LEGISLATOR WANTS

W. W. Cardwell, of Roseburg, Against Extravagance in Next Appropriations.

Candidates for Speaker Try to Win More Votes but Selling's Lead Seems Safe-Many Would Be Sergeant-at-Arms,

If W. W. Cardwell, of Roseburg, has his way about it the coming session of the Legislature will keep expenditures at an extreme minimum.

Mr. Cardwell, who has been elected a member of the lower house, was in Portland Monday, and let it be known among members of the Multnomah delegation and among other interested persation and among other interested persation and among other interested persation. gation and among other interested per-sons that he is in favor of a substantial reduction in taxes.

"I favor economy in every department of the state government," he said. "I believe in appropriating enough money to provide an efficient administration of public affairs, but we ought to cut down our special appro-priations and all needless expenses."

Mr. Cardwell is an attorney and never had office before excepting to serve as Councilman in his home city of Roseburg. However, he always has taken an active interest in politics, and doubt-less will be as much "on the job" at the coming session as the most ex-perienced legislator.

He had no idea of running for the Legislature until a short time before the primaries, he says, and was induced to run only after the citizens' ticket had been put forward in Multnomah County.

He is a heavy taxpayer, and the idea

the state expenses makes of reducing the state expenses makes a personal as well as a public appeal to

He was given a public reception at Marshfield Monday night, and last night, went to Coquille, where he was received by citizens. Mr. McArthur is travelling in an unofficial capacity and taking a brief rest before beginning work preliminary to taking office next March. He is taking occasion however, to study harbor conditions on Coos Bay so that he will know the needs of that district as well as his own when he becomes a member of Congress. He will return to Portland in about two weeks.

George W. Weeks, of Salem, who has been elected to the lower house of the Legislature from Marion County, was in Portland Monday and yesterday. Mr. Weeks is a farmer and is interested in an economical admin-istration of the state's affairs. He also was a member of the last Legislature and declares that the forthcoming ses-sion ought to confine itself to strict attention to business without attempt-ing too much new legislation.

More than 400 women will play cards this afternoon for charity. This monster card party has been arranged by the Elks' Women's Club, and will be held in the spacious lodge rooms on the fourth floor of the Elks' building.

Two games have been arranged, one of bridge and one of 509. Four valuable prizes will be awarded in each contest by Portland Jewelers and merchants. An assessment of 50 cents will

One of Portland's many attractive baby giris is little Miss Jean Adeline Barber, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Barber, of Sylvan Station, Kings Heights.
Miss Barber is a blonde and is just 2 years 2 months old.

The contest for the office of sergent-at-arms in the House grows more interesting every day. Next to the Speakership, it is the most spirited of, the pre-legislative fights.

Joseph F. Singer, of Portland, who was sergeant-at-arms at the last session, is conducting an active campaign. He has the support of nearly all the members who served in the last session, as he is accredited with an efficient administration. Tom Bruce, of Portland, and Will E. Mendenhall, of Sheridan, are his principal opponents.

Malvin Fenwick, Representative-elect from Lene County, was in Portland yesterday consulting Portland legislation at the forthcoming session, "My idea is to keep from spending too much money," he said. Mr. Fenwick is classed in the Secretary of State's roster of members in the Legislature as a "capitalist," but profers to call himself "one of those

He is one of the small number of legislators-elect who advocated abolition of the saloons previous to the election and declares that he will support a programme that will make the recently enacted prohibition amendment effective. He says that he will adhere, as a member of the Legislature, to his pre-election platform, which was as follows:

"I advocate the lowest rate of taxation possible, consistent with good government, taxes to be paid in two semi-annual payments, without rebate.

cast, and his performance in the role of Gentleman Joe, the burglar, is a pliendld bit of character portrayal.

There are many gripping situations, the

The Daly taxicab ordinance requiring the posting of rate cards both inside and outside the cab will be before the City Council this morning for final action. The measure, carrying an emergency clause, takes the place of an ordinance introduced recently prescribing the maximum rates to be charged.

The new measure anticipates the establishment by the taxicab companies of a uniform zone system. The companies may charge whatever they desire so long as the rates are in accordance with those published by the concern. Copies of the rates must be filed with the city. Woman Stops Husband From Using Tobacco.

An Ohio Wife Broke Her Husband of the Tobacco Habit With a Recipe She Gave Secretly.

She Tells What She Used.

Apparently no one in Portland wants to be a since owner.

In The Oregonian last Saturday an able-bodied young man advertised as willing to sell himself into slavery. He has had several answers offering room and board for his services, but no one has been willing to accept him as a slave.

The man lives at home with his mother, and yesterday sald he would turn over the answers to the Muts in the hope that they would find men really in need of a place to eat and sleep.

"I want to sell myself out for a period of time," said the would-be slave. "I do not want to rob some more needy man of a chance to get a bed and board. My main purpose in advertising was to get a place where I could actually sell myself out and get the money for it. I am living at home temporarily. I have A well-known Ohio woman, whose
