Net Profit of Fiscal Year Shows Increase of $500,000,000 in Annual Report Made by Internal Revenue Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The first complete compilation of returns under the new income tax law was made public today in the annual report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Table with 2 columns: Taxable Income, No. Returns. Rows include $1,000.00 and over, $500.00 to $1,000.00, etc.

357,598 Persons Make Returns.

Returns were made by 378,835 married persons, 53,237 single men and 23,551 single women. The normal tax of 1 per cent on all taxable incomes produced $12,728,038.

Tables giving statistics for each collection district indicated plainly that most of the individuals with large net incomes live in the districts near the cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit.

Many Are More Than $500,000.

Of the incomes of more than $500,000, New York collectors discovered 83, while Connecticut, whose hundreds of New Yorkers live, produced 31.

The first Illinois district showed returns from 13 individuals in this class, the first Michigan six, the first Pennsylvania eight, the first Maryland, Massachusetts and first Missouri districts each three.

1428 Americans Abroad File.

Returns were filed by 1428 Americans residing abroad, representing a total net income of $19,842,399, and 425 returns were made by non-resident aliens, representing incomes amounting to $7,317,842.

Close Formation of Germans Entails Heavy, Fruitless Losses.

(Special Correspondence of the New York World. Copyright, 1914, by the Press Publishing Company.)

PETROGRAD, Dec. 11.—The Germans continue their attacks on the various points of the Russian positions in Poland.

With the moving up of strong reinforcements from the western front to the German side and the consequent changes in the disposition of the Russian forces, a trying period of preparation for another decisive battle on a titanic scale once more is entered upon.

French Renten Quoted at 72.

PARIS, Dec. 11.—French Renten were quoted today at 72 francs.

This purpose with considerable more freedom than hitherto noticed, but their aeroplane work has been curtailed owing to the Russians having learned the art of bringing down the flyers. Night attacks are another form of warfare which the Germans are beginning to utilize more frequently.

The Russians go to work differently. A few volunteers scouting over the whole area first prepare the way. Then forces move up, widely extended. When the alarm is given the Germans usually find reason to believe they are attacked at least on one side and often from the rear.

Russian Reverse Reported.

BUDAPEST, via London, Dec. 11. P. M.—The newspaper Aszet says that the army of Staro Galits, evacuated by the Russians, who left by way of the Dukla Pass through the Carpathians, and that Barfa again is in the possession of the Austrians.

JAPANESE AID CREDITED

CHURCHILL SAYS NAVAL VICTORY IS LARGELY DUE TO ALLY.

While Britons Only Warships in Atlantic Battle, It is Held Result of General Combination.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Replying to his congratulations on the victory of the British squadron over the Germans off the Falkland Islands, Winston Churchill, Lord of the Admiralty, today called the Japanese Minister of Marine as follows:

"With the sinking of the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Nürnberg, the whole German squadron, which had its base at Ting-Tan at the outbreak of the war, has been destroyed and the base itself reduced and captured.

"This event marks the conclusion of the active operations in which the allied fleets have been engaged in the Pacific Ocean for four months. Though it has fallen to a British squadron in the South Atlantic to strike the final blow, it was largely owing to the powerful and untiring assistance rendered by the Japanese fleet that this result has been achieved.

"Had the enemy turned west again, the honors would have rested with the Japanese and Australian squadrons, moving forward in the general combination.

"The peace of the Pacific is now, for the time being, restored, and the combined operations can proceed with safety throughout the vast expanse from the coasts of Mozambique to those of South America. The expedition of the British fleet to the East Indies, and with good and vigilant arrangements by all a return by them should be rendered extremely difficult and hazardous.

"I take the opportunity of your excellency's cordial message to express, through the British and Japanese navies, earnest recognition of the invaluable naval assistance."

CONTEST MOTION MADE

ATTORNEYS ASK TO HAVE SUIT BY TOM M. WORD QUASHED.

Contention Is That Law Has Not Been Complied With as Mr. Harburt Was Not Duly Notified.

