PETERSBURG, Dec. 20, via London. - Mr. Komarovsky, the Russian Observer here, states that the peace movement is making considerable headway, which has increased the desire for a change of government in Russia.

"We are at the close of the First Period of the war and it is hard to say why, but the desire for peace is increasing in Russia.

"The Austrian-German troops from St.
Petersburg have been driven out of Russia and are now in the hands of the Russian Government.
