SUGGESTION FOR ACCEPTED ATTIRE FOR PUBLIC DINING.

Restaurant Gown with New Flare Skirt

A DIVERSITY of entertainment kept society folk busy practically all of yesterday. In the morning a number of prominent women attended the talk on current events given by Mrs. G. Lane Taneyhill, in the afternoon the large charity bridge-tee at the home of British Consul and Mrs. Thomas Erskine, assisted by Mrs. D. W. L. MacGregor, claimed the attention of philanthropically inclined women and the evening dinner at the University Club and Hotel Multnomah preceding the Monday Night Dancing Club were the order for the married set, and the younger contingent resigned supreme at the Waverly Country Club, where Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox and Miss Claire Wilcox were hosts in honor at their house guest, Miss Marian Davison, of Dayton, O., for an unusually pretty dance.

A languorous, alluring atmosphere greeted the 130 guests as they entered the attractive rose-colored ballroom, where swinging baskets were suspended from the ceiling filled with California apples and the green-pink berries harmonizing with the furnishings of the charming room, and clusters of the pungent Eucalyptus plant. Graciously the Pasadena ferns were arranged about the room. The walls were practically covered with the pretty boughs, the ensemble making a handsome foil for the beautiful rows of the fair set.

In the spacious drawing-room the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, Miss Wilcox and the charming Miss Davison. Here the decoration was also artistic, clusters of chrysanthemums and carnations being used. The supper tables in the dining-room were decked with baskets of the same plants, and the reception hall was adorned with tall palms and the long, graceful ferns.

For the benefit of the Belgian relief fund, Mrs. Thomas Erskine and Mrs. D. W. L. MacGregor were hostesses for a huge bridge-tee in the afternoon, 25 tables being arranged for cards, and additional guests calling at the tea hour.

The rooms were thronged with prettily gowned women, and the hostess was assisted by a hvy of the younger set. Mrs. E. T. Chibely Stevens and Mrs. James Laidlaw presided at the tea table, and among those who assisted were: Mrs. Kurt Koehler, Misses Katherine Holbrook, Louise Burns, Diana and Virginia Erskine, Shirley Eastham, Katherine and Charlotte Laidlaw.

Last night the Monday Night Dancing Club held its fortnightly informal dance at Hotel Multnomah, which was preceded by a number of dinners, weekly Club. One of the most attractive and largest of these was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Ball, whose guests, numbering 22, including the host and hostess, were seated around a table decked with an artistic arrangement of deep pink Killarney roses and dainty freesias. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Alma D. Katz, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Menefer, Dr. and Mrs. William Henry Skene, Dr. and Mrs. Morton Tinsley, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ames, Mrs. J. K. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mackay, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Nichols, Henry Teal, Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Gravelle, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mead and the hostess.

For the benefit of the Woman's Exchange an elaborate ball will be given on the evening of Monday, January 25, at the Hotel Multnomah. Card tables will be arranged for those desiring to play, and supper will be served. The affair is being planned by the board of directors of the Exchange, who will later announce the patronesses and committees. It promises to be one of the biggest and most successful of the season, as practically all the prominent women of Portland are interested in the Exchange.

Messages of sympathy are finding their way to the family of Walter F. White, whose death occurred yesterday. He was the father of Mrs. Clyde Hixon Teale, his only child.

Miss Margaret Boyd, a graduate nurse, and James G. Ward, a well-known physician of Moro, Or., were married at Oregon City on January 11 at 3 P. M. at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. P. Randall. The bride wore a white gown and was accompanied by her niece, Miss Maude Nelson, as bridesmaid. Frank Baker, of Portland, acted as best man. Rev. C. W. Robinson, of Oregon City, officiated at the wedding ceremony, and only immediate friends and relatives were in attendance. After partaking of a light wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Wood departed for Portland, where the honeymoon is to be completed for immediate departure to their home in Eastern Oregon.

Cards have been received by Gresham friends announcing the marriage of Miss Frances Helmick, a former teacher in the Gresham school, to Verd Cecil, the wedding taking place at the bride's home in Albany, Or., December 28. All the old-time dances of Ireland will be featured, and the main event of the evening will be the Irish hornpipe dancing contest between Dennis W. Lane and Henry Gray, both of whom are well known step dancers. Mr. Lane was awarded a number of medals in Ireland for his successful dancing, and at a county fair in Limerick was given a blackthorn stick as a prize for being the best hornpipe dancer. Mr. Lane also will be asked to give an exhibition of soft-shoe dancing. The committee in charge of the entertainment is: A. Healy, Henry Gray, M. Ward, Francis Powers, Mrs. T. O'Hanlon, Mrs. Ryan, Miss Sula Sullivan and Miss Kate Kavanagh.

