By Gertrude P. Corbett

THANKSGIVING day was observed by society folk mainly with elaborate and merry family gatherings, the younger members being included because of the holiday which in many cases necessitated early dinners so that the "littlest" guests might have peaceful slumbers last night. The little ones in the institutions, day nurseries and many of the older folks were glad to be with the family.

The morning was devoted to church-going by many of Portland's families, others attended the annual paper-chase and breakfast at the Portland Hunt Club, returning in time to see the football game at the Multnomah field. Here the motors were parked on every available foot of space surrounding the grounds for blocks, and all the gay young debutantes proudly wore a huge yellow chrysanthemum on their muffs or coats, returning in time to rest and eat. Many of the home gatherings were closed with gay little dances, and everyone retired uttering thanksgivings for many blessings.

Of paramount importance today in the social world is the large anniversary tea for the benefit of the People's Institute to be given at the residence of Mrs. H. Ladd Corbett this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. It is the tenth anniversary of the founding of the institute and for many years Mrs. Corbett has been one of the most enthusiastic workers in the organization. Many prominent matrons and debutantes will assist at the tea, and it is hoped that everybody interested in the work of the institute will avail themselves of this opportunity to help.

Mrs. Corbett, who is the president, will be assisted in receiving the guests by some of the members of the board of directors, who are Mrs. T. B. Wilcox, Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mrs. H. E. Cabell, Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooke, Mrs. L. Allen Lewis, Mrs. A. E. Rockey, Mrs. George Whitehead, Mrs. Robert Strong, Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, Mrs. Sherman Hall, Mrs. Thomas Honeyman, Mrs. James B. Kerr and Miss Prichard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Knighton are visiting in the city over Thanksgiving and are guests at the Seward Hotel. They will remain in Portland for the week end.

Misses Agnes Flora and Dorothy McBride are visiting at Hotel Garthart for a fortnight.

The regular monthly meeting of the Kansas Society of Oregon will be held tonight at the Masonic Temple, Park and Yamhill streets. There will be cards, dancing and refreshments served by the women of the society. A short programme will be offered by Master Carl Senn, violinist; Mrs. Fred Bohrens, dramatic reader; A. B. Cain, baritone; Miss Agnes Senn, piano accompanist, and Mrs. Howard Bennett, pianist.

Another affair with charity as its prime factor is the tea for which the Multnomah County Nurses' Association will be hostesses tomorrow afternoon from 2 o'clock until 7 o'clock at the home of the Misses Jane and Elizabeth Doyle in the Kearney apartment house. The nurses of the state and their friends, men and women, are invited. The affair is for the benefit of the American Red Cross Association. A feature of the afternoon will be an elaborate musical programme to be given by the Misses Katherine Kern, pianist; Maria Cheney, violinist; and Josephine Wagner, cellist.

The Mazamas will give a reception to members tomorrow afternoon and evening in their new clubrooms in the Northwestern Bank building from 5 o'clock until 10 o'clock in the afternoon and from 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock at night. The affair will be in the nature of a housewarming and a large attendance is expected.

Mrs. Anna B. Voegelien and daughter, Miss Lily Belle Doyle, of Urbana, Ill., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Miles J. Doyle, uncle and aunt of Miss Doyle. Miss Doyle is a brilliant young woman, having attained the degree of master of art in Illinois. She and her mother will leave Sunday for Berkeley, Cal., where Miss Doyle will study.

A "500" party will be given under the auspices of Summer Woman's Relief Corps, No. 21, at its hall in the Courthouse, tomorrow afternoon. The proceeds will be given to the needy in Portland. Refreshments will be served and prizes will be awarded.

Women's Clubs
By Edith Knight Holmes

AMONG the federated clubs of the city the most important meeting will be that of the Women's Club. The art department will have a half hour after the business session.

Another event of interest to women and particularly to those who have small children is the program given this afternoon in the Courthouse room 320, under the parents' educational bureau of the Oregon Congress of Mothers. Dr. Robert C. Hall will speak on "Modified Milk." Nurses, physicians, mothers, clubwomen, all are invited to attend. This will be the last of the series that has been decidedly helpful. Two special lectures will be given on December 4 and 11.

Mrs. Emily Cornell will be the hostess for the Corbette Club next Tuesday, when an interesting programme will be presented. It will include: Roll call, current events; "Egyptian Art," Mrs. Margaret Hollister; music; poem, "Anthony and Cleopatra" (Lytle); Mrs. Alice Shorno; "A Trip Up the Nile"; Mrs. Matilda Jefferson; review of some Egyptian story, Miss Mildred Simpson.

