CONTRIBUTIONS TO CHRISTMAS RELIEF FUND OF THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Table listing contributions to the Christmas Relief Fund, including names and amounts.

On the fourth day after the campaign for the Christmas relief fund of the Associated Charities was opened, the total cash donations yesterday were $145.47 and donations of clothing and grocery supplies were coming in in enormous quantities.

A new feature in the campaign this year is the interest shown by the churches and Sunday schools. Special collections have been taken up at recent meetings of several of the Sunday schools and have been sent to the Christmas fund of the Associated Charities.

Among the contributions received yesterday of this nature was a donation from the St. Johns Christian Church and the Fremont United Brethren Church. The Third Baptist Church, the Rodney Avenue Baptist Church and the Forbes Presbyterian Church held a joint meeting recently and the collection taken at that time was turned over yesterday to the Christmas fund.

Five Barrels of Flour Given. Among the donations of foodstuffs sent in yesterday was a large quantity of five barrels of flour from T. J. Nealand, of 325 Sixteenth street. Mrs. H. R. Albee sent in a gift of rice, and food and groceries were given by F. H. Page, Mrs. C. G. Thayer and the Terminal Grocery Company.

Thus far the special cases in need of relief that have been announced from time to time in the campaign have been taken in hand promptly and given the kindest assistance by generous friends and supporters of the work of the Associated Charities.

"The responses that are coming in already," says V. R. Manning, secretary of the Charities, "seem to indicate that Portland's warm-hearted citizens are going to give us even more generous cooperation than in the previous years of the work, to carry out successfully our aim of making the Christmas cheer ring through the year for the destitute and dependent families in the city. In view of the many heavy demands that are being made on their generosity, at this time the response is most promising."

Among the cases of need that were brought to the attention of the Charities yesterday, a few of the typical ones are the following: Case 15—Sick Woman Has No Home. A man accompanied by a 3-year-old child appealed to the Charities to help him find means of caring for his wife. She has been desperately ill and was to be released yesterday from the hospital convalescent ward, a serious operation. The man is out of work and penniless and could arrange for not even a room to which to take his wife while she is still weak and ill.

Case 16—Daughter Supports Mother. A 18-year-old girl, working for $8 a week, must support her widowed mother and little brother 5 years old. Nearly all of the money she can make is taken up to pay the rent. The mother is unable to work and the family is gradually coming into worse and worse straits. The child is barefooted and the mother was not able to secure enough money even to get him a pair of shoes.

Case 17—Four Orphans Destitute. A young man 20 years old and his sister, 18, are trying hard to earn enough to keep a roof over themselves and their younger brother and sister. For a time they were able to earn enough to support the family and then both of them at the same time lost their positions. They have been out of work for several weeks and are now in danger of being obliged to leave the house where they have been living because of inability to pay the rent. It seems as though the little family may be broken up in a short time unless assistance can be brought to the struggling young man and woman.

Case 18—Lost a Leg; Seeks Work. A young man, 24 years old, lost his leg in an accident a year ago and is getting about on a wooden limb. He has been selling papers in an effort to make his living, but cannot earn enough in that way to pay for his board and room. He is a strong and eager to work if some job can be secured that he can handle in his present crippled condition.