A motion to quash and set aside the content of the election of Tom M. Harburt to the office of Sheriff, asked by Tom M. Word, unsuccessful candidate, was filed yesterday by Dan J. Hurlbut, Seth C. Strahan and Hurlbut & Layton, attorneys for Mr. Harburt.

The motion is based on the contention that the law has not been complied with in the case, as it is set up that no summons or citation or other process was served upon Mr. Harburt when the alleged contest notice of contest of election was served.

It is said, further, that no time or place therefor hearing shall be held as stated in the notice.

The contestee also relies upon the point that no action has been instituted in court to contest the right of Mr. Harburt to the office of Sheriff to which he has been declared elected.

The contention is made that no petition has been filed in the case, as is provided by Lord's Oregon Law, contesting the right of said contestee to election to the office of Sheriff and no bond has been given as required by law and no citation to answer any such petition has been issued as required or served upon the contestee.

SECRETARY OF NAVY BELIEVES IN MORE DREADNOUGHTS.

Secretary Indorses Programme, Although Reducing Number of Vessels of Each Class.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Startling successes of submarines in the European war have not swayed United States Navy officials from their belief that all-big-gun battleships of the dreadnought type form the main dependence of any sea power. The construction of two such ships next year was recommended by Secretary Daniels in his annual report submitted today to President Wilson.

The complete building programme for the coming year recommended by Secretary Daniels comprises two dreadnoughts, six destroyers, eight or more submarines, one to be a large, sea-going craft and the others of smaller size for coast defense operations; one gunboat and one fuel oil ship.

It is this programme is followed out, Mr. Daniels says, "the increase will be noteworthy and will give us a well-rounded Navy, not superior to that of any navy in the world, ship for ship and man for man."

Secretary Daniels' programme, he says, follows the policy of the general board recommendations, but reduces the number of ships of each class asked for. The board recommended the construction of the following as the 1916 programme: Four dreadnoughts, 16 destroyers, three sea-going submarines, 14 coast defense submarines, four gunboats, two fuel oil ships, one destroyer tender, one hospital ship, one supply ship and a $5,000,000 appropriation for Navy aircraft.

The board was acting on its policy looking to the completion in 1919 of a fleet, the main heart of which would be 48 battleships. In its report transmitted to the Secretary, it is said that the present situation of the battleship fleet is 19 ships behind that programme, the total of those in commission, under construction and authorized for completion in 1919 being 37.

Submarines come in for extended discussion by the Secretary and the general board. "Recent developments in naval warfare," Mr. Daniels says, "have strengthened faith in the efficacy of the submarine. The department urges,

ROBBER, UNMASKED, GETS $5 IN STORE

POLICE DOUBLE VIGILANCE

Chief Clark Orders His Men to Comb City for Suspects—Two Experienced Criminals Believed to Be Operating.

RECENT HOLDUPS IN PORTLAND.

December 7.—Bauer Brothers' saloon, at Williams avenue and Ivy streets, held up by two masked men, who shot O. W. Tucker in the leg, took $15 from the cash register and escaped.

December 9.—L. M. Bowers, clerk in the Crocker drug store, Twenty-third and Main hall streets, said that he was held up in the store by two men, who took $75 from the cash register.

December 10.—Elvin Frederickson, 439 Magnolia avenue, reported that a team of highwaymen held him up and another man, who he did not identify, at First and Davis streets. The robbers got $35 from Frederickson and $45 from his companion.

December 11. A. M.—Francis A. Taucher, 822 East Burnside street, was held up in his automobile on East without a name by two unmasked men, who got $65.

December 11, 9:30 P. M.—C. Milton Moore was held up by a lone highwayman in his store at 229 Larrabee street, and relieved of $5.

A highwayman held up the postcard and confectionery store of C. Milton Moore, 229 Larrabee street, at 9:30 last night, making a list of five successful holdups in Portland since Monday night. The robber got only $5 from the cash register. He was unmasked and carried a huge revolver.

Extraordinary police vigilance is the result of the epidemic of holdups, and Chief of Police Clark has ordered his men to scour the city for men answering the descriptions given by the victims, and to arrest all suspects for further investigation.

