USE OF WOOD URGED

and public institutions was made at the luncheon meeting of the Portland man of a special committee, censured SLOGANS EXCEED Realty Board yesterday.

A report, read by H. P. Palmer, chairstate authorities for ordering the installation of oil burners in state buildings, ostensibly to save fuel expense, and pointed out how the use of wood as fuel redounds to the financial benefit of many classes of workmen in this state.

many classes of workmen in this state.

"The saving made through the installation of oil burners is only imaginary," said the report. "For the purchase of oil sends nearly all the money out of Oregon, whereas we should be purchasing local products and help various classes of Oregonians by keeping our money at home in harmony with the general spirit of patronizing home industry."

Legislature May Be Reminded.
The matter was referred to the executive committee with power to act. It is probable that the Legislature will be reminded of the points brought out in the committee report.

In place of Emery Olmstead, president of the Rose Festival Association, who was prevented from speaking on the 1915 Festival because of illness, Phil S. Bates, general manager of the Festival delivered a stirring address on "City Pride."

After outlining the preparations for entertainment that have been devised by the various cities of California and telling of the generous spirit of hospitality which greeted the Portland Rosarians on their recent trip south, Mr. Bates explained the plans laid by the Festival Association, through its city beautiful committee and similar agencies, to make Portland attractive during the coming months, when he said thousands would visit Eortland en route to or from the San Francisco explained the various cities of committee and similar agencies, to make Portland attractive during the coming months, when he said thousands would visit Eortland en route to or from the San Francisco expenses and sent them to headquarters with apologies for being out of the city. Some slogans were brought in, frequently with the plea that "his wife had asked him to." When opened it was found that the man's name was signed.

Others were submitted "by my little father's bold hand and his name attached.

Many of the would-be prizewinners submitted funny slogans, and it is from these that the campaign manager has had many a joyous laugh.

In several cases one person submitted as many as 15 slogans. One slogan of manually refetty design was written of the committee and similar agencies, to make Portland attractive during the coming months, when he said thousands would visit Eortland en route to or from the San Francisco expenses and sent them to the advance of the would were identical. Painting Campaign Planned.

"We are trying to make Portland the most beautiful city in the world by plastering rose bushes everywhere and cleaning up the city," said Mr. Bates. "Next week we shall engage in a great painting campaign which should give all buildings a freshness of appearance that will make things shine. Also, when the Rose Festival is on in earnest, we want to see window boxes of flowers along the front of every building on the main streets of the city."

Saveral members of the Board discussed the feasibility of a state license for realty brokers, but a definite setilement of the question was postponed until next week's meeting.

Auto Show Plans Teld.

these that the campaign manager has had many a joyous laugh.

In several cases one person submitted as many as 15 slogans. One slogan of unusually pretty design was written on heavy drawing paper on which was painted as granting painted as granting paper on which was painted large pink buds, each containing a cunning Kewpie.

Others came typewritten, still others in long hand, and others printed or painted in various forms.

While most of the slogans are essentially the same in theme, some are exceptionally snappy and well-expressed. Poetry seemed to be the favorite form of expression, and the ones written with scrupulous regard for which have neither.

On the whole, the members of the board of directors expect to have an arduous task on their hands when they choose the 1915 slogan.

Auto Show Plans Told.

On behalf of the Portland Automobile Dealers' Association, George D. Lee told of the plans of the coming auto show and enlisted the co-operation of the Realty Board.

E. J. Condon, president of the Se eurity Development Company, presided and members of his sales force furnished the music at the luncheon, Mr. Condon himself rendering a solo.

At the close of the luncheon President Dean Vincent passed around a huge box of raisins that had been sent to him by the Frence Realty Board.

TAXES LEAGUE'S TOPIC

Measures Proposed to Be Talked Over at Meeting Today.

Taxation measures proposed will be the subject of discussion at the luncheon of the Civic League at the Multnomah Hotel today. Mrs. G. L. Buland will speak on the community property bill, in which husband and wife are given community ownership in all property acquired after the passage of the act, and which provides that the dower right is retained in all property acquired before the passage of the act.

Taxation questions will be discussed in detail by County, Assessor Henry E. Reed and by E. S. Huckaby, deputy tax Reed and by E. S. Huckaby, deputy tax collector, in the following topics: A closer definition of "true cash value"; sectionizing Fortland for taxation purposes; attachments and tax lien to personal property; regulation of the acquisition of real estate by municipal corporations; amendment to the leave corporations; amendment to the law covering manner and time of paying taxes, and repeal of the law requiring the advertisement of delinquent taxes.