The regular P. E. O. Sisterhood luncheon will be held today at 12:30 o'clock in the Olds, Wood and King Hotel. All visiting P. E. O. sisters are invited.

Practically all the prominent clubwomen of the city are planning to attend the People's Institute tea which will be held between 4 and 6 o'clock today in the home of Mrs. H. Ladd Corbett, 293 Sixth street. The club members always are interested in any worthy philanthropic movement and are eager to lend their support to the maintenance of helpful institutions. Mrs. Corbett and the board will receive the guests. Little envelopes, red lettered, will be collected at the door for the institute's fund. One of the interesting features of the work done in Albina is the teaching of classes for "little housekeepers."

On Tuesday of this week there was assembled in the Albina branch a happy company of little girls who had a lesson in washing. Each tot had her own little washboard and tub and received instructions in the washing of white and colored garments. In charge of the class were Mrs. Horatio Brown, Miss Jean Mackenzie, Miss Katherine Holbrook and Miss Louise Burns. Another class was learning the art of washing and cleaning woodwork. These were instructed by Mrs. William Lyon Mrs. Sidney Rasmussen and Miss Genevieve Butterfield. The girls were gaining knowledge that makes them helpful at home and systematic in all their work.

The Richmond Parent Teacher Association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Northwestern Ad Men's Club, will speak on "Honest Advertising," Samuel Hill's pictures of the Columbia and Pacific highways will be shown. A large attendance is desired.

Mrs. J. H. Mackenzie, of the Portland Psychology Club, announces that the Oregon calendar prepared by the club will not be ready until Monday, when they will be distributed at the Portland Photo Supply Company, 149 Third street.

The Young Women's Christian Association was the scene yesterday of a merry gathering of young girls, 90 guests having assembled at 12:30 o'clock for the annual Thanksgiving dinner, which is planned especially for girls away from home. Miss Carrie Holbrook, president of the local association, presided at the beautifully-laden table. The decorations were bright and artistic and in keeping with the season.

Many of the secretaries were present and a few members of the board and friends assisted in making the day happy for the young women. After the feast the guests assembled around the big fireplace and gathered about the piano and songs and instrumental music were enjoyed. Miss Lina B. James, general secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boney and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Briggs.

DORIS BLAKE'S ADVICE.

Boys of the House.
I WONDER why it is that young men—however useful and ornamental they may be under other roofs—are apt to be so distinctly disagreeable in their own homes. I visited awhile ago in a home and the way the "boys" condescended to their parents made me thoroughly angry. They referred to their father as the "old boy" who never did understand. One day I overheard the 21-year-old son say of his father: "Oh, I just blame him; you know. What does he know about the ways of the world? He can't see that have to lead my life differently now than he did at my age."

Father's business in life in the eyes of some of these modern sons is simply that of signing checks or no small size at request and at high speed, asking no awkward questions as he does it. Father doesn't need to be deaf, but he must be dumb, at least on advice and questionings as to son's behavior.

Mother—well, a sneaking affection for mother lurks in the boy's heart, but that doesn't prevent the boy from looking at mother as the very incarnation of worry. She worries with equal damage over damp socks and wild oats, visions of thin underclothing and an undesirable marriage fit like nightmares through her mind. Her solicitude worries her son. He gets annoyed. Let her find out if she is right or wrong—he isn't going to tell her anything. That it is pure, unselfish love.

HOOD RIVER COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Butts. Hood River, Or., Nov. 28. (Special.)—At their orchard home in the Belmont district, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Butts, with a number of their close friends and relatives, celebrated their golden wedding day today. Although the wedding was solemnized on November 24, 1864, at Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Butts have always celebrated the anniversary on each Thanksgiving day. The first year of their married life was spent at Naperville, Ill., the native city of Mrs. Butts. In 1865 they removed to Burlington, Wis., where Mr. Butts engaged in the produce business. In 1868 they removed to Chicago, where Mr. Butts remained in the produce and real estate business until 1901, when he came to Hood River.

At the golden wedding festivities Mrs. Butts wore her wedding dress of 60 years ago.

the leaves turn yellow, look for scale on the under side and be sure you are not over-watering. Wash the scale off or spray with kerosene emulsion or whale oil soap, or some nicotine preparation.

Do not repeat too often. If a palm grows three new leaves a year it does well.

Rubber Plants.—Rubber plants are especially satisfactory to grow where there is a good light without direct sunlight. Water often enough to keep the soil moist, but do not under any circumstances permit water to stand about the roots nor allow it to become "bone dry." A potted plant set in a jardiniere needs especial care not to over-water.

Wash the foliage frequently with soap suds made from good soap. Rinse thoroughly at once.