This evening's meeting will close the first year's work of the league, and bids fair to be the most interesting of all the meetings.

One of the most interesting of all the series of talks on current events was given yesterday by Mrs. G. Lane Taneyhill at Boyer's studio. About 20 prominent matrons and maids were in attendance, and vastly appreciated the excellent talk on the two Balkan wars. For the next meeting, Mrs. Taneyhill has chosen Federal Reserve Banks as part of her talk, and later will take up the study of "The Army and Navy." The talks are given under the patronage of seven prominent matrons, who always are identified with the serious pursuits of life.

A LARGE number of clubwomen and members of the local musical colony attended the meeting of the Macdonell Club, which was held yesterday afternoon in the parlor of the Hotel Portland. Mrs. Thomas Carrick Burke, president of the club, presided. "Mozart" was the subject of the afternoon. The programme consisted of interesting papers that told of the life and work of the great master and musical selections given by a coterie from among Portland's most gifted musicians. The club, although it has been organized but a short time, is doing excellent work and is the means of encouraging an appreciation of music in Portland. A number of the members are among the patronesses of the concert to be given next Sunday by Estelle Neuhaus. Many of the officers and members frequently assist on benefit programmes. The president, who is one of the finest pianists in the country and has many home and social duties, is also interested in parent-teacher and social service work, all of which she does well.

Yesterday's programme in detail was as follows:

"Mozart," a Biographical Sketch," Mrs. John Clark Montali; "The Development of Opera up to Mozart," William R. Boone; "To Scenes of Peace Resting," from "The Magic Flute," the great master, "Sonata in Major," with second piano part by Orley, Mrs. Carey J. During the past year a hot water heating system has been installed. A saving of fuel of $100 has been reported, with a probable further saving during the ensuing year of nearly twice this amount.

No new buildings are contemplated or other changes except the painting of the main building. The running expense is about $1000 per month, and to reach this the association should have an endowment of at least $100,000.

BOOK ON OREGON IS OUT
SOUTHERN PACIFIC ISSUES 40,000 TO EXPLOIT STATE.
"Oregon For the Settler" is 62 Pages of Illustrated Advice to Men Who Seek Home Here.

"Oregon for the Settler," a 62-page book of most attractive design and many illustrations, and which is intended to exploit this state, is just issued by the Southern Pacific Company's passenger department with a first edition of 40,000. Because of the two California expositions this year, a big effort will be made to boost Oregon to the many thousands of visitors who will be attracted to this coast. For the man who contemplates settling in this state, the book has a valuable store of information.

A general description of the agricultural and social conditions of Western Oregon is followed by data on the various industries of the land traversed by the Southern Pacific. Suggestions are made to the man with a limited capital for farming or fruit-growing operations in Oregon as to the investment of his money to the best advantage.

For example, the book deals with the Umpqua Valley in this manner: "Within a radius of 30 miles of Roseburg, there are 250,000 acres of land ready for cultivation that can be purchased at from $10 to $50 an acre. It is open land. Improved land within 10 miles of Roseburg can be purchased at from $20 to $60 an acre. First-class farm land, all improved, can be had in the Flourvay Valley and the Coles Valley at $25 an acre. Only a few miles from the city limits are large tracts of combined bottom and hill lands that can be purchased as a whole for $25 an acre."

In addition to the book, the Southern Pacific has just issued an attractive folder, "High Points on Four Great Highways." This folder is descriptive of the two California expositions and calls attention to the attractions offered to tourists in the Pacific Northwest. Handsome illustrations of Portland and Oregon scenery are included in the folder.

The folder describes the Shasta, Sunset, Ogden and El Paso routes to the California expositions. Because the trip through the Pacific Northwest is most attractive of all, more attention is given the Shasta route through Portland than to any of the others.

SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD
The Far-Reaching Influence of War.
LITTLE Chile is suffering most seriously from the conflict raging in Europe. Its principal industry, the export of nitrate, is at a standstill. This work employs about 2 per cent of its population. Not only is the revenue from it cut off, but this great army is thrown out of work. In addition, all the men at the various Chilean ports connected with the country are idle, for nearly all the exports of Chile are carried in English or German vessels. So through this war, with which they have nothing to do, the people of Chile are almost on the verge of financial ruin.

