Emden's Cat is Aboard Relief Ship When German Opens Fire in Port of Penang—Flashes of Guns Makes Impressive Scene.

Coming direct from scenes of war on an errand of mercy, the British steamer Cranley, Captain Alex Henderson, Leutenant Royal Naval Reserve, reached port yesterday to load supplies for Belgian relief.

The relief ship is at the North Pacific Lumber Company's dock, being lined to receive her cargo. Foodstuffs and clothing to the value of $200,000 will be loaded at Municipal Dock No. 1 and then the craft will sail for San Francisco to complete her cargo...

The Cranley was under fire in the harbor of Penang, an island off the Malay Peninsula, early on the morning of October 25. A graphic account of the engagement, during which the Cranley served as a target for the guns of the German cruiser Emden, commanded by Captain von Muller, and also was struck by shells fired from the Russian cruiser Zhemchug...

Emden looks like Yarmouth. "We were lying at anchor when the Emden came into the harbor," said Mr. Kilbee, "with a false air about her and canvas built up at her bow to resemble in appearance the British cruiser Yarmouth, then due at Penang..."

Torpedo Sinks Russian. "The Russian sailors got to their stations as quickly as possible and returned the fire, while the Emden kept working her four-inch guns, and came in, firing out the same way she came in. Finally she fired a torpedo that blew up the Zhemchug..."

Injured Sailors Rescued. "After the Emden was well away this morning the remaining lifeboats and picked up 48 Russian sailors from the Zhemchug. Some were badly wounded and one died before he could reach a hospital..."

Officer Paints Battle. A highly-prized souvenir of the Cranley is a raised piece of shrapnel, casing that went through half an inch of iron and half buried itself in a piece of wood...
