What the War is Teaching Us.

The lessons that will be learned through the present conflict in Europe come sometimes through odd and devious ways.

Whoever would have thought that the gay butterfly debutantes of this year's social season would come from the battlefields of Europe!

The two things seem as far apart as the poles. But they have been brought together; and many a young girl here, before thinking only of a good time and social conquest has had her thoughts turned in a direction that may ultimately affect the social fabric of our country.

For the debutantes of one of our big cities decided they would cut down the cost of their coming-out affairs and contribute the money saved to the needy and suffering abroad. It is

DORIS BLAKE'S ADVICE.

How to Avoid Monotony.

JUST before I married, a dear old friend of my mother's said to me: "When you marry, dear, remember you have a long stretch of life ahead of you with that one man of yours. Don't let him take you for granted. In other words, don't let matrimony become monotonously even. Give your husband a surprise every now and then, and you will keep him interested and in love with you."

I never forgot this advice. I followed it and found it "not waiting" and I give it with my best recommendations to every young wife married to a temperamental man. Wives of phlegmatic men, however, should take my advice as wives of temperamental men, perhaps, but even the phlegmatic married males are not above being stirred occasionally with the thrill of a new wife. Of course, an uneventful married life is preferable to one filled with storm and stress, but there are certain little joys and temptations that need a little jog now and then in the way of surprises.

Members of the committee are the Misses Ella C. Knack, Harriet C. Tryon, Lydia Danmeter, Lucille M. Carroll, Edna O. Dempsey, Mrs. LeRoy J. Abbott, Walter W. Knack, James E. Murphy, James C. Howard, Fay Dempsey and Leo Murphy.

Parent Teacher Associations

MEMBERS of the Portland Parent Teacher Association will assemble in the Hotel Benson promptly at noon today for a luncheon in the crystal dining-room. Mrs. Martin Wagner, president of the association, will preside. Immediately after the luncheon the members will proceed to the library, where conferences will be held until 2:30 o'clock, at which time the general meeting will commence and will continue in session until 4 o'clock. Reports from all the circles will be given briefly. During the past few weeks much of the credit for the excellent programmes that have been given in many of the circles has been due to the efforts of the teachers, who have drilled the children in songs and special features. The co-operation between teachers and parents is one of the greatest works accomplished by the parent-teacher associations.

Preparations also are being made for the observance of child welfare week, which will open on February 17 with a flag sale, from which the funds de-

"You will never have that trouble," said Drusilla, "because you haven't any feet, Bobby Jones."

DOCTOR WRITES OF FIGHT

Spiro Sargentich Reports Narrow Escape From Capture.

Dr. Spiro Sargentich, who resided for several years in Portland and returned to Serbia a few months ago to join the colors of his native country, had a narrow escape from being captured by the Austrians, according to a postal card received yesterday by John C. Shillock, a Portland attorney. The card says: "We have cleared Serbia of Austrian troops, captured in last battle 46,000; in all since war began we have taken 86,000 Austrian prisoners and innumerable amounts of ordnance. I worked for solid three weeks while cannonading was going on and did good work. Am well, although had a narrow escape of being captured. Hope this war will not last long and I shall again be in my midst."
Dr. Sargentich has a brother, Nick Sargentich, known in Portland as Sargent Hotel, who at one time managed the Sargent Hotel, on the East Side, and another brother, James, who formerly was an accountant at the Hotel Portland. Both brothers now are living in San Diego, Cal.

HELP NATURE HOLD YOUR HAIR CHARMS

Fluffiness, even color, brilliance and softness are the attributes of healthy hair. Nature requires only sensible cleanliness, especially freedom from dandruff, in exchange for hair beauty.

You help Nature most when you assist her by the best method, to safely make and keep a perfectly clean, healthy scalp. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of carbolic from your druggist; dilute in a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.
