PROGRAMME

Cabinet Asks More Troops; Increased Part in World's Affairs Predicted.

LONG SEACOAST INVOLVED

Solidarity of Anglo-Japanese Alliance Declared to Depend on Strength of Empire—Mission to Be Fulfilled.

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A larger army and more ships for the navy were recommended by Count Okuma, the Prime Minister, at a meeting of the government parties called to arrange their programme for the Imperial Diet, which will assemble December 5.

The forthcoming session of the Diet promises to be of more than usual interest, for the Okuma Cabinet, as a Cabinet of the minority parties, must expect to meet some opposition from the Seiyukai, or Conservative party, which controls the majority of the seats in the House of Representatives.

Two New Divisions Wanted.

The Okuma programme, as outlined at the meeting of his political friends, calls for two more divisions in the army.

"After careful consideration of the problem of national defense from the viewpoint of diplomacy and finance," said the Premier, "the Ministry has come to the conclusion that the international situation does not permit the postponement of an increase in the army."

Stronger Navy Needed, Too.

"Army increase is opposed," he declared, "on the ground of our growing intimacy with Russia. The Ministry is doing its best to advance this intimacy, but this more intimate relationship is no reason for neglecting an expedition measure of national defense. Also, we must remember that the solidarity of the Anglo-Japanese alliance depends upon the strength of this empire. Strong nation, as we are, ours is a seagirt country, and an efficient navy is needed to maintain our connection with the continent and to fulfill our mission."

Island Policy Questioned.

It is regarded as not unlikely that the Seiyukai opposition will interpellate the government on the disposition of Kiau-Chau and the islands in the Southern Pacific, including the Caroline, Mariana and Iwojima islands, which were recently occupied by Japanese warships in the war against Germany.

Already some capital is being invested in these islands, and experts from the ministry of agriculture and commerce have been sent there to study the question of exploitation of the marine resources.

PAGANISM WARNING GIVEN

Conversion of China Only Means of Saving World, Says Chinese Girl.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 20.—"Unless China is Christianized by the rest of the world she will eventually lead the rest of the world to paganism," declares Miss Ida M. Scudder, a converted Chinese woman of rank, in an address before the International Medical Missionary Conference here today. She urged the evangelization of China by native teachers, educated in mission schools.

EASTERN COLD WAVE ENDS

Reaction Quickly Restoring Normal November Temperatures.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The cold waves which spread over the Southern states last night and today, forcing the mercury below the freezing point and extending north to the Middle Atlantic states, had spent its force to-night and, according to forecasters at the weather bureau, a reaction with quick effect is bringing higher temperatures.

Reports from Atlanta early tonight showed a temperature of 24 degrees prevailing there. At Jacksonville, Fla., it was 34; at Mobile 40, Chattanooga 34, Memphis 34, and Charlotte, N. C., 28.

CHOLERA TURKEY'S ALLY

Missionary Says Disease Is as Formidable as Armies.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 20.—The menace of cholera constitutes a defense of Turkey against the Russians fully as formidable as the Turkish armies, according to Rev. George C. Reynolds, of Van, Turkey, before the medical missionary conference which ended its session here today. Mr. Reynolds also said the possibility of a holy war seemed remote because of the indifference of the Moslems generally to the alleged appeals of the Turkish leaders.

Oregon Legislators, Nos. 19, 20, 21, 22

C. L. Hawley, Re-Elected Senator of Polk and Benton; William T. Grier, Representative-Elect of Polk; E. D. Cusick, Senator-Elect of Linn and Lane, and George W. Weeks, Representative-Elect of Marion.

C. L. Hawley.

William T. Grier.

E. D. Cusick.

George W. Weeks.

DALLAS, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—C. L. Hawley, re-elected State Senator from Polk and Benton counties, is a native of Polk County, having been born in Monmouth, and having resided in Monmouth and McCoy in this county all his life.

Senator Hawley was a member of the lower house of the Oregon Legislature prior to his election to the Senate four years ago. In the recent primary he received the nomination from the Republican, Progressive and Democratic parties. He is a staunch Republican of long standing. In his private life he has attained a state-wide reputation as the owner of blooded livestock. In public life he has taken much interest in all the progressive movements started in this county, was one of the organizers of the Polk County Fair Association, declined the presidency of this institution, but has been a member of the board of directors since its inception. He is well liked in this county, and is considered one of the best representatives ever sent to the Legislature from this section.

At the present time Senator Hawley is living on his big farm near McCoy.