Repot occasionally as the pots become full of roots. Feed once in two to four weeks with dilute nitrate of soda (a heaping teaspoonful dissolved in water) or ammonia water or manure water, as described for the palm, or some prepared plant food.

Aspidistras are most ornamental. They should be kept rather drier than palms and rubber plants.

Cacti require rather dry sandy soil.

At the Notion Counter

TAPES with embroidered numbers worked in red is sold. The numbers come in pairs, two of each, up to about 79 and they are to be sewed to stockings to identify the pairs. As one household would seldom have more than 70-odd pairs of stockings, that could be confused, these tapes are quite adequate. The numbers are all strung together, waiting for your shears to cut them apart.

Blue, black, gray, brown and lavender dress shields are sold, to be used in transparent frocks or blouses of these various shades. They are a great improvement on the white ones. And of course they wash perfectly. Then, too, there are the flesh-colored shields for light evening frocks that are practically invisible.

If you wear wash gloves, you probably need a glove stretcher. One in bone is sold for 15 cents, and with it you can straighten out and stretch the fingers of your gloves while they are damp, so that they will dry straight and big enough to slip on comfortably. Wooden stretchers are sold for the same price.

A convenient addition to the work table is another notion counter offering. It is a box containing six divisions, each for a spool of thread. There is a little spike to hold the spool in place in each compartment, and the outside of the box is numbered with the number of the thread within. The box keeps the spools in order, clean and safe. The ends of thread come through slits in the side of the box where they are wound for safe keeping around a little steel hook on which they can be broken.

A convenient little notion-counter knickknack in a small sized, ribbed band to clasp around the bands of lingerie that go over the shoulder. It fastens with a small ball and socket clasp under a little rosette of lace.

Twelve tiny spools of silk of twelve different colors are sold in a little pasteboard box for 15 cents. They are in many shades, and each comes with a match almost any gown with them and they are especially useful for mending.

Eighty cents is the price of some small embroidery scissors that have white bone handles. They are very handy for the work table, and for a room where the white lace and white wood they are particularly suitable.

White and colored cotton lingerie ribbons in a good many varieties. There was a time when it could be had in only a coarse weave and then it was in no way equal to ribbon. Now it can be had in a soft weave, in pink, blue or white, with a little twirling along the edge that adds to its appearance and strength. It is superior to silk ribbon in that it does not become so easily stiffened and discolored.—Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

BLIND SCHOOLS INSPECTED

Idaho Superintendent Studies Oregon Methods of Teaching.

Under a special commission from the state of Idaho, Professor W. E. Taylor, superintendent of the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind, at Gooding, has completed an inspection of the two Oregon institutions, as well as those of Washington at Vancouver. Professor Taylor was sent to Oregon to discover the latest ideas in school building construction in anticipation of a $40,000 appropriation to be asked from the Legislature for a new building at the Idaho school. The problem of an independent teacher plant for the institution was studied in the two states and recommendations for one will be made by the superintendent.

"The steady growth of the Idaho school has made necessary a new building for classrooms," said Professor Taylor yesterday before he returned to his home. The Oregon schools are well equipped and our efforts before the Legislature will be made to work out a similar class-room arrangement."

MERCHANTS' GUIDE OBJECT

Statewide Meeting of Retailers Scheduled for February.

The Oregon Retail Merchants' Association is arranging for the publication of its Ninth Annual Year Book. In view of the fact that the convention of the association, which will be held in Portland February 15, 16, 17, 1915, will be the first state-wide conference of merchants to be held in Portland during the past six years, an attempt is being made to make this edition of the year book extraordinarily pretentious and comprehensive.

Over to the climatic conditions east of the mountains during the winter last convention of the association was held in La Grande in June. Hence-

HAD HYSTERICS AND FAINTING SPELLS

Asbury Park Woman Had Complete Nervous Breakdown—Restored to Health by Vinol.

Asbury Park, N. J.—"I was in such a nervous, weak run-down condition that I could not sleep nights, every little thing disturbed me, my appetite was very poor, and I was losing flesh. I was so nervous at times that I used to faint and have hysterics. I do my housework for a family of four, and they became alarmed at my condition. I tried beer, iron and wine and liver oil emulsions without benefit. One day our druggist suggested that I try Vinol and told me how it helped others. I did so, and it has simply done wonders for me, as I am a well woman and entirely cured of my nervousness."—Mrs. KATHERINE E. KLEIN, Asbury Park, N. J.

Such reliable testimony should convince others of the value of Vinol, therefore if you are worn out, weak and nervous and want new strength and more vitality, we ask you to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver oil tonic. If it fails to benefit you we give back your money.