But Chile is not the only country having nothing to do with the war that is affected by it, and which they have their own country is suffering. So are the non-combatant countries of Europe. In fact, there is scarcely a nook or corner of the world whose people are not suffering because of the present conflict on European battlefields.

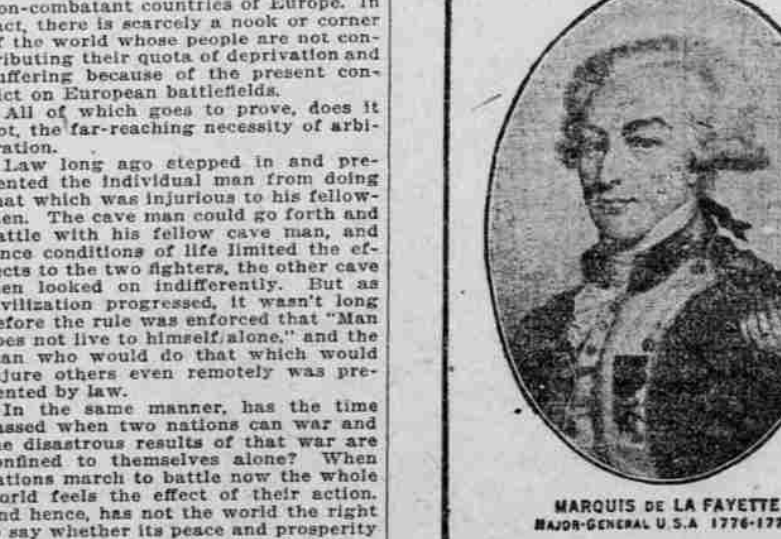

All of which goes to prove, does it not, the far-reaching necessity of arbitration.

Law long ago stepped in and prevented the individual man from doing that which was injurious to his fellow-men. The cave man could go forth and battle with his fellow cave man, and since conditions of life limited the effects of the two fighters, the other cave men looked on indifferently. But as civilization progressed, it wasn't long before the rule was enforced that "Man does not live to himself alone," and the man who would do that which would injure others even remotely was prevented by law.

In the same manner, has the time passed up to Mozart? The development of the disastrous results of that war are confined to themselves alone? When nations march to battle now, the whole world feels the effect of their action. And hence, has not the world the right to say whether its peace and prosperity shall be thus upset. Since all nations are affected by a war, haven't these nations a right to say whether this war is justified and shall be pursued?

Of course, nations may say this is unjustifiable interference. But so, probably, does the man prevented from robbery and cheating and murdering. But the community suffers more largely than does the man. And hasn't the time come for the world to see with the larger vision and to take such steps as will protect it from the devastation wrought by the individual nation, just as the law-abiding community protects itself from the individual who would would it harm?

CUT THIS OUT—and send your name and $2.00 to ARCHER M. HUNTINGTON, Treasurer, Room 122, The Vanderbilt Hotel, New York City, and acknowledgment will be sent.

THE LA FAYETTE FUND
This winter on the Aisne, along a battle line extending a hundred miles, in trenches of frozen earth the men of France and her Allies, covered with ice and driven by hail and sleet, are fighting for the ideals of Democracy. It is not only shells that kill, but there is the suffering from cold and exposure. Will you help to relieve that suffering? When in the snows of Valley Forge your ancestors struggled to create this Republic, the strangers who came to their aid were La Fayette and the people of France. Let us now manifest our sympathy by efforts to relieve the suffering of her Soldiers.

A Never Failing Way to Banish Ugly Hairs
(Aids to Beauty)
No woman is immune to superfluous growths, because these are likely to appear at any time, it is advisable to always have some delatone powder handy to use when the occasion arises. A paste is made with some of the powder and water and spread upon the hairy surface; in about 2 minutes this is carefully removed and the skin washed. You will then find that your skin is entirely free from hair or fuzz. Be sure, however, to get real delatone.

MUSTEROLE
So many sufferers have found relief in MUSTEROLE that you ought to buy a small jar and try it. First spread it on with the fingers. Rub in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. MUSTEROLE routs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles. MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin. It takes the place of the mussy, old-fashioned mustard plaster. MUSTEROLE is recommended for Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Lumbago, Neuralgia, Sprains, Bruises, Stiff Neck, Headache and Colds of the Chest (it often prevents pneumonia). At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50. Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for.