DALLAS, Or., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—William T. Grier, newly-elected Representative to the Legislature from Polk County, is a Republican of long standing. He is the manager of the Falls City Lumber Company, at Falls City, a position he has filled since coming to the state in 1905.

Mr. Grier was born in Charlotte, Eaton County, Michigan, July 29, 1874. He came to Oregon in 1905, locating in Falls City. For six years continually he has been a member of the City Council at Falls City. Though never an active candidate for this position, the voters of Falls City forced the office upon him. His standing in his home community is evidenced by the vote of more than two to one accorded him over his Democratic opponent. Two years ago his opponent, then a candidate for Joint Representative, nearly carried Falls City. Mr. Grier is a business man, and was elected on that account as much as anything else, without making a campaign, and as against a candidate seeking a return to the Legislature.

ALBANY, Or., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—E. D. Cusick, who has been chosen State Senator from the Fourth Senatorial District, comprising Linn and Lane counties, is president of the bank of J. W. Cusick & Co., of this city, and is one of Albany's most prominent men.

Born in Marion County in 1867, he has spent his entire life in Oregon. He came to Linn County with his parents when a small boy and attended school at Albany College and the University of Oregon. In 1887 he entered the old Linn County Bank, at this city, and after working there for three years was employed for two years in the Ladd & Bush Bank, at Salem. In 1892 the bank of J. W. Cusick & Co. was established in this city, and he has been with that institution ever since, assisting in building it into one of the Valley's best-known banking houses. He was cashier of the bank for many years, and became president four years ago.

For many years Mr. Cusick has been identified prominently with the city's civic life, and has taken an active interest in public affairs. He has served as City Treasurer of Albany and held positions of trust and honor in the Albany Commercial Club and other local organizations. He is a member of the different branches of the Masonic fraternity and the Albany Lodge of Elks.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—George W. Weeks is a farmer of Marion County who has been honored by his constituents with a seat in the lower branch of the State Legislature. His farm is one of the best in the county, and Mr. Weeks in its management is abreast of the times in every respect.

He was born in Galesburg, Ill., in 1859, and when 13 years old left the city for the farm. He moved to Carson City in 1872, and came to Oregon in 1875, where he has since resided. For a number of years Mr. Weeks was engaged in dairying, and in 1900 planted a large part of his place to fruit. Some of the best peaches sold in Salem this year were from the ranch of Mr. Weeks. He became prominently identified with the Farmers' Alliance in 1890, and for a number of years was a member of the state executive committee. Mr. Weeks was superintendent of the dairy department of the State Fair for 11 years.

He is a member of the Grange, Masonic order and other fraternal organizations. Mr. Weeks served as a Representative in the last Legislature.

HOP GROWERS WILL HAVE 3 COMPANIES

California, Oregon and Washington Each to Have Protective Organization.

BOARD WILL SET PRICES

Product to Be Bought at Fixed Minimum and Profits Over Cost to Be Distributed—Inspection and Advice Provided For.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—For the protection of growers, to put an end to the contracting of the product as at present and to induce the brewers to buy American-grown hops instead of European hops, representatives of associations of California, Oregon and Washington, at a meeting here today, decided upon the organization at once of three corporations, one for each state.

The meeting is considered the most important ever held by the hopgrowers of the United States, and action was not taken until after consideration for several days of various plans. For the present, at least, the suggestion to organize a Pacific Hopgrowers' Association, with affiliated associations in Oregon, California and Washington, has been abandoned.

Articles of incorporation for the three corporations will provide that they are to continue in existence at least three years. The capital stock of each will be fixed by a board of directors and probably will be $500,000 for the California association and $300,000 each for the Oregon and Washington associations.

Price Guarantee Proposed.

It was further agreed: "The corporations will adopt standard and uniform contracts under which, they will purchase the growers' hops outright with a guarantee of a minimum price for his hops, graduated downward from choice to common qualities.

"All samples to be forwarded to central organization of each state in plain numbered packages, to be graded by experts in the employ of the association. All disputes regarding quality to be determined by arbitration.

"Hops of the same grade guaranteed the grower on his contract, he is to receive a dividend upon all money received as the selling price above the minimum for his hops, graduated downward from choice to common qualities.

"In case of different prices being received for the same grade of hops at different times of the season, due to the fluctuations of the market, an average will be struck of all prices received for all grades and growers will receive the benefit resulting from a rise in the market.