That four of the robberies were "two men" taken by the police to men that there are no more experienced criminals in the city. Some of the holdups, however, are laid at the door of local youths with dime novel tendencies.

Because of the large number of unemployed men in the city Chief Clark expected there would be many attempts at crime of various sorts and the police were prepared. A reserve squad of 12 patrolmen and one sergeant is kept in the station at Second and Oak streets for any emergency.

Police and detectives were on the ground at last night's holdup only a few minutes after the robbery was left the place. They scoured the vicinity, but the man had evidently laid plans for his escape and he could not be found.

In order to have men at the scene of any crime within the shortest possible time, detectives in all parts of the city were kept on duty every hour of every hour, they might be informed of anything that happened.

An epidemic of holdups such as the present has not occurred since last September, when the peregrinations of three highwaymen were stopped when John A. Lee, proprietor of the Army Canteen saloon, at Tenth and Couch streets, shot and killed one of them in a revolver duel following an attempted holdup.

Shortly after the holdup of last night, the police were informed that John Anderson and Frank Keller, at the corner of Broadway and Larrabee, Anderson had in his possession a revolver, shot and killed one of them in the holdup, however, did not identify the man, but he is being held, together with Keller, who was not identified, either. Keller had no gun.

BIG WARSHIPS WANTED

Secretary of Navy Believes in More Dreadnoughts.

Secretary Indorses Programme, Although Reducing Number of Vessels of Each Class.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Startling successes of submarines in the European war have not swayed United States Navy officials from their belief that all-big-gun battleships of the dreadnought type form the main dependence of any sea power. The construction of two such ships next year was recommended by Secretary Daniels in his annual report submitted today to President Wilson.

The complete building programme for the coming year recommended by Secretary Daniels comprises two dreadnoughts, six destroyers, eight or more submarines, one to be a large, sea-going craft and the others of smaller size for coast defense operations; one gunboat and one fuel oil ship.

It is this programme is followed out, Mr. Daniels says, "the increase will be noteworthy and will give us a well-rounded Navy, not superior to that of any navy in the world, ship for ship and man for man."

Secretary Daniels' programme, he says, follows the policy of the general board recommendations, but reduces the number of ships of each class asked for. The board recommended the construction of the following as the 1916 programme: Four dreadnoughts, 16 destroyers, three sea-going submarines, 14 coast defense submarines, four gunboats, two fuel oil ships, one destroyer tender, one hospital ship, one supply ship and a $5,000,000 appropriation for Navy aircraft.

The board was acting on its policy looking to the completion in 1919 of a fleet, the main heart of which would be 48 battleships. In its report transmitted to the Secretary, it is said that the present situation of the battleship fleet is 19 ships behind that programme, the total of those in commission, under construction and authorized for completion in 1919 being 37.

Submarines come in for extended discussion by the Secretary and the general board. "Recent developments in naval warfare," Mr. Daniels says, "have strengthened faith in the efficacy of the submarine. The department urges, therefore, the construction of an increased number of submarines and the larger utilization of this weapon of warfare, which has demonstrated its effectiveness. There are many (many more than a few weeks ago) who believe the time has come when the advice of Sir Percy Scott should be taken. Months ago that able English officer declared that the submarine was the most effective ship of the navy of the future and advised a cessation in the rapid construction of dreadnoughts and the utilization of the money then spent in building large numbers of submarines.

The lay mind has accepted this view of the policy, but the trained naval officers making up the central board are convinced, that while the submarines have a large part to play in naval warfare, they do not replace the larger craft. These naval statesmen hold to the opinion that the dreadnought remains the main and chief fighting force of a well-proportioned navy.