"Growing crops of members of the associations will be under the inspection of regularly employed and competent field inspectors to advise the grower of the best methods of the cultivation, care and harvest of his crop in order to realize the highest quality of product.

Early Organization Planned.

"Organization will proceed as soon as 75 per cent of growers are organized as members and as early as possible, in order to handle the remainder of this year's crop."

The delegates today, before reaching a decision, conferred with the following bankers, who approved the project of three state corporations, said the banks would give it their moral and financial support and that it was feasible in every way: H. H. Schubert, independent John H. Albert, Bankers, William S. Walton, Salem; J. M. Poorman, Woodburn, and S. B. Elliott, Salem. It was thought that more bankers would have been in attendance but for a late take in date having been made in the invitations extended them.

Under the agreement reached the minimum price to be offered the grower will be fixed each year by the directors of the state corporation. It probably will not be less than 11 cents for choice hops, 10 cents for primes, 9 cents for mediums and 8 cents for commons.

The corporation will sell the hops, if priced for a price higher than that received by the grower, and the grower will receive the benefit of the advance over what he previously received, less a commission to the corporation of half a cent a pound to defray the expenses of the business management. It is believed that through this arrangement generalization of prices such as have occurred in the past can be avoided, and that there will be less opportunity for speculation. It is not the intention of the associations to antagonize reputable dealers, but by will of a price every way possible to maintain prices.

The delegates deny any intention of the associations to fix arbitrary prices, which will be governed by supply and demand as in the past, they declare. They hope, however, to increase the demand by inducing the brewers of the hop country to favor American-grown hops.

BUSINESS MEN WILL QUIZ

All Residents of City Eligible to Take Examinations of Civil Service.

So that a civil service examination to be held December 8 at the City Hall to secure eligibles for the positions of private secretary, Commissioners which will be open to all competitors on a fair basis, arrangements will be made for the handling of the oral part of the examination by a committee of prominent business men. Members of the Civil Service Board feel that inasmuch as they are acquainted with the personality of the applicants, there can be no suspicion of favoritism.

The oral examination will be the most important part of the test. It will be for the purpose of determining the personality of the applicants. The examination will be open to all residents of the city.

Philadelphia Hat Maker Sees in Coast Great Opportunity for Growth and Compares It With Conditions in East.

TOUR PROVES REVELATION

BY ADDISON BENNETT.

Jacob J. Seeds, of the hat manufacturing firm of J. J. Seeds & Co., Philadelphia, accompanied by Mrs. Seeds, spent yesterday and the day before in Portland, making their headquarters at the Benson. Yesterday afternoon R. M. Gray, the Morrison-street merchant, took Mr. and Mrs. Seeds as to the city and then over the hills west of town.

"Occasionally I take a trip over the country to see the conditions at first hand and get better acquainted with my customers," said Mr. Seeds. I am sorry to say I missed Portland until last year; I will not miss it again, for we sell much goods here. And I certainly do like Portland. Mrs. Seeds is also a staunch Portland booster wherever she goes.

"Here we are late in November, Pennsylvania and all of the Eastern states are in their winter garb, water pipes are freezing, furnaces are put to their utmost limit to keep the buildings warm—and here you have as beautiful an Indian Summer day as I ever witnessed. Look at the lovely lawns, at the roses in bloom, at the vines and shrubbery in Spring garb!"

"You people do not understand the blessings you enjoy. Take your streets—there are no better paved streets no cleaner, neater streets, in the country. Tak your business houses—they compare well with those of Philadelphia.

ADVERTISING TALK NO. 11.

Why Do People Read Advertisements?

Can you answer that question? You know they do. You read them yourself. Advertising is news. That's why advertisements are read. That's why you read them. You want to keep abreast of the times. You want to know what is new in the world. Ask your wife. She will tell you instantly why she reads the ads. She learns of the new styles in dress—of new foods and delicacies, and a world of other things.

Advertising is a sales force without a peer. You pay the bills. How much of your expenditures do you suppose is influenced directly by advertising? Look over your monthly bills and estimate it. Ask your wife what influenced her to buy the articles you are paying for. "I saw it advertised in The Oregonian." That will be her answer almost always.

Now, if advertising in The Oregonian draws the dollars out of your pocket, doesn't it stand to reason that you could draw the dollars out of the pockets of Portland's husbands and fathers by advertising in The Oregonian yourself?

The Oregonian will carry your message—your news—into more Portland homes than any other medium. The Oregonian thoroughly covers the territory adjacent to Portland. Drop in and let our circulation man show you where The Oregonian goes.