"The Department feels that it is upon safe ground in holding to the belief to prescribe the character of the ships to be constructed. The large increase in submarines is desirable, but nothing in the present war has disproved their faith in the modern dreadnought. The fact that there has been no encounter between the latest type of ships does not justify the conclusion that their further construction should be discarded in favor of the smaller craft, which have proved their worth by its ability to sink cruisers and other craft, giving its severest and most powerful blows to the products of human skill. When the relative sizes of the fleets of the great nations enumerated above are considered, it will be seen that the United States has the largest fleet, relatively and actually exceeding powerful, England's fleet is more than twice as great as ours, yet she has little more than half as many more submarines. France has a considerably larger submarine fleet than ours, with a smaller navy, but she has in the past taken the lead in submarine building. Some years ago she abandoned the dreadnought policy to acquire large numbers of submarines, but in the last two or three years she has made unusual exertions to repair her deficiency in dreadnoughts.

Dr. Fung, the Secretary says: "Aircraft have demonstrated in the present war in Europe that no military arm is complete which lacks them. They are not only a means of attack, but will extend the field of operations to the air as well as on the surface of and underneath the water. They provide the most modern and most effective submarine mines and have now become an indispensable naval adjunct.

"We are but in the infancy of aircraft, but it is in the infancy of the manufacture of these craft in this country needs to be stimulated, and the success of this arm of the military service more than makes up the stimulus to American manufacturers."

Financial conditions resulting from the European war have caused the Department to refrain from asking this year for an increase in personnel, Secretary Daniels states, but says a plan is presented to Congress next month for the organization of a competent naval reserve force from the men who receive honorable discharges from the Navy.

NEUTRALS CONTINUE PLANS

Pan-American Diplomats Not to Stop for British Victory.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Regardless of the effect of the British naval victory in the South Atlantic, plans of the South American diplomats for a more active assertion of the rights of neutrals in the present war are to be pursued by the special commission of Pan-American diplomats recently appointed.

The first meeting of the commission probably will be held next Monday. Secretary Bryan conferred with President Wilson today, it is understood, concerning some phases of the same question, but declined to discuss them.

REBEL LEADER IS DINED

DR. CHI YAW FUNG HERE TO GET BACKING FOR REVOLUTION.

Party of Americans and Chinese Here Visitor at Portland Hotel Feted Movement Progresses.

"Yuan Shi Kai, as president of China, is impossible. I look for another revolution to overthrow him within the next three months," said Dr. Chi Yaw Fung, ex-secretary to Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who arrived in Portland yesterday for the express purpose of interesting residents of this city in the revolutionary movement now in progress in China.

Dr. Fung is accompanied by Dr. T. C. Koo, ex-secretary of commerce in the Chinese government, and Koo Wang San, a brother to Dr. Koo. The party was met at the Union Station yesterday afternoon by a committee of prominent Chinese and a number of Americans, including Isaac Sweet, Colonel Robert A. Miller, P. W. Jobelmann, Arthur Langguth, C. H. Chapman and Judge John H. Stevenson.

Last night the visitors were entertained at an elaborate dinner at the Portland Hotel, where they are staying. Isaac Sweet presided as toastmaster. Others present were: Colonel Robert A. Miller, P. W. Jobelmann, William H. Jobelmann, Thomas M. Hurlbut, Lee Quinn, president of the Chinese National Society in Portland; Evan and Lena Clair, of Kansas City, and George H. Martin and Bertha C. Licenses were granted also to Theodore G. Coates and Eloy Wortwell, George E. Moore and Rose A. Smith, of Portland; O. G. Lewis and Harriet Owsley, of La Grande, Or.; Harold Ewan and Lena Clair, of Kansas City, and George H. Martin and Bertha C. Huddins, of Washington.

Colony Founder Is Dead.

DENVER, Dec. 11.—Frank H. Craig, founder of the Craig Colony of Brothertree, here, died some time last night in his tent in the colony. His body was found today. Death was caused by tuberculosis, the disease which brought Craig to Colorado from Columbus, O., seven years ago and which led to the foundation of the philanthropy which made him known throughout the United States.

When Craig came to Denver to consult health by living in a tent pitched on the outskirts of the city. Soon he shared his quarters with other sufferers who were too poor to provide themselves with hygienic surroundings and later a whole village of tents was placed at the disposal of homeless invalids.
